OAS Terror Resumes After Paris Executions

Rep. Keogh Denies Any Fix Link

Didn't Talk About Jail Term, He Says

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. Eugene J. Keogh has testified he had no part in an alleged federal court case fix conspiracy in which the government charges $35,000 was paid to a New York State Supreme Court justice and a former U.S. prosecutor.

Keogh, a Democratic congressman from Brooklyn for 26 years, took the witness stand Wednesday at the federal court trial of his brother Justice J. Vincent Keogh, and two codefendants.

Rep. Keogh denied he tried to intercede with a federal judge in 1961 in behalf of a jukebox operator who had been convicted in a bankruptcy case.

Two prosecution witnesses had testified previously that Justice Keogh said his brother would assist in a leniency plea for the jukebox operator.

But Federal Judge Leo F. Rayfiel — the man the government says the alleged conspirators hoped to influence — testified last week that he knew of no intercession by Rep. Keogh.

16 Support Him

Rep. Keogh, a defense witness, was preceded on the stand by 16 character witnesses for Justice Keogh. These witnesses, who testified that Justice Keogh has an excellent reputation, included nine judges, a rabbi, a Protestant Episcopal clergyman, a banker, a stockbroker, an eye surgeon, a lawyer and a social worker.

On trial with Justice Keogh are Elliott Kahaner, former chief assistant U.S. attorney in Brooklyn, and Anthony (Tony Ducks) Corallo, a labor racketeer.

Conspiracy Charged

They are accused of conspiring to "fix" a mild sentence for jukebox operator Sanford J. Moore, who was up for sentencing before Rayfiel. The charge is conspiracy to obstruct justice, which carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison.

Moore — one of two prosecution witnesses who have named Rep. Keogh in the case — was sentenced to three years by Rayfiel. This later was cut to one year when he began cooperating with the government in the alleged fix case.

Report On Keogh

Dr. Robert M. Erdman, who has confessed to being go-between, has testified that after Moore was sentenced, Justice Keogh reported to him that Rep. Keogh had spoken to Rayfiel about a reduction of the sentence.

Moore and Erdman were indicted with the three men now on trial but were granted separate trials when they agreed to testify for the government. Corallo is accused of helping to raise the alleged payoff money.

Erdman has testified he paid $22,500 to Justice Keogh and $12,500 to Kahaner. Kahaner testified in his own defense Wednesday.

Tito, Poles Target Of Senate Aid Ban

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has jolted the Kennedy administration by directing that no slice of next year's foreign aid pie go to a Communist or Marxist dominated nation.

While Secretary of State Dean Rusk was lamenting Wednesday's Senate action as most unfortunate, administration leaders marshaled their forces to fight off another onslaught on the $4.7-billion authorization measure—an effort to lop off $400 million.

Must Go To House Yet

The aid restriction—still to be considered by the House—is aimed directly at Yugoslavia and Poland, the two Communist nations which receive U.S. help.

The administration takes the view that by assisting the two it acts to wean them away from domination by the Soviet Union. But the amendment's author, Sen. Frank Lausche, D-Ohio, declared in Wednesday's debate that any aid granted to a Communist country "can never be in the interest of the security of the United States—it can only be in the interest of the promulgation of international communism."

The Lausche amendment passed by a 57-24 vote when 34 Democrats turned a deaf ear to a White House plea and sided with 23 Republicans. Voting with the administration were 18 Democrats and 6 Republicans.

If accepted by the House, which has yet to act on its version of the bill, the amendment would specifically prohibit $10 million in development loans to Yugoslavia next fiscal year, and ban shipments of surplus agricultural commodities to Yugoslavia and Poland.

Mansfield Hits Action

The Senate acted within minutes after Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana read a White House letter protesting the cut as an action which would "play into the hands of those who are most hostile to the United States."

Administration hopes for a modification of the restriction appeared to rest on whatever success it may have in persuading the House not to adopt such an amendment and sending it into a Senate-House conference where other language might be worked out.

The bill before the Senate simply sets limits on foreign aid. Actual appropriations will be handled in another measure.

The effort to slice $400 million takes the form of an amendment by Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper R-Iowa. The President would determine where the cuts would apply.

Parking in May Brings $6,000, Rates to Cut In

The city's take from parking meters, slightly over $6,000 in May, is due to drop this month after completion of the installation of slots which re-establish the former rates.

The take from the meters in May, 1959 when the penny meter was still in use was $4,272 and that in June of the same year was $4,428.

Change of the slots is nearing completion.

Collections from January through May have brought the city $27,329.25. This is $903.25 more than the total for the same months in 1961. The rate of five cents for a half hour of parking instead of five cents for the hour became effective in 1960.

The totals by months compared to 1961 with 1962 totals first are: January, $5,524.88 and $4,750; February $4,700 and $4,200; March $5,372 and $6,056; April $5,674.37 and $5,447 and May $6,058 and $5,973.

The 1959 totals from January through May were: January $3,688; February $4,000; March $4,202; April $4,268 and May $4,272.

St. John's Must Reinstate Three Is Court Ruling

NEW YORK (AP)—A State Supreme Court justice has directed St. John's University to reinstate three Roman Catholic students who had been dismissed for participating in a civil marriage ceremony.

Justice George Eilperin Wednesday ordered the Catholic university to reinstate the three on the grounds that their dismissals were based on a "vague and indefinite" regulation.

The three, all seniors and scheduled to graduate this month, are Howard Glenn Carr, 23, his wife, Greta Schmidt Carr, 21, and one of the witnesses to their wedding, Jean Catto, 21.

A fourth student, John Sharkey, 21, of Elizabeth, N. J., another witness to the civil ceremony, also was dismissed. He declined to contest the action.

The Carrs were married in a civil ceremony in Brooklyn on March 13 and were married again on April 12 before a priest in St. John the Evangelist Roman Catholic Church, Manhattan.

Kennedy Tax Bill Blasted

Opponents Sure It Will Be Dropped

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's tax revision bill appeared in deeper trouble today after being criticized sharply at a closed meeting of Democratic senators.

Opponents of the bill said privately they were convinced now there was a good chance it eventually will be dropped. And Republicans voiced such a demand in floor speeches Wednesday.

However, Sen. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., who opposes the measure's two key provisions, told a reporter the finance committee he heads will continue its consideration of the tax bill.

Promises Full Study

It was learned the Virginian told Kennedy a few days ago the measure would receive a complete study from his group.

The committee has been giving the bill a slow-motion airing since it started public hearings April 2.

The House passed the measure March 29, keeping the bulk of Kennedy's proposals.

Wednesday's Democratic meeting was in the office of the party's Senate leader, Mike Mansfield of Montana. It was one of the periodic sessions he holds to go over the Senate program and to relay the results of congressional leaders' conferences with President Kennedy.

The tax bill in general was the chief subject of the meeting, with most of the time devoted to the bitterly disputed provision to withhold taxes on dividends and interest.

There also was some discussion of the other major feature, an investment credit to give business a $1.35 billion incentive to modernize its plant and equipment.

JFK Belief

The administration believes the credit would go a long way toward making the economy more efficient and productive.

The withholding plan is counted on to help pay for the investment credit.

It was learned that Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., second in seniority on the Democratic side of the finance committee, led off at the meeting with a defense of the withholding plan. He emphasized the present tax losses from unreported dividend and interest income.

Byrd then gave a rebuttal, stating his previously expressed view that the system would be unduly burdensome and that the Treasury has greatly exaggerated the losses.

Hard to Explain

One senator at the meeting even raised the question that the plan might be unconstitutional. Others said they were unable to explain it to their constituents.

Byrd said that Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon will be back before the committee next week to continue his defense of the bill.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., a finance member, voiced a plea on the floor Wednesday for shelving the bill. He was joined by Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., who also served on the committee.

Slayings, Fire Erupt In Algiers

Scorched Earth Policy Goes On

ALGIERS (AP) —The Secret Army Organization struck again today as promised, returning to its terror campaign by mowing down Moslems and setting fire to Algiers University, Algeria's main seat of learning.

Three phosphorous bombs shattered the inside of the massive science and medicine building as the terrorists carried the threat of a scorched earth campaign into the heart of the city.

Main Building Given Up

Firemen gave up hope of saving the main building as flames roared out of the large windows. Black smoke shrouded the heart of Algiers.

Crowds of Europeans and French soldiers watched the blaze from the sidewalk of Rue Michelet and adjacent Boulevard St. Saens.

Wind-whipped flames seared the treetops of the university garden.

Earlier today, European terrorists struck at groups of Moslems with pistol and machine-gun attacks, killing four Moslems.

The precarious truce which gave the city a new breath of life during the past seven days thus came to a shattering end.

Dark Pessimism

In the administrative capital of Rocher Noir east of Algiers, French officials received the news of the new terror war in dark pessimism.

"They are destroying the last chance of reconciliation with Moslems," one official said.

The European underground's commando squads went back into action shortly after the French government executed two Secret Army killers at a fort outside of Paris. They were the first Secret Army activists sent before a firing squad, but it did not seem likely that the killings in Algiers were manifestations of Secret Army resentment at the executions.

Jouhaud Still Alive

Ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, 52, the Secret Army's No. 2 leader until his capture in March, remained in the Paris death row he had shared with the two men executed today. There was an indication that President De Gaulle would spare Jouhaud's life.

The Secret Army announced the end of its seven-day truce in the slaughter of Moslems with a pirate broadcast Wednesday night reporting a deadlock in its contacts with the Moslem nationalists.

"We are again taking up war—particularly in the economic field," the broadcast said. Women, children and older Europeans were advised to leave Algeria to "free the men for the scorched earth campaign."

Despite the talk of "scorched earth" the first targets again were Moslems on the streets of Algiers.

Three Fall Dead

Machine-gun bullets sprayed from a speeding car at a group of Moslem workers on a street corner in the Hussein Dey area. Three of the Moslems slumped to the sidewalk fatally wounded.

Both Sides Claim Bay State Victory

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Kennedy - McCormack battle for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator from Massachusetts comes to a peak today with the opening of the state party convention.

Locked in a tight contest, with both sides claiming victory, are Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, and Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of the speaker of the U.S. House, John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

Seek JFK's Old Seat

Their goal is the Senate seat once held by the President, who first won it in 1952 and resigned it in 1960 when he was elected President.

Kennedy's supporters claim they have more than 1,000 of the 1,723 delegates sewed up. The McCormack forces put their rock bottom strength at better than 900.

McCormack told a news conference he has affidavits to show pressure to switch delegates to Kennedy but he said he would not use these documents at this time.

"I don't want to win as senator and lose the presidency for the Democrats in 1964—I don't want this to be used against Jack Kennedy then," he said.

There was no immediate reaction from the Kennedy camp.

As the convention drew near, McCormack charged Kennedy had voted only twice since he reached voting age—both times when his brother was a candidate.

The session opens at 1 p.m. Eastern Standard Time at the Springfield Municipal Auditorium, with registration, reports of the credentials and rules committees, and election of a permanent chairman and secretary.

Balloting Due Friday

The balloting for the senatorial endorsement comes Friday, the second day of the three-day session.

Kennedy is barely old enough to run for senator. He turned 30 last Feb. 22, and announced his candidacy three weeks after reaching the minimum age for a senator.

McCormack is 38, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and Boston University Law School.

Kennedy was graduated from Harvard College in 1956 and the University of Virginia law school in 1959. Until he became a candidate, he served as a $1-a-year as-

Chief Brett Says Pressure Data Is Hydraulic Chore

Fire Chief James M. Brett in a reply to Alderman Frank A. Adams (D) Fifth Ward who at Tuesday night's Common Council meeting had requested a report from the chief on a water pressure condition on North Street, indicated today that such information should come from a hydraulic engineer.

Adams, who claimed at the Tuesday meeting that Brett had not given a proper reply to a previous inquiry, asked that City Clerk Walter S. Foster seek a reply from Brett by June 20.

Not Quite Clear

Chief Brett in his reply received today by the city clerk noting that Adams had "dealt at some length with my purported proclivity in several highly specialized fields of endeavor," and said he would "deal with both in a single letter since both matters are interrelated."

The chief said he concurred with Adams that he was neither a lawyer nor a legislator and is "quite cognizant of the fact that proficiency in those fields is acquired only after years of preparation and study and that each requires certain inherent aptitudes."

The reason for Adams' "public outburst," he said, was "not at all clear, as I have never made

Tobin Conviction Reversed by Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals reversed today the contempt of Congress conviction of Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port of New York Authority.

The court ruled a House judiciary subcommittee had overstepped its powers. Tobin's conviction stemmed from his refusal to surrender certain documents subpoenaed by the committee in its investigation of Port Authority activities.

Many Students Join Hunt for Summer Jobs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

America's teen-agers apparently do not believe that the best things in life are free.

Not many of them, as they pour out of the nation's high schools and colleges for summer vacations, are dreaming of a shady river bank and a fishing pole.

They are more likely to be dreaming of hustling boxes in a warehouse, sitting behind a desk in an office, running a tractor, or any of a hundred other occupations.

When school's out, they want the money coming in.

A Connecticut employment official disagrees. It's not lack of something to do, he says, but simply money that sends the boys and girls out to hunt jobs.

College expenses are going up every year, he says, and youngsters now feel they must have things once considered luxuries—television sets, radios, cars.

Dr. Lawrence Shepoiser, public school superintendent at Wichita, Kan., thinks the teen-agers get "fed up with working just with their heads, with abstract, academic courses.

"They need and want laboratory experience, working with their hands—and they have an impelling desire to earn their own money and to be independent," he said.

Practically all the experts point out that, in addition to the other reasons cited, there's a simple statistical reason for so many youthful job-hunters—the fact that there was a baby boom at the end of World War II. The same population explosion that jams the schools the rest of the year is jamming the employment offices now.

And the sad fact is that in practically all areas of the country, only a fraction of those seeking full-time jobs will find them.

The Texas Unemployment Commission has put a new group of youth coordinators on the job aft-

Laos Coalition May Be Decided Friday

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP) — Laos' three rival political princes met in the rebel-held Plaines Des Jarres today, and neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma said the long-awaited agreement on a coalition government might be reached Friday.

Souvanna said his first meeting with Prince Boun Oum of the right-wing Vientiane government and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong encountered little difficulty.

"If we continue to work in a similar atmosphere, I am sure we will reach a final agreement Friday," Souvanna said.

It was the princes' first meeting since January.

Boun Oum was accompanied to Khang Kay by his deputy premier and royal government strongman Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

Souvanna's optimism contrasted sharply with a general feeling among diplomats and observers in Vientiane before the meeting that it had little chance of success.

Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi had given no advance indication that they would back down on the issue that broke up earlier attempts at forming a coalition under Souvanna. The conservative Vientiane leaders had insisted on retaining the defense and interior portfolios in a coalition government to give them control of the army and police.

Before leaving for Khang Khay, Phoumi declared once again that Souvanna can have these posts only if he can prove he is truly neutral and guarantees they will not fall into the hands of Souphanouvong's Pathet Lao.

Western diplomats generally feared that failure of the princes to agree would be followed by a new military drive by the Pathet Lao.

Souvanna has the backing of the United States, the Soviet Union and the other powers at the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos. The United States hopes a government pledged to neutrality under Souvanna will take the Red threat off neighboring Thailand and end the need for U.S. troops there. The troops were rushed into Thailand after the Pathet Lao's recent military gains swept to the northeast Thai frontier.

The administration believes the credit would go a long way toward making the economy more efficient and productive.

The withholding plan is counted on to help pay for the investment credit.

It was learned that Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., second in seniority on the Democratic side of the finance committee, led off at the meeting with a defense of the withholding plan. He emphasized the present tax losses from unreported dividend and interest income.

Byrd then gave a rebuttal, stating his previously expressed view that the system would be unduly burdensome and that the Treasury has greatly exaggerated the losses.

Hard to Explain

One senator at the meeting even raised the question that the plan might be unconstitutional. Others said they were unable to explain it to their constituents.

Byrd said that Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon will be back before the committee next week to continue his defense of the bill.

Sen. Thruston B. Morton, R-Ky., a finance member, voiced a plea on the floor Wednesday for shelving the bill. He was joined by Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., who also served on the committee.

Both Sides Claim Bay State Victory

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (AP)—Kennedy - McCormack battle for the Democratic nomination for U.S. senator from Massachusetts comes to a peak today with the opening of the state party convention.

Locked in a tight contest, with both sides claiming victory, are Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, youngest brother of the President, and Edward J. McCormack Jr., nephew of the speaker of the U.S. House, John W. McCormack of Massachusetts.

Seek JFK's Old Seat

Their goal is the Senate seat once held by the President, who first won it in 1952 and resigned it in 1960 when he was elected President.

Kennedy's supporters claim they have more than 1,000 of the 1,723 delegates sewed up. The McCormack forces put their rock bottom strength at better than 900.

McCormack told a news conference he has affidavits to show pressure to switch delegates to Kennedy but he said he would not use these documents at this time.

"I don't want to win as senator and lose the presidency for the Democrats in 1964—I don't want this to be used against Jack Kennedy then," he said.

There was no immediate reaction from the Kennedy camp.

As the convention drew near, McCormack charged Kennedy had voted only twice since he reached voting age—both times when his brother was a candidate.

The session opens at 1 p.m. Eastern Standard Time at the Springfield Municipal Auditorium, with registration, reports of the credentials and rules committees, and election of a permanent chairman and secretary.

Balloting Due Friday

The balloting for the senatorial endorsement comes Friday, the second day of the three-day session.

Kennedy is barely old enough to run for senator. He turned 30 last Feb. 22, and announced his candidacy three weeks after reaching the minimum age for a senator.

McCormack is 38, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy and Boston University Law School.

Kennedy was graduated from Harvard College in 1956 and the University of Virginia law school in 1959. Until he became a candidate, he served as a $1-a-year as-

Chief Brett Says Pressure Data Is Hydraulic Chore

Fire Chief James M. Brett in a reply to Alderman Frank A. Adams (D) Fifth Ward who at Tuesday night's Common Council meeting had requested a report from the chief on a water pressure condition on North Street, indicated today that such information should come from a hydraulic engineer.

Adams, who claimed at the Tuesday meeting that Brett had not given a proper reply to a previous inquiry, asked that City Clerk Walter S. Foster seek a reply from Brett by June 20.

Not Quite Clear

Chief Brett in his reply received today by the city clerk noting that Adams had "dealt at some length with my purported proclivity in several highly specialized fields of endeavor," and said he would "deal with both in a single letter since both matters are interrelated."

The chief said he concurred with Adams that he was neither a lawyer nor a legislator and is "quite cognizant of the fact that proficiency in those fields is acquired only after years of preparation and study and that each requires certain inherent aptitudes."

The reason for Adams' "public outburst," he said, was "not at all clear, as I have never made

Tobin Conviction Reversed by Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals reversed today the contempt of Congress conviction of Austin J. Tobin, executive director of the Port of New York Authority.

The court ruled a House judiciary subcommittee had overstepped its powers. Tobin's conviction stemmed from his refusal to surrender certain documents subpoenaed by the committee in its investigation of Port Authority activities.

Slayings, Fire Erupt In Algiers

Scorched Earth Policy Goes On

ALGIERS (AP) —The Secret Army Organization struck again today as promised, returning to its terror campaign by mowing down Moslems and setting fire to Algiers University, Algeria's main seat of learning.

Three phosphorous bombs shattered the inside of the massive science and medicine building as the terrorists carried the threat of a scorched earth campaign into the heart of the city.

Main Building Given Up

Firemen gave up hope of saving the main building as flames roared out of the large windows. Black smoke shrouded the heart of Algiers.

Crowds of Europeans and French soldiers watched the blaze from the sidewalk of Rue Michelet and adjacent Boulevard St. Saens. Wind-whipped flames seared the treetops of the university garden.

Earlier today, European terrorists struck at groups of Moslems with pistol and machine-gun attacks, killing four Moslems.

The precarious truce which gave the city a new breath of life during the past seven days thus came to a shattering end.

Dark Pessimism

In the administrative capital of Rocher Noir east of Algiers, French officials received the news of the new terror war in dark pessimism.

"They are destroying the last chance of reconciliation with Moslems," one official said.

The European underground's commando squads went back into action shortly after the French government executed two Secret Army killers at a fort outside of Paris. They were the first Secret Army activists sent before a firing squad, but it did not seem likely that the killings in Algiers were manifestations of Secret Army resentment at the executions.

Jouhaud Still Alive

Ex-Gen. Edmond Jouhaud, 52, the Secret Army's No. 2 leader until his capture in March, remained in the Paris death row he had shared with the two men executed today. There was an indication that President De Gaulle would spare Jouhaud's life.

The Secret Army announced the end of its seven-day truce in the slaughter of Moslems with a pirate broadcast Wednesday night reporting a deadlock in its contacts with the Moslem nationalists.

"We are again taking up war—particularly in the economic field," the broadcast said. Women, children and older Europeans were advised to leave Algeria to "free the men for the scorched earth campaign."

Despite the talk of "scorched earth" the first targets again were Moslems on the streets of Algiers.

Three Fall Dead

Machine-gun bullets sprayed from a speeding car at a group of Moslem workers on a street corner in the Hussein Dey area. Three of the Moslems slumped to the sidewalk fatally wounded.

Many Students Join Hunt for Summer Jobs

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

America's teen-agers apparently do not believe that the best things in life are free.

Not many of them, as they pour out of the nation's high schools and colleges for summer vacations, are dreaming of a shady river bank and a fishing pole.

They are more likely to be dreaming of hustling boxes in a warehouse, sitting behind a desk in an office, running a tractor, or any of a hundred other occupations.

When school's out, they want the money coming in.

A Connecticut employment official disagrees. It's not lack of something to do, he says, but simply money that sends the boys and girls out to hunt jobs.

College expenses are going up every year, he says, and youngsters now feel they must have things once considered luxuries—television sets, radios, cars.

Dr. Lawrence Shepoiser, public school superintendent at Wichita, Kan., thinks the teen-agers get "fed up with working just with their heads, with abstract, academic courses.

"They need and want laboratory experience, working with their hands—and they have an impelling desire to earn their own money and to be independent," he said.

Practically all the experts point out that, in addition to the other reasons cited, there's a simple statistical reason for so many youthful job-hunters—the fact that there was a baby boom at the end of World War II. The same population explosion that jams the schools the rest of the year is jamming the employment offices now.

And the sad fact is that in practically all areas of the country, only a fraction of those seeking full-time jobs will find them.

The Texas Unemployment Commission has put a new group of youth coordinators on the job aft-

Laos Coalition May Be Decided Friday

KHANG KHAY, Laos (AP) — Laos' three rival political princes met in the rebel-held Plaines Des Jarres today, and neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma said the long-awaited agreement on a coalition government might be reached Friday.

Souvanna said his first meeting with Prince Boun Oum of the right-wing Vientiane government and pro-Communist Prince Souphanouvong encountered little difficulty.

"If we continue to work in a similar atmosphere, I am sure we will reach a final agreement Friday," Souvanna said.

It was the princes' first meeting since January.

Boun Oum was accompanied to Khang Kay by his deputy premier and royal government strongman Gen. Phoumi Nosavan.

Souvanna's optimism contrasted sharply with a general feeling among diplomats and observers in Vientiane before the meeting that it had little chance of success.

Boun Oum and Gen. Phoumi had given no advance indication that they would back down on the issue that broke up earlier attempts at forming a coalition under Souvanna. The conservative Vientiane leaders had insisted on retaining the defense and interior portfolios in a coalition government to give them control of the army and police.

Before leaving for Khang Khay, Phoumi declared once again that Souvanna can have these posts only if he can prove he is truly neutral and guarantees they will not fall into the hands of Souphanouvong's Pathet Lao.

Western diplomats generally feared that failure of the princes to agree would be followed by a new military drive by the Pathet Lao.

Souvanna has the backing of the United States, the Soviet Union and the other powers at the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos. The United States hopes a government pledged to neutrality under Souvanna will take the Red threat off neighboring Thailand and end the need for U.S. troops there. The troops were rushed into Thailand after the Pathet Lao's recent military gains swept to the northeast Thai frontier.

Scores Big Conn. Upset Over Lodge As Senate Choice

HORACE SEELY-BROWN

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Horace Seely-Brown Jr., a plain-talking, apple-growing congressman, has won the Republican nomination for U.S. senator from Connecticut.

Seely-Brown, 54, scored a stunning upset over former Gov. John Davis Lodge Wednesday at a dramatic Republican state convention. Although the pre-convention underdog, he swamped Lodge on the first ballot, 476 to 149.

John Alsop of Avon, an insurance executive, received the gubernatorial nomination earlier after a record eight roll calls that began Tuesday afternoon.

The delegates broke another tradition by nominating the first Negro for a statewide office in Connecticut on the ticket of either party. William D. Graham, 47, an attorney who was born in Montgomery, Ala., was nominated for state treasurer without opposition.

Although the convention completed a state ticket to confront the Democrats this fall, Republicans may be in for some more excitement in the next few days.

Both Lodge and Edwin H. May Jr., a defeated gubernatorial candidate, polled enough votes to challenge the convention nominees in statewide party primaries.

Neither committed himself either way on a primary.

Lodge noted he has until July 25 to decide whether to file primary petition. May said he would leave the question to his supporters, with whom he will meet here Sunday.

The nomination for congressman-at-large went to State Sen. John M. Lupton of Weston, 44, a conservative and an admirer of Arizona's Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater.

19-Year-Old Girl Missing

Queens Doctor Sought For Quiz on Abortion

NEW YORK (AP) — Police issued a 13-state alarm early today for a Queens doctor wanted for questioning in connection with the disappearance of a 19-year-old girl who, her parents say, went to the physician for an abortion.

Police, entering the doctor's home Wednesday, said they found jammed in a sewer trap a head and other dismembered parts of a body of a woman about 20 years old.

The alarm was issued for Dr. Harvey Lothringer, 45, of Hollis.

No charges were issued pending outcome of the investigation.

Detective Inspector Patrick MacCormack gave this account:

He said the young woman, Miss Barbara Lo Frumento, was four months pregnant by her boyfriend, whom she planned to marry. The boyfriend was not identified.

On learning of the pregnancy the girl's parents decided upon an abortion and the girl's father, Dominic, 52, contacted Dr. Lothringer.

The girl's mother, Rose, 52, MacCormack continued, told him she went with her daughter to the doctor's office early last Sunday morning and waited outside after handing the doctor $500—while the girl went into the office.

After waiting for several hours, MacCormack further quoted Mrs. Lo Frumento as saying, the doctor came out and told her to go home, and that they would be in touch with her.

Mrs. Lo Frumento went home, but said she heard nothing further either from her daughter or the doctor.

When efforts to contact the doctor failed, she said, she notified the Queens district attorney's office.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a television tale, possibly untrustworthy, about the prolific scriptwriter who turned out mystery stories on a production line basis.

His secret was to have his secretary hand him, every few days, three different objects—a fan, a marble and a burned-out flashlight bulb, for example. Then he would proceed to rip off a story around these clues.

Television through the seasons has streamlined the "instant plot" technique to a point where—at least from this viewer's observation post—the script writers can and do turn out their daily quota by writing a whole show around a given line of dialogue.

It's really not hard. Just try some of the following tried, true and tired lines yourself. You may discover that you, too, have a future as a TV author.

"You owe me $40,000, Miss Wadley-Jones, and I don't think your father would be very happy to hear you are a compulsive gambler. However, I know a way you can square things—I'll even burn the IOUs."

"I hope you're right in your diagnosis, doctor. But even if we do operate now, it will be touch and go."

"It doesn't matter what he has done, lieutenant. He is entitled to the very best defense we can give him."

"Staying in town long friend? We don't cotton to strangers here much."

Shirley Booth's "Hazil" climbed to the top of Nielsen's popularity list, followed closely by "The Garry Moore Show" and "The Andy Griffith Show." Wagon Train," "Gunsmoke" and "Bonanza," the three Westerns which have been leading the hit parade all season, dropped down in the list—maybe heralding the end of the sagebrush saga fad?

Recommended tonight: "Brenner," CBS, 9-9:30 (Eastern Daylight Time)—Summer reruns of a police story with Edward Binns and James Broderick; "Hazel," NBC, 9:30-10—Shirley Booth stars in just about the only program of the evening that is not a rebroadcast.

SOMETHING TO BLOW ABOUT—A domed concrete warehouse, the first of its kind, takes shape near Cincinnati. The 23-foot-high roof is a nylon-vinyl covering, held in place by air pressure. Wire cables are anchored to the walls and crisscross beneath the plastic covering. Two and a half inches of concrete is then blown against the plastic, forming the final roof. The interior will be clear of roof supports. It will be used by the Morton Salt Co. to store 3,500 tons of rock salt to be spread on winter's icy streets.

New Zoning Ordinance For More Apartments

Adoption of amendments to the Poughkeepsie zoning ordinance, which will permit an increase in the number of apartments in a given area, was unanimous at a recent meeting of the city's Common Council..

As the result of the council's action, Robert S. Ackerman said he will resume negotiations with the City Planning Board on approval of plot plans for a 44-unit apartment house, costing about $650,000.

Joseph D. Quinn Jr., attorney for Samuel Getz, developer of the Eden Roc apartments at Academy and Franklin Streets, on Poughkeepsie's south side, said Getz will go ahead with the construction of an apartment building containing 12 dwelling units. Eden Roc now has 24 units..

The site of the 44-unit apartment house project is at 31 Forbus Street, Poughkeepsie.

Upon completion of this phase he will enter advanced training at either Pensacola or Meridian, Miss.

Red Hook Water Is Normal, Pressure Down

Cause of a sudden drop in the Village of Red Hook water supply pressure earlier this week may have been the result of water backing up through a check valve, according to Village Clerk Francis Rabbett.

The clerk told The Freeman, "we lost a great deal of water, but the water is flowing over the top of the well today."

Rabbett said a check of the water lines was made to determine whether a leak might have developed, but none was found.

The pressure level, normally around 84 pounds, dropped to 45 pounds and curtailed use of water a couple of hours.

Thankful He's Alive

800 Guests Due At Cookout of Wealthy Bachelor

ROCKVILLE CENTRE, N.Y. (AP)—Perry Grant is having a little cookout Sunday for his close friends.

The police have been notified. The driveway has been coated for dancing. The caterer has been alerted. The champagne has been ordered. And the bands have been engaged.

The wealthy bachelor expects more than 800 guests for the event at his sumptuous estate on Long Island.

It all began three weeks ago when Grant, 25, escaped injury as his plane crashed in a Maryland Swamp. He got to thinking how lucky he was to have escaped.

"I decided to have some close friends in to help me celebrate being alive," Grant recalls. "But the word spread and now they're coming from all parts of the country."

Grant's family amassed a fortune in investments and the operation of a court stenography service, of which Grant now is general manager.

Grant said he notified local police in order to assure that the party is kept orderly and free from incidents of gate-crashing.

How much will the shindig set general manager.

Milk Use Triples

WASHINGTON (AP) — U. S. armed forces and veterans hospital patients increased consumption of milk over the standard ration by about 552 million pints in 1961 under a special program to stimulate use of milk for troop feeding.

Under this program the Agriculture Department pays a part of the cost of additional milk used.

The department said total consumption of fluid milk by personnel in the Army, Navy, Air Force, Marines, Coast Guard, and other outlets was more than triple what it would have been if only standard ration purchases had been made.

The department paid out $25,437,517 to cooperating agencies for the 1961 increase in use of milk. This is the amount it would have spent on the extra milk consumed if it had come under price support operations.

Seven Will Help Seek Successor For School Chief

NEW YORK (AP) — Max J. Rubin, president of the city Board of Education, announced today that seven persons have agreed to serve as a committee of consultants in selecting a new superintendent of schools.

The $37,500-a-year post will be open Sept. 1 when Dr. John JM Theobald's retirement becomes effective.

Rubin said in a statement in behalf of the board that the school system — largest in the country with a million pupils — "should be headed by the most highly qualified educator whose services are available to us."

"The responsibility for the selection rests upon the board of education," he said, and added:

"Nevertheless, in order to do all within our power to make the best choice, the board has requested a group of nationally recognized educators and distinguished citizens to serve as a committee of consultants."

19-Year-Old Girl Missing

Queens Doctor Sought For Quiz on Abortion

NEW YORK (AP) — Police issued a 13-state alarm early today for a Queens doctor wanted for questioning in connection with the disappearance of a 19-year-old girl who, her parents say, went to the physician for an abortion.

Police, entering the doctor's home Wednesday, said they found jammed in a sewer trap a head and other dismembered parts of a body of a woman about 20 years old.

The alarm was issued for Dr. Harvey Lothringer, 45, of Hollis.

No charges were issued pending outcome of the investigation.

Detective Inspector Patrick MacCormack gave this account:

He said the young woman, Miss Barbara Lo Frumento, was four months pregnant by her boyfriend, whom she planned to marry. The boyfriend was not identified.

On learning of the pregnancy the girl's parents decided upon an abortion and the girl's father, Dominic, 52, contacted Dr. Lothringer.

The girl's mother, Rose, 52, MacCormack continued, told him she went with her daughter to the doctor's office early last Sunday morning and waited outside after handing the doctor $500—while the girl went into the office.

After waiting for several hours, MacCormack further quoted Mrs. Lo Frumento as saying, the doctor came out and told her to go home, and that they would be in touch with her.

Mrs. Lo Frumento went home, but said she heard nothing further either from her daughter or the doctor.

When efforts to contact the doctor failed, she said, she notified the Queens district attorney's office.

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There's a television tale, possibly untrustworthy, about the prolific scriptwriter who turned out mystery stories on a production line basis.

His secret was to have his secretary hand him, every few days, three different objects—a fan, a marble and a burned-out flashlight bulb, for example. Then he would proceed to rip off a story around these clues.

Television through the seasons has streamlined the "instant plot" technique to a point where—at least from this viewer's observation post—the script writers can and do turn out their daily quota by writing a whole show around a given line of dialogue.

It's really not hard. Just try some of the following tried, true and tired lines yourself. You may discover that you, too, have a future as a TV author.

"You owe me $40,000, Miss Wadley-Jones, and I don't think your father would be very happy to hear you are a compulsive gambler. However, I know a way you can square things—I'll even burn the IOUs."

"I hope you're right in your diagnosis, doctor. But even if we do operate now, it will be touch and go."

"It doesn't matter what he has done, lieutenant. He is entitled to the very best defense we can give him."

"Staying in town long friend? We don't cotton to strangers here much."

Shirley Booth's "Hazil" climbed to the top of Nielsen's popularity list, followed closely by "The Garry Moore Show" and "The Andy Griffith Show." Wagon Train," "Gunsmoke" and "Bonanza," the three Westerns which have been leading the hit parade all season, dropped down in the list—maybe heralding the end of the sagebrush saga fad?

Recommended tonight: "Brenner," CBS, 9-9:30 (Eastern Daylight Time)—Summer reruns of a police story with Edward Binns and James Broderick; "Hazel," NBC, 9:30-10—Shirley Booth stars in just about the only program of the evening that is not a rebroadcast.

BURDENS OF ABUNDANCE

Scarcities—of jobs, of the necessities, of opportunity to develop to the fullest—still are at the base of many present day problems. Rich as this country is, it has not yet abolished poverty and distress.

Yet it is a fact that, increasingly, abundance rather than scarcity is found at the heart of many of our current dilemmas.

As industry, science and medicine plunge on, producing a torrent of new discoveries, scarcity problems by the score are solved—only to be superseded by new difficulties inherent in abundance. We are embarrassed by the rich yields of our farms. Even when our steadily expanding industrial plant operates well below capacity, we can flood the market with a wide variety of consumer products, from television sets to room air conditioners.

We are putting so many automoblies into circulation that cites are hard pressed to provide parking space and highway authorities must spend billions yearly to try to keep the cars moving freely.

Our booming population is another "embarrassment of riches." Census figures make it plain that this soaring spiral results not so much from a rise in birth rates as a drop in death rates. At root here are our remarkable gains in combating disease and providing better nutrition.

No one has even calculated what might happen to the population curve if long sought cures for cancer and major heart ailments were suddenly to be accomplished.

Should we try to slow down the racing scientific revolution, which seems to be bringing us at least as many new problems as it eliminates old ones?

Surely no scientists would suggest it, and probably few if any leaders in any walk of life would propose a brake on scientific advancement. The always thoughtful Dr. Glenn Seaborg, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission,, speaks on this point:

"To limit science would be to limit the whole spirit of freedom. How shall we select what questions we can ask safely? How can we pre-determine what we shall allow ourselves to learn and what to leave in darkness?"

Any such course would be more than a perilous muzzling of human curiosity. It could put a heavy damper on human hope.

Who is to say that men, having struggled for centuries with the problems of scarcity, are not ready to trade them for the dilemmas of abundance—even though these latter be deadly serious in their way?

Some scientists say we will be forever trading one set of problems for another. Yet few people are likely to regard that as a good argument for settling down permanently with their old problems.

The pace of change is itself a difficulty. But with change also goes hope—hope that in the exchange of problems the net burden on mankind may be lightened, even if only a little.

A tornado does million-dollar damage in South Dakota. This surprises those who had supposed South Dakota to be all open space with little to be damaged.

BACK SEAT RIDING

Grandpa and Grandma, it seems, no longer enjoy as much authority as they used to. Their wisdom born of long experience has lost some of its stature in a world of swift change that brings new conditions and alters values. This was generally agreed to when delegates discussed the matter at a New York conference on "emotional adjustment to the later years."

The conclusion is fairly obvious. It need not, however, dismay Grandpa and Grandma or those about to arrive at that status. They can savor the knowledge that wielding authority is less important—and a lot less fun—than bestowing unconditional love on their grandchildren. This, too, was the consensus among those who attended the conference mentioned above.

This is the real privilege of grandparenthood—to love and cherish the new generation without having responsibility for its nurture and upbringing. That beats being a patriarch, however authoritative. Grandparents who worry about no longer being at the steering wheel should relax and enjoy riding in the back seat.

IS THIS JUSTICE?

Mrs. Mary Ellen Benson was fined $10.40 in a Milwauke Court because she went to church on a Sunday morning. According to Judge Robert Miech she should have gone to a union meeting.

It is difficult for one not living in Milwaukee and not knowing the parties concerned to understand what business it was of the judge's anyhow. Are our courts of law designed to enforce union regulations? The particular union to which Mrs. Benson belongs chooses to meet on Sunday mornings; it also chooses to fine members who do not attend three out of five meetings.

This is strictly a private matter between Mrs. Benson and the union. If she is deprived of her job because she prefers to go to church rather than to the union meeting she ought to be able to sue the union for blacklisting her because of her religious scruples and a sensible judge and jury would support her in her preference of God over the union.

Mrs. Benson said:

"The union meetings come on Sunday mornings exactly at my church time. I've told them (the union) over and over again that I will never go to their meetings as long as they are on Sunday — and I still won't."

Bravo! That is the old, fighting spirit. If more of that were left in this country, there would be less bureaucracy in government, in business, in labor. The other day, I tried to put through a long distance telephone call and it took me four calls because either the operators were fresh or did not understand simple English, clearly enunciated. When I asked for a supervisor, I was told she was busy. The telephone company is a business enterprise which charges for its services. It used to be an efficient organization with delightful and helpful operators. It advertised, "The Girl with the Smile."

There is no longer a smile. Those girls won a strike and they are as proud as all get out. If one avoids the person-to-person call and uses the various code numbers, he can miss the yakety-yak of the fresh operator, but the person-to-person call is a proper service.

It is the same with the telegraph companies. A person can fly from Rome to New York faster than a telegram. I was notified by my nephews from France that my son was leaving Rome on a Friday. Friday morning, a non-English, accented person telephoned the message which turned out to be incorrect. It was corrected by telephone late in the afternoon. My son arrived Friday night at 7 p. m. The telegram and its correction arrived at my house, in the heart of New York City, Saturday morning at about 9 a. m.

When boys were permitted to work after school, telegrams were rapidly delivered. The boy got a good tip. Instead today, such a boy has to hang around, after he has begun to grow a beard, waiting to be old enough to be permitted to work. His life pattern is organized on the theory that prolonged loafing is indivdually and socially beneficial.

There is a shortage of all kinds of help, but youngsters may not work for pay, except to cut the grass but in the big cities there is no grass. Mrs. Benson's experience forces me to think that the arrogance of some unions today is as great as the arrogance of the self-made businessman was before the 1929 crash when he learned that his business judgement was not so good.

The union officials know that Americans generally like to go to church on Sunday mornings. It is an old custom. It is part of the national mores. The union could well hold its meetings at some other time and should not have used the secular arm of a court to impose its peculiarities upon anyone.

There is a lot of noise about the separation of church and state, but when a union and a judge decide that an American may be fined for attending a church, something very evil has entered into our way of life and that evil must be stamped out by all decent people. It is the evil of materialism, which weakens the sinews of the family and therefore weakens the nation.

One bad judgement of an individual need not force us to a general conclusion but it does require vigilance.

Farm Workers Exposed To Hazards Absent in City

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Having been city born and bred, I did not realize the hardships and risks of farm life until I moved to the country 15 years ago. I was particularly impressed with a recent article on occupational health in agriculture.

This article explores why so little attention has been given to the health of the farm worker. The farmer is an independent operator with a relatively small operation. His home and workshop are combined. Child labor laws do not apply. The work week is not limited. Because of work crises, due to changes in rainfall, soil conditions, machinery breakdowns and seasonal demands, the work day may begin before dawn and go on into the night (especially since tractors and combines are electrically lighted). Safety equipment is not furnished nor are safety rules enforced as in supervised industries. Because of distances, first aid and other medical services are not readily available.

What makes the situation all the worse is the fact that farm accidents, in the home as well as in the field, rank in frequency only less than those that occur in mining and construction.

When these accidents occur, it is often impossible for the farmer to leave what he is doing to seek competent medical and surgical care.

Sanitation cannot be as well supervised and controlled as in an urban community. In addition, the farmer's occupation exposes him and his family to greater risks from dusts and pollens that may produce hypersensitivity reactions (allergies); to chemicals such as insecticides, rat poisons (rodenticides), fumigants, pesticides, fertilizers, herbicides, etc.; and to diseases transmitted by animals (zoonoses). These include anthrax (malignant pustule), tetanus (lockjaw), brucellosis (Bang's disease), tuberculosis, the diarrheal disorders (salmonelloses, typhoid fevers), streptococcal infections (cattle mastitis), worm infestations (trichinosis) and fungus diseases of the lungs ("farmer's lung").

While governmental agencies and farm cooperatives are striving with all the forces at their disposal to protect and care for the agriculturist, the small farmer and his wife, in particular, must be alerted to the risks that threaten them and their household and to the available agencies and means for protection and care that are at their personal disposal.

Washington News

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — A new inspector general's bureau is going to be set up in the Department of Agriculture to prevent repetitions of Billie Sol Estes case operations.

This may sound like locking the warehouse after the wheat, cotton and/or liquid fertilizer have been removed. But so far, department spokesmen are sticking to the story that the government itself has lost no money in dealing with the Texas high financier and has even slapped fines on him.

The same thing cannot be said for Texas investors in Estes' get-rich-quick schemes, and that's the rub.

Department of Agriculture attorneys, confident that they had a tight case, did not move in as fast as they could have. The fact that 3,000 acres of cotton allotments were being transferred in one area should have run up a red flag of warning, it is now admitted in hindsight.

If an investigative crew had been sent into Texas earlier, the Texas farmers who also are clients of the Department of Agriculture might have been saved from some of the losses they sustained after dealing with the Estes high pressure sales force and smart lawyers.

One corrective action that has already been taken is an order that hereafter no allotments can be transferred without national, rather than state office approval.

ONE OLD SAW around Department of Agriculture is that, "the last secretary who was able to run the department was Henry Wallace the First." That was back in Harding's administration, 40 years ago. Since that time the department has become so big and complex that "it runs the secretary."

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, determined to change this situation, says, "I'm going to run this show and it's not going to run me."

In the past year he has concentrated on getting a new farm program put together for the Kennedy administration and getting a new farm bill through Congress.

He has traveled all over the United States, talked at hundreds of meetings to sell this legislation to farmers. It has gone farther than many people thought possible.

The Senate has approved main provisions of the bill with only minor amendments — killing only the dairy program. Comparable House action is anticipated.

IN THIS TIME-CONSUMING effort to accomplish this much, the secretary feels that he has not been able to dig into departmental administration as much as he should have.

That is to be his next major project. And the setting up of an investigative staff, reporting directly to the secretary, is to be the first step.

This may be the first good to come from the Estes case.

Having received a rough political hazing while governor of Minnesota, Freeman boasts, "I've always been tough. Any question of discipline will be reviewed here."

He insists that so far he has found no evidence of favoritism being shown anyone. He has talked personally with Texas Attorney General Will Wilson and received assurances he has no evidence of other federal employes being involved than the three already dismissed. But there are rumors all over Washington that higher-ups will soon be implicated.

THE POLITICAL OVERTONES are obvious. Republican National Committee chairman William E. Miller says the Estes affair is an issue with which the GOP can pound the Democrats.

"Bobby Kennedy controls the FBI and holds the keys to the jail," he says. "Democrats control both congressional investigating committees in a monopoly. We may never be able to get full disclosure."

The Democratic pitch is to turn the story around by taking credit for bringing to light every detail of the Estes operations and then trying to put the blame on Eisenhower administration officials. They were in charge of the Department of Agriculture when Billie Sol began and carried on his most spectacular deals. That's politics.

The Tax Reform Problem: Is Kennedy Floundering?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — An era of tax confusion has begun. What taxes now will be raised? What taxes will be reduced? Just when will the new rates take effect? What changes of regulations are going to be made anyway by the Treasury on the basis of the discretion already granted in existing laws?

These are but a few of the many questions which, if left unanswered, will tend to cause business to hesitate and the economy to stagnate. As a lack of confidence spreads, a panicky psychology usually ensues.

It's time for stimulating leadership. More and more, President Kennedy is unwittingly creating the impression that he is floundering. He has reached what might be called a crisis in his political career. The stock-market break has brought no action or public expression from the White House that shows an awareness of what has happened.

The economy is in trouble, and the Federal government can be the biggest single factor in its recovery. The enactment of a sensible tax-reform program is needed now and ought not to be postponed until the end of the Congressional session, which would mean a probable deferment until next year.

Congress is ready to act. When will the Kennedy administration get ready to act? The whole world is waiting to see if the President can avert another 1929-'41 depression. The New Deal floundered and failed then, and was rescued only by the expenditures in heavy-goods industries when America started arming after the outbreak of World War II in Europe. Surely the United States has learned that lesson and has a right this time to expect a more realistic leadership and a more constructive program.

What Can Be Done

What can a President do in the present situation for one thing, he can accept the advice of those who have had experience in and know the American economy intimately from national and international viewpoint. He can put aside his partisanship and sit down with the leaders of both sides in Congress to develop a bipartisan program to provide the incentives to business growth and prosperity which are so sorely needed today.

Congress is in session now, and it is ready to follow a sensible leadership. It is entangled today in a tax-reform bill on a few items which do not go to the heart of the economic problem. Some of its provisions should either be laid aside or dealt with as part of a general tax-revision bill.

At the end of this month, moreover the corporation tax of 52 per cent automatically goes down to 47 per cent unless the Congress acts to extend or modify the present law.

Congress can give business its greatest inspiration by enacting now a law that will fix a lower tax rate on corporate earnings for a set period of five years. Even if the reduction is just a few points, it will be an incentive to the businesses of the country. It will enable them to plan on the use of the money they will have been told in advance that they will save. Money spent business out of tax savings can in certain ways, generate more spending and increase employment and ultimately result in more tax receipts.

But the political tendency will be to give a tax cut to lower-income brackets because this means more votes. It can, however, mean a loss of votes, especially if the tax bill fails to cure unemployment. For to increase consumer spending isn't by itself the way to strengthen the economy. Consumer spending at present is not in a bad way. It is the heavy-goods industries that are in a depression and have been since 1958, and this is the key to high unemployment figures.

Deficit Dangers

The question is already being asked how the proposals for a general tax cut emanating from Administration circles nowadays can do any good if it results in a big deficit in the Federal budget. The answer is that another big deficit will certainly cause inflation to return, which means higher prices and demands for higher wages. When the temporary stimulus has run its course, there would be the same kind of decline in the health of the general economy that is being experienced today.

A simple solution is to confine tax cuts only to those categories which will stimulate the weak spots in the economy. A reduction in corporate-tax rates and a revised set of depreciation rules for all types of businesses are imperative today. This would mean an increase in business volume and tax receipts far outweighing any loss of revenue due to reductions in existing tax rates. There has been too much delay. Changes have been promised, but the promises have not been kept. Business has become discouraged. Planning is at a standstill in many enterprises

Mistakes already have been made by the President which have unsettled the stock markets of the world. Vague generalities will not help any more than will abstract promises about tax reductions that may be made—perhaps next year. It is a time for action and not for mere words or ambiguous promises.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

Residents of Whiteport who served with the Union forces included Isaac Lawrence, a native of that place who was born Sept. 8, 1843, one of 10 children of George B. and Mary Jane (Freer) Lawrence. A cement works employe, he enlisted at the outbreak of the war in Col. George W. Pratt's Twentieth Infantry which was in action at Centerville, April, 1862. In May of 1862, the regiment as a part of General McDowell's Army was sent to Fredericksburg and then to reinforce McClellan's command at Culpepper Court House. Other engagments were Norman's Ford, Sulphur Springs and at 2nd Bull Run where the regiment's casualties totalled 323 killed, wounded or missing.

The 20th next went to Maryland, later participating in the terrific fighting at Antietam where young Lawrence was wounded. He reenlisted, 1864, in his old company and regiment which was then back in Ulster County for a rest furlough, reorganization and recruiting, and took part in the great Wilderness campaign. Returning home, the veteran resumed work in the cement industry. He was married, 1864, to Rebecca C. Dietz and their children were: Carrie, Luther, Lucy, who married Edward Morey; Mary, wife of James Dietz of Town Hurley; Rosanna, Katie and Loren A. Republican in politics, Lawrence was a member of the Methodist Church and the Knights of Pythias.

The Town of Olive, now split into two section by the waters of the Ashokan Reservoir, enlisted about 200 men during the Civil War, many of these being young fellows who worked in the town's three large tanneries and numerous sawmills of the area. Some of the Olive soldiers who died in the Great War were the following:

Hugh Biggins, enlisted August, 1861, 20th Regt., Co. D—Died Sept. 13, '64.

John Bush, September 31, '61—2o, D — May 6, '62. Falls Church, Va.

John W. Roosa, died in service.

Samuel J. Boice, Aug. 13, 1863—120th A—May 31, '63, Chancellorsville.

John J. Winchell, Dec. 18, '61—91st E—Baton Rouge, Sept. 29, 1863.

Clarence D. McKenzie, April 23, '61—13th D, killed in Maryland.

Levi Barkins—died in service.

Josiah Vandemark, Aug. 3, 1862—120th D—killed at Gettysburg.

Barnett Bishop, 1862—120 B—killed at Chancellorsville.

Sergeant Luther McClelland, Aug. 26, '61—20 D—killed at Gettysburg, Aug. 3, '63.

(Of the above young men who did not come back alive, B. Bishop was one of 11 sons of Jacob Bishop whose grist-mill in what is now Olive Bridge was at the Esopus Creek Falls, near the site of the present Ashokan Reservoir main dam.)

And the War Went On

Newspaper publishers felt the war time pinch too as the following tale of woe from an Ulster County editor attests: Some papers are now printed on half-sheets owing to the existing high price of paper. We don't know but we'll have to do the same unless our delinquent subscribers pay up soon. These are fine times for printers, — job print is now taxed 5 per cent; ads 3 per cent."

It is said that people are degenerating because they don't live as long as in the days of Methusaleh. But the fact is that provisions are so high that nobody can afford to live very long at current prices.

There is a gent in St. Louis who has 2 bushels and one-half children: His name is Peck and there are 10 boys and girls, — 4 Pecks to the bushel.

Reading of a man jailed for stealing a horse, an acquaintance said: "Serves him right. Why didn't he buy the horse and never pay for it, like any other gentleman?"

Like a man without a woman,
Like a ship without a sail,
The most useless thing in life
Is a shirt without a—proper length.

A well known Confederate sympathizer near Baltimore got up an expensive dinner for 15 of his Southern friends. Between good food and the apple jack, they had literally "a feast of reason and a flow of bowl." Dinner over, and his soldier guests departed, mine host found all his horses stolen, his premises stripped of everything of value and carried away by the rebel raiders. So, his political complexion has since undergone a rapid change.—O. T.

BURDENS OF ABUNDANCE

Scarcities—of jobs, of the necessities, of opportunity to develop to the fullest—still are at the base of many present day problems. Rich as this country is, it has not yet abolished poverty and distress.

Yet it is a fact that, increasingly, abundance rather than scarcity is found at the heart of many of our current dilemmas.

As industry, science and medicine plunge on, producing a torrent of new discoveries, scarcity problems by the score are solved—only to be superseded by new difficulties inherent in abundance. We are embarrassed by the rich yields of our farms. Even when our steadily expanding industrial plant operates well below capacity, we can flood the market with a wide variety of consumer products, from television sets to room air conditioners.

We are putting so many automoblies into circulation that cites are hard pressed to provide parking space and highway authorities must spend billions yearly to try to keep the cars moving freely.

Our booming population is another "embarrassment of riches." Census figures make it plain that this soaring spiral results not so much from a rise in birth rates as a drop in death rates. At root here are our remarkable gains in combating disease and providing better nutrition.

No one has even calculated what might happen to the population curve if long sought cures for cancer and major heart ailments were suddenly to be accomplished.

Should we try to slow down the racing scientific revolution, which seems to be bringing us at least as many new problems as it eliminates old ones?

Surely no scientists would suggest it, and probably few if any leaders in any walk of life would propose a brake on scientific advancement. The always thoughtful Dr. Glenn Seaborg, chairman of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission,, speaks on this point:

"To limit science would be to limit the whole spirit of freedom. How shall we select what questions we can ask safely? How can we pre-determine what we shall allow ourselves to learn and what to leave in darkness?"

Any such course would be more than a perilous muzzling of human curiosity. It could put a heavy damper on human hope.

Who is to say that men, having struggled for centuries with the problems of scarcity, are not ready to trade them for the dilemmas of abundance—even though these latter be deadly serious in their way?

Some scientists say we will be forever trading one set of problems for another. Yet few people are likely to regard that as a good argument for settling down permanently with their old problems.

The pace of change is itself a difficulty. But with change also goes hope—hope that in the exchange of problems the net burden on mankind may be lightened, even if only a little.

A tornado does million-dollar damage in South Dakota. This surprises those who had supposed South Dakota to be all open space with little to be damaged.

If an investigative crew had been sent into Texas earlier, the Texas farmers who also are clients of the Department of Agriculture might have been saved from some of the losses they sustained after dealing with the Estes high pressure sales force and smart lawyers.

One corrective action that has already been taken is an order that hereafter no allotments can be transferred without national, rather than state office approval.

ONE OLD SAW around Department of Agriculture is that, "the last secretary who was able to run the department was Henry Wallace the First." That was back in Harding's administration, 40 years ago. Since that time the department has become so big and complex that "it runs the secretary."

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman, determined to change this situation, says, "I'm going to run this show and it's not going to run me."

In the past year he has concentrated on getting a new farm program put together for the Kennedy administration and getting a new farm bill through Congress.

He has traveled all over the United States, talked at hundreds of meetings to sell this legislation to farmers. It has gone farther than many people thought possible.

The Senate has approved main provisions of the bill with only minor amendments — killing only the dairy program. Comparable House action is anticipated.

IN THIS TIME-CONSUMING effort to accomplish this much, the secretary feels that he has not been able to dig into departmental administration as much as he should have.

That is to be his next major project. And the setting up of an investigative staff, reporting directly to the secretary, is to be the first step.

This may be the first good to come from the Estes case.

Having received a rough political hazing while governor of Minnesota, Freeman boasts, "I've always been tough. Any question of discipline will be reviewed here."

He insists that so far he has found no evidence of favoritism being shown anyone. He has talked personally with Texas Attorney General Will Wilson and received assurances he has no evidence of other federal employes being involved than the three already dismissed. But there are rumors all over Washington that higher-ups will soon be implicated.

THE POLITICAL OVERTONES are obvious. Republican National Committee chairman William E. Miller says the Estes affair is an issue with which the GOP can pound the Democrats.

"Bobby Kennedy controls the FBI and holds the keys to the jail," he says. "Democrats control both congressional investigating committees in a monopoly. We may never be able to get full disclosure."

The Democratic pitch is to turn the story around by taking credit for bringing to light every detail of the Estes operations and then trying to put the blame on Eisenhower administration officials. They were in charge of the Department of Agriculture when Billie Sol began and carried on his most spectacular deals. That's politics.

June 7, 1942—John D. Rockefeller Jr. offered $5,000 toward a fund to keep the Wiltwyck School at Esopus in operation.

Heavy rain and hail swept over the area.

Police claimed solution of a series of fires in Wallkill with the arrest of a man from that village.

A fire said to have originated in an oil stove damaged the Thomas Forbes house on North Street .

June 7, 1952—The Chamber of Commerce launched a drive for 500 paid memberships.

Firemen of Margaretville assisted those in Fleischmanns in battling a fire in the Steinhardt building in the latter place.

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk, in a proclamation, asked local residents to join in observing June as Dairy Month.

The Tax Reform Problem: Is Kennedy Floundering?

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — An era of tax confusion has begun. What taxes now will be raised? What taxes will be reduced? Just when will the new rates take effect? What changes of regulations are going to be made anyway by the Treasury on the basis of the discretion already granted in existing laws?

These are but a few of the many questions which, if left unanswered, will tend to cause business to hesitate and the economy to stagnate. As a lack of confidence spreads, a panicky psychology usually ensues.

It's time for stimulating leadership. More and more, President Kennedy is unwittingly creating the impression that he is floundering. He has reached what might be called a crisis in his political career. The stock-market break has brought no action or public expression from the White House that shows an awareness of what has happened.

The economy is in trouble, and the Federal government can be the biggest single factor in its recovery. The enactment of a sensible tax-reform program is needed now and ought not to be postponed until the end of the Congressional session, which would mean a probable deferment until next year.

Congress is ready to act. When will the Kennedy administration get ready to act? The whole world is waiting to see if the President can avert another 1929-'41 depression. The New Deal floundered and failed then, and was rescued only by the expenditures in heavy-goods industries when America started arming after the outbreak of World War II in Europe. Surely the United States has learned that lesson and has a right this time to expect a more realistic leadership and a more constructive program.

What Can Be Done

What can a President do in the present situation for one thing, he can accept the advice of those who have had experience in and know the American economy intimately from national and international viewpoint. He can put aside his partisanship and sit down with the leaders of both sides in Congress to develop a bipartisan program to provide the incentives to business growth and prosperity which are so sorely needed today.

Congress is in session now, and it is ready to follow a sensible leadership. It is entangled today in a tax-reform bill on a few items which do not go to the heart of the economic problem. Some of its provisions should either be laid aside or dealt with as part of a general tax-revision bill.

At the end of this month, moreover the corporation tax of 52 per cent automatically goes down to 47 per cent unless the Congress acts to extend or modify the present law.

Congress can give business its greatest inspiration by enacting now a law that will fix a lower tax rate on corporate earnings for a set period of five years. Even if the reduction is just a few points, it will be an incentive to the businesses of the country. It will enable them to plan on the use of the money they will have been told in advance that they will save. Money spent business out of tax savings can in certain ways, generate more spending and increase employment and ultimately result in more tax receipts.

But the political tendency will be to give a tax cut to lower-income brackets because this means more votes. It can, however, mean a loss of votes, especially if the tax bill fails to cure unemployment. For to increase consumer spending isn't by itself the way to strengthen the economy. Consumer spending at present is not in a bad way. It is the heavy-goods industries that are in a depression and have been since 1958, and this is the key to high unemployment figures.

Deficit Dangers

The question is already being asked how the proposals for a general tax cut emanating from Administration circles nowadays can do any good if it results in a big deficit in the Federal budget. The answer is that another big deficit will certainly cause inflation to return, which means higher prices and demands for higher wages. When the temporary stimulus has run its course, there would be the same kind of decline in the health of the general economy that is being experienced today.

A simple solution is to confine tax cuts only to those categories which will stimulate the weak spots in the economy. A reduction in corporate-tax rates and a revised set of depreciation rules for all types of businesses are imperative today. This would mean an increase in business volume and tax receipts far outweighing any loss of revenue due to reductions in existing tax rates. There has been too much delay. Changes have been promised, but the promises have not been kept. Business has become discouraged. Planning is at a standstill in many enterprises

Mistakes already have been made by the President which have unsettled the stock markets of the world. Vague generalities will not help any more than will abstract promises about tax reductions that may be made—perhaps next year. It is a time for action and not for mere words or ambiguous promises.

Old Timer's Civil War Notes

By C. A. WINCHELL, Shokan, N. Y.

Residents of Whiteport who served with the Union forces included Isaac Lawrence, a native of that place who was born Sept. 8, 1843, one of 10 children of George B. and Mary Jane (Freer) Lawrence. A cement works employe, he enlisted at the outbreak of the war in Col. George W. Pratt's Twentieth Infantry which was in action at Centerville, April, 1862. In May of 1862, the regiment as a part of General McDowell's Army was sent to Fredericksburg and then to reinforce McClellan's command at Culpepper Court House. Other engagments were Norman's Ford, Sulphur Springs and at 2nd Bull Run where the regiment's casualties totalled 323 killed, wounded or missing.

The 20th next went to Maryland, later participating in the terrific fighting at Antietam where young Lawrence was wounded. He reenlisted, 1864, in his old company and regiment which was then back in Ulster County for a rest furlough, reorganization and recruiting, and took part in the great Wilderness campaign. Returning home, the veteran resumed work in the cement industry. He was married, 1864, to Rebecca C. Dietz and their children were: Carrie, Luther, Lucy, who married Edward Morey; Mary, wife of James Dietz of Town Hurley; Rosanna, Katie and Loren A. Republican in politics, Lawrence was a member of the Methodist Church and the Knights of Pythias.

The Town of Olive, now split into two section by the waters of the Ashokan Reservoir, enlisted about 200 men during the Civil War, many of these being young fellows who worked in the town's three large tanneries and numerous sawmills of the area. Some of the Olive soldiers who died in the Great War were the following:

Hugh Biggins, enlisted August, 1861, 20th Regt., Co. D—Died Sept. 13, '64.

John Bush, September 31, '61—2o, D — May 6, '62. Falls Church, Va.

John W. Roosa, died in service.

Samuel J. Boice, Aug. 13, 1863—120th A—May 31, '63, Chancellorsville.

John J. Winchell, Dec. 18, '61—91st E—Baton Rouge, Sept. 29, 1863.

Clarence D. McKenzie, April 23, '61—13th D, killed in Maryland.

Levi Barkins—died in service.

Josiah Vandemark, Aug. 3, 1862—120th D—killed at Gettysburg.

Barnett Bishop, 1862—120 B—killed at Chancellorsville.

Sergeant Luther McClelland, Aug. 26, '61—20 D—killed at Gettysburg, Aug. 3, '63.

(Of the above young men who did not come back alive, B. Bishop was one of 11 sons of Jacob Bishop whose grist-mill in what is now Olive Bridge was at the Esopus Creek Falls, near the site of the present Ashokan Reservoir main dam.)

And the War Went On

Newspaper publishers felt the war time pinch too as the following tale of woe from an Ulster County editor attests: Some papers are now printed on half-sheets owing to the existing high price of paper. We don't know but we'll have to do the same unless our delinquent subscribers pay up soon. These are fine times for printers, — job print is now taxed 5 per cent; ads 3 per cent."

It is said that people are degenerating because they don't live as long as in the days of Methusaleh. But the fact is that provisions are so high that nobody can afford to live very long at current prices.

There is a gent in St. Louis who has 2 bushels and one-half children: His name is Peck and there are 10 boys and girls, — 4 Pecks to the bushel.

Reading of a man jailed for stealing a horse, an acquaintance said: "Serves him right. Why didn't he buy the horse and never pay for it, like any other gentleman?"

Like a man without a woman,
Like a ship without a sail,
The most useless thing in life
Is a shirt without a—proper length.

A well known Confederate sympathizer near Baltimore got up an expensive dinner for 15 of his Southern friends. Between good food and the apple jack, they had literally "a feast of reason and a flow of bowl." Dinner over, and his soldier guests departed, mine host found all his horses stolen, his premises stripped of everything of value and carried away by the rebel raiders. So, his political complexion has since undergone a rapid change.—O. T.

matter of Fact

Umbrellas and rain go together like ham and eggs. But the original purpose of the umbrella was that of a sunshade, and as such it was used by the Egyptians and the Greeks. During the Middle Ages the umbrella disappeared. When it reappeared in the 16th century it was regarded by the Pope and the clergy as a symbol of distinction and power.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Those who despair over the monumental costs of 'Cleopatra' and 'Mutiny on the Bounty" may find some solace in the "Spartacus" record.

The gladiators-and-gore epic was termed Universal's folly when Kirk Douglas was producing and starring in it. The bill kept mounting with retakes and retakes of the retakes until the total came to a reported $11 million.

Golden Lining Now

Now Douglas reports a golden lining.

"By the end of this year, the picture is expected to have brought in $20 million," said the actor. "That will mean a good profit, and the run is by no means milked. It's also the kind of picture you could bring back every five years or so."

By some mathematical magic, ordinary films are supposed to double their cost in receipts before showing a profit. That represents the added costs of distribution, advertising, interest, etc.

"But when a picture begins to cost many millions, that ratio no longer prevails," Douglas explained. "You can show a profit with less than double the cost.

"However, you couldn't prove it by me. I still haven't seen a dime of my share of 'Spartacus' and won't until it's securely in the profit column."

Douglas is now happily working for someone else—Perlberg and Seaton in "The Hook."

Otto Preminger muddied the Potomac with "Advise and Consent," his latest all-star, no-holds-barred movie. Much has already been said about what kind of a picture it displays of democracy at work and how it will be considered overseas.

Talk May Save It

The characters include: a candidate for secretary of state who lies under oath about previous Communist connections. A president who continues to support him, knowing this. A Senate majority leader who keeps house with the leading Washington hostess. A senator who would "rather crawl to Moscow" than risk war, who is constantly surrounded by four goons and who blackmails a colleague.

One previewer said she had no worries about how foreigners would take it: "There's so much talk, they won't understand it."

The Alcohol in Hand

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP)—Dr. Herbert Stanke, Arizona State University biology professor, recently received two preserved scorpions that gave off a peculiar odor. An attached note from donor Stanford Stevens explained: "If the specimens smell queer, it is because I didn't have any alcohol and killed them in tequila."

RECEIVE AWARDS—Marsha Green, third from right, and Elaine Clementz received highest achievement awards at the Court of Honor Tuesday night at the Episcopal Church of Christ the King, Stone Ridge. The Girl Scouts, members of Troop 113 of Stone Ridge, received first class and curved bar awards from Mrs. Edward T. Green, far right, Ulster Girl Scout Council vice president. Also present at the ceremony are (l-r) Holly Sturges, Evelyn Lundy, Alice Becker, Peggy Green, Sandy Mertz, Evelyn Clementz and the Rev. David W. Arnold, priest-in-charge of the church which sponsors the troop. Leader is Barbara Hunley. (Freeman photo).

Shokan

SHOKAN — Kate B. Musoff, Bearsville, was a Shokan caller Wednesday. She was accompanied here by Nettie Berger and Ida Taylor of Woodstock. Visiting Mrs. Musoff this week are her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Brandt, New York City, formerly of Havana, Cuba. Mrs. Musoff, a retired teacher, recently returned from an extended tour of South America where she visited seven countries and also spent some time in Buenos Aires and the new capital city, Brazilia.

Delaware County residents in town Tuesday included Frank Kubin of Delancey. He is a state employe, his work taking him to mental institutions in several counties. Kubin hopes to find an Anti-Rent War horn such as were used by early settlers in the mountains, during their troubles with the landed gentry more than a century ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Martin of Kingston suburbs were callers in the village center last Sunday. Martin, a World War 1 veteran, was a fifer in the famed Kingston Legion Post, 150, drum corps when that outfit headed the National Convention parade at San Antonio, Texas, in 1930.

Sawdust, of which in the old days there was a small mountain around every sawmill in the mountains, now is used extensively by dairy farmers for bedding. The lumbermen will deliver a 350-bushel load of the dust for $17.50, or about the same price as a big load of slabwood for fuel purposes. Dust from hard-wood logs when rotted makes an excellent fertilizer.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Miller, New York City couple who are spending a vacation with friends on Byrdcliffe Road, Woodstock, were recent callers in the hub of the reservoir country.

James A. Guttridge, 88, who died in Kingston May 19 was well known in this area. The Board of Water Supply engineer and his family were active in Methodist Church work during their residence in Shokan.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

I have received a number of phone calls adding to the information given in this column from time to time, which I always appreciate. I have before me a Kingston Weekly Leader of Saturday, October 28, 1893 and one item reads: "Charles L. Freer, manager and director of the Michigan Car Company of Detroit, and a well-known lover and critic of art, will leave town today with a team and trap on his annual autum tour through the Catskills."

Just the other day, I read in the Freeman that "Washington's Freer Gallery of Art houses one of the world's finest collections of Oriental art." Charles L. Freer was born in Kingston on February 25, 1856, the son of Jacob R. and Phoebe Jane Towsend Freer, of French-Huguenot ancestry. His first American ancestor was one of the original patentees of New Paltz. He is buried here in Wiltwyck Cemetery. He willed his collections and millions to the famous Freer Gallery in Washington.

From this same Oct. 28, 1893 paper I see an item where Morris Sampson, Charles A. Shultz and Capt. A. Eltinge Anderson started for the World's Fair, which I take it to be, that year, in Chicago. All three men were prominent in Kingston. No doubt Sampson was connected with the Sampson Opera House of Rondout. C. A. Shultz, I presume the owner of the famous Shultz yacht, which ran from Eddyville, and Anderson was owner and captain of the Mary Powell.. LeGrand Abbey and his son, Stephen also visited the World's Fair, and on the way back stopped at Niagara Falls and Rochester. In the latter city they visited Mrs. James G. Cutler, a sister of Mr. Abbey.

Another item from the same paper: "The Millard foundary has an order for 40 long truss bolts for the Gould Memorial Church at Roxbury. No doubt the church is still strongly held together by those Kingston-made bolts. They made things to last in those days. Another item from the social column reads: "The engagement of Miss Julia Vogel, daughter of Solomon Vogel, the Abeel Street horse dealer, to Max Welstein, of New York is announced. "Horses were very important in those days, and Vogels were known for their fine horses.

Another item from same paper. "The new twin screw propeller being built at the Cornell foundry for parties in Mexico is nearly ready to be launched and the ways for the purpose of launching are being built." Even Mexico came to Kingston for their boat building, some 70 years ago.

They had a column, called "Horse Notes" one item reads: "Under Sheriff Frank Huben has sent a most promising colt to the Wilkeswood Stock Farm to be trained and developed through the winter . . . Quite a number of Kingston ladies have taken to horse back riding, some of whom are quite adept. . . . Dr. J. J. Fry, veterinarian to the Wilkeswood Stock Farm, has by request of many prominent horsemen, opened a public office at Freer's livery, 682 Broadway . . . W. H. Freer, proprietor of the Wilkeswood stock farm, may be seen any fine afternoon driving his handsome bay stallion, Wilkeswood." No doubt, Al Vogel of Abeel Street could tell me something about these horses and the Wilkeswood stock farm.

The nickname for women serving in the U. S. Navy is Waves, which stands for Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service.

Another Group Formed Against School Bond Vote

Disturbed over what they termed, the arrogant attitude of the Saugerties Central School Board, a group of school district taxpayers formed the Committee for Fair Play at a Tuesday night meeting. The group feels that the resubmission of the same bond issue, defeated May 9, violates the principle of majority rule and states that it will campaign actively against the proposal.

In a brief statement, the committee had this to say:

"The Committee for Fair Play feels that resubmission of the defeated bond issue by the school board of Saugerties is in direct violation of American principles. We feel that the board is being goaded into this action by a small, but vocal pressure group.

"Majority rule has always been the cornerstone of our American republic. We see no reason to abandon it now, just to please the Citizens Advisory group.

Why teach children the principles of democracy and majority rule when the school authorities themselves hold these ideas in such obvious contempt. Are we to abandon all priciple, just to please a petulant pressure group?"

Fourth of July Parade Plans Near Completion

The plans for the annual Fourth of July Parade in Saugerties are now nearing completion. This parade is again sponsored by the Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce who are making every effort to have a bigger and better parade each year.

To date, eight bands have agreed to participate. This year several bands and the fireworks display have been donated by local companies. Received this week was the donation for the expense of the Troop 12 Drum and Bugle Corp. of Kingston by the Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corporation. The fireworks have been donated by the Saugerties National Bank and Trust Company.

The response from local organizations has been encouraging, however, any organization not contacted but desiring to enter a float, car, or marching unit may call Robert McNary. The theme for this year's parade is Acts of Freedom and floats depicting deeds, events, or documents that contributed to this country's freedom have already been entered. Awards will be given for the floats and marching units. The floats will be judged on the basis of originality, appropriateness to the theme, and appearance. Awards are first, trophy and $50; second, trophy and $25; third, trophy and $15. A trophy will be awarded to the best senior marching unit and to the best junior marching unit.

The Saugerties Jayncees are at this time planning the third annual block party, which marks the beginning of the gala July 4th celebration. The theme for this year's Block Party is Characters From American History. It will be held at Simmons Plaza, Barclay Heights, July 3, from 9 p. m. to 12 midnight. Dance music will be supplied in part by a grant from the transcription fund of Local 215 American Federation of Musicians.

Parents Program Scheduled Today

The guidance department of Saugerties High School is sponsoring a sixth grade parents' night program to be held tonight, 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium, Washington Avenue Extension.

The purpose of the program is to acquaint sixth grade pupils and their parents with Saugerties High School and particularly the seventh grade. Participating in the program will be Dr. Grant D. Morse ,superintendent of schools, David Cunningham, high school principal, Robert Moser, seventh grade leader, and James Chase, guidance counselor and chairman of the meeting.

After the formal part of the program, there will be an opportunity for parents and pupils to ask questions. There will also be a guided tour of the school for those interested.

Arts Guild Meeting Slated on June 14

The next monthly meeting of the Little Sawyer Arts and Crafts Guild will be held June 14 at 8:15 p. m., in the meeting room of the Saugerties Savings Bank.

The program for the evening will be a color film Exploring Cassin in which Henry Gasser demonstrates techniques in cassin painting. There will also be a short film on brush making and color making.

All persons with an interest in the arts may attend.

The Guild announces that paintings by its members are now on exhibit in the Saugerties Savings Bank, the Saugerties Savings and Loan Association and the Saugerties Public Library.

Congregational Notes

Bouton Is Named New Secretary of Hurley Fire Dept.

During the regular monthly meeting of the Hurley Fire Department June 4 at the Hurley fire station, Charles Bouton was elected to the post of secretary succeeding Paul E. McGuire who was recently elected second lieutenant.

President Robert Lawton called the meeting to order at 8 p. m. with the pledge to the flag.

It was reported that 29 members of the Department participated in the Memorial Day parade in Hurley. All members were urged to plan on marching in the Ulster County Convention parade to be held in July.

An appropriation of $150 was voted for the Hurley Little League as part of the department's continuing support of youth activities in Hurley. The recently formed Hurley Boy Scout drum and bugle corps was highly praised for its performance in the Memorial Day parade and the members passed a motion to donate $50 to assist the boys in this worthwhile program.

Chief Kenneth Cudney reported three fires in Hurley since the last meeting. The chief reported good response by the department members to these alarms but cautioned all firemen to check out with an officer when leaving brush fires.

Graham Warning

Says Move Afoot To Remove Bible From Way of Life

CHICAGO (AP)—Evangelist Billy Graham has an assistant who says their roles may be reversed when they get to heaven.

Cliff Barrows, who directs the 2,000-voice choir for Graham's 19-day Crusade for Christ in Chicago, says: "I tell Billy that when we get to heaven, there won't be any need for his preaching. But there will be plenty of music, and maybe they'll put me in charge."

Barrows joined the Graham organization while on his honeymoon in 1945. Barrows and his wife decided to attend a youth conference in Asheville, N.C., at which a young evangelist, Billy Graham, was speaking.

When the regular song leader didn't show up, Graham asked Barrows, an ordained Baptist minister, to take over. He has been with Graham ever since.

Barrows also directs "The Hour of Decision" radio and television programs.

Mr. and Mrs. Barrows are parents of five children, including a son born Wednesday. The boy, Graham announced to 29,000 persons at Wednesday night's rally at McCormick Place, has been named in honor of the evangelist.

Graham said in his sermon there is a movement afoot in America "to take the Bible out of our national life."

"If this movement succeeds," Graham declared, "then 'In God we trust' will be removed from our coins, the Bible will be taken out of the courtroom, future presidents will be sworn in with their hands on the Constitution, and chaplains will disappear from the Congress and the armed forces.

Graham said, "If the Bible goes down, then anarchy will rear its ugly head. This will be followed by savagery such as the earth has never known. This generation must face the fact that it is either back to the Bible or back to the jungle."

Another Group Formed Against School Bond Vote

Disturbed over what they termed, the arrogant attitude of the Saugerties Central School Board, a group of school district taxpayers formed the Committee for Fair Play at a Tuesday night meeting. The group feels that the resubmission of the same bond issue, defeated May 9, violates the principle of majority rule and states that it will campaign actively against the proposal.

In a brief statement, the committee had this to say:

"The Committee for Fair Play feels that resubmission of the defeated bond issue by the school board of Saugerties is in direct violation of American principles. We feel that the board is being goaded into this action by a small, but vocal pressure group.

"Majority rule has always been the cornerstone of our American republic. We see no reason to abandon it now, just to please the Citizens Advisory group.

Why teach children the principles of democracy and majority rule when the school authorities themselves hold these ideas in such obvious contempt. Are we to abandon all priciple, just to please a petulant pressure group?"

Fourth of July Parade Plans Near Completion

The plans for the annual Fourth of July Parade in Saugerties are now nearing completion. This parade is again sponsored by the Saugerties Junior Chamber of Commerce who are making every effort to have a bigger and better parade each year.

To date, eight bands have agreed to participate. This year several bands and the fireworks display have been donated by local companies. Received this week was the donation for the expense of the Troop 12 Drum and Bugle Corp. of Kingston by the Hudson Valley Lightweight Aggregate Corporation. The fireworks have been donated by the Saugerties National Bank and Trust Company.

The response from local organizations has been encouraging, however, any organization not contacted but desiring to enter a float, car, or marching unit may call Robert McNary. The theme for this year's parade is Acts of Freedom and floats depicting deeds, events, or documents that contributed to this country's freedom have already been entered. Awards will be given for the floats and marching units. The floats will be judged on the basis of originality, appropriateness to the theme, and appearance. Awards are first, trophy and $50; second, trophy and $25; third, trophy and $15. A trophy will be awarded to the best senior marching unit and to the best junior marching unit.

The Saugerties Jayncees are at this time planning the third annual block party, which marks the beginning of the gala July 4th celebration. The theme for this year's Block Party is Characters From American History. It will be held at Simmons Plaza, Barclay Heights, July 3, from 9 p. m. to 12 midnight. Dance music will be supplied in part by a grant from the transcription fund of Local 215 American Federation of Musicians.

Parents Program Scheduled Today

The guidance department of Saugerties High School is sponsoring a sixth grade parents' night program to be held tonight, 7:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium, Washington Avenue Extension.

The purpose of the program is to acquaint sixth grade pupils and their parents with Saugerties High School and particularly the seventh grade. Participating in the program will be Dr. Grant D. Morse ,superintendent of schools, David Cunningham, high school principal, Robert Moser, seventh grade leader, and James Chase, guidance counselor and chairman of the meeting.

After the formal part of the program, there will be an opportunity for parents and pupils to ask questions. There will also be a guided tour of the school for those interested.

Arts Guild Meeting Slated on June 14

The next monthly meeting of the Little Sawyer Arts and Crafts Guild will be held June 14 at 8:15 p. m., in the meeting room of the Saugerties Savings Bank.

The program for the evening will be a color film Exploring Cassin in which Henry Gasser demonstrates techniques in cassin painting. There will also be a short film on brush making and color making.

All persons with an interest in the arts may attend.

The Guild announces that paintings by its members are now on exhibit in the Saugerties Savings Bank, the Saugerties Savings and Loan Association and the Saugerties Public Library.

Congregational Notes

The Feast of the Pentecost will be observed Sunday at First Congregational Church with the Rev. Frederick J. Imhoff's sermon topic being Lifting Up the Voice. Morning worship service is at 11 a. m. with nursery class being held during the hour. Church school is at 10 a. m. Children's Day will be held on June 24. Children of the church school will take part and families may attend together.

Lutheran Church Notes

Tuesday 8 p. m. the Atonement Lutheran Church Council will meet with the finance committee at the church. Beside the regular business, members of the council and financial committee will make their pledges for $5,000 AID (Atonement Improvement Drive) appeal which will get under way, June 17. June 13, choir rehearsals will be junior choir 6:45 p. m. and Atonement Choir 8 p. m.

Thursday, June 14, at 8 p. m. the Lutheran Women of Atonement will hold their regular monthly meeting at the church. Mrs. George Hano, president will preside. Topic will be Leisure That Recreates presented by Mrs. Donald Genthner. Devotions will be given by Mrs. William Goetz. Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Fred Schmersahl and Mrs. William Goetz.

The meeting will be the last for the group until September. During July and August there will be no meetings of the group.

Events Scheduled

Registration for the adult summer driver education course will be held at the Saugerties High School Thursday, June 14, at 7:30 p. m. in Room 3. Anyone interested in taking this course should be present.

The Saugerties Chapter of the Order of the Arrow will hold an auction Sunday in the yard of Robert Gardner, 16 Mt. View Avenue, Simmons Park. All new merchandise which has been donated by merchants will be on sale and profits will benefit projects of the organization. The auction will begin at 2 p. m., and refreshments will be on sale during the afternoon.

Bouton Is Named New Secretary of Hurley Fire Dept.

During the regular monthly meeting of the Hurley Fire Department June 4 at the Hurley fire station, Charles Bouton was elected to the post of secretary succeeding Paul E. McGuire who was recently elected second lieutenant.

President Robert Lawton called the meeting to order at 8 p. m. with the pledge to the flag.

It was reported that 29 members of the Department participated in the Memorial Day parade in Hurley. All members were urged to plan on marching in the Ulster County Convention parade to be held in July.

Combine seasonings with lemon juice, vinegar and salad oil. Cut beef into 1½-inch cubes. Add to marinade. Let marinate at room temperature 4 to 5 hours or overnight in refrigerator. - ½ cup salad oil
- 2 pounds boneless sirloin beef

Combine seasonings with lemon juice, vinegar and salad oil. Cut beef into 1½-inch cubes. Add to marinade. Let marinate at room temperature 4 to 5 hours or overnight in refrigerator. String meat on skwers. Broil over a charcoal fire or in an oven broiler 15 to 20 minutes turning skewers frequently to brown on all sides. Serve between split frankfurter rolls.

Roaster Corn in Husk
(Allow 2 ears per person)

Loosen husk on ears of fresh corn only enough to remove silks. Pull husks back in place and tie in place with a strip of the shuck. Place over grill and cook 20 to 25 minutes, turning to cook uniformly. If desired, cook corn by this method in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) The baking time is the same as far barbecue grill.

Nixon Back in Business

Primary Win First Step on Comeback

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Richard M. Nixon is back in business at a new stand as the Republican nominee for governor of California.

The former vice president took the first step on the comeback road by sweeping to a primary victory over conservative Joseph C. Shell with about 70 per cent of his party's vote.

Could Have '64 Bearing

Off this showing Nixon appeared strongly armed to wage what is regarded as an uphill general election battle aainst Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown. It promises to be a no-holds-barred affair which seems likely to have a direct bearing on the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

Brown, a heavy-vote winner in his renomination race, is certain to enlarge upon his charge that Nixon is seeking the governorship only as a "whistle stop on the line to Washington."

Nixon is on record as pledging that "I shall not be a candidate for the presidency in 1964," but almost no politician in California was willing to count him out of the running for that prize should he win the governorship.

President Kennedy is expected to campaign personally for Brown. He has predicted the governor's re-election if the voters can be sold on the national administration's record.

Nixon expects former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, who winters at Palm Springs, to speak at a fund-raising dinner and to get in some other campaign licks for him.

One familiar face that seems likely to be missing is that of Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, spokesman for party conservatives and chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee. Nixon and Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, who won Republican renomination in a breeze, have made it clear they don't want Goldwater peddling his wares in California.

Concedes Grudgingly

In grudgingly conceding his defeat, Shell, an oil-wealthy former football star, gave none of the usual lip service to party unity.

Asked if he would back Nixon in November, he replied: "I support certain principles and I am not a me-tooer and I never will be. I will support any candidate who, both by his actions and his words, supports those principles that I have espoused."

This thinly veiled threat to lead a conservative stay-at-home movement in November was not lost on Nixon.

There is almost unanimous agreement among California politicians that to win the governorship any Republican must have the backing of 90 per cent of his own party's voters plus 20 per cent of Democrats. This formula pays tribute to the 4-3 edge the Democrats have among about seven million registered voters.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The Common Market's impact on the rest of the world is suddenly mushrooming all over the front pages.

A small trade war is threatened between the trading bloc and the United States over carpet and glass tariffs on our part and certain chemicals, paints and textiles on the part of the six European nations.

Australia, New Zealand, Canada, India, Pakistan—all are protesting the possible loss to them if Britain joins the Common Market at the expense of abandoning preferential treatment for nations of the British Commonwealth.

Even the Communist countries are debating in Moscow today how to counteract the growing power of the Common Market in Western Europe that is crippling their trade.

Felt All Around

The impact is felt on political as well as trade policies, on domestic as well as foreign programs.

The U.S. Congress is deep in a tariff debate. The central question: how best the United States can deal with the Common Market threat or take advantage of its promise of expanded trade if we cooperate.

The British government may face a political crisis as opposing parties take sides, even split amongst themselves, on the commonwealth problem.

Soviet policies may well be affected. Many of the Common Market inroads involve trade with the satellites rather than with Russia itself. The Soviet Union has been selling crude oil and certain types of steel to Western Europe at prices well below what its satellites must pay.

Problems Fluid

In all parts of the world, including the Common Market itself, the current problems are fluid. It is this uncertainty as to the final direction that upsets business and politicians most.

For the Common Market isn't a complete thing yet by any means. Quarrels over treatment of agricultural products still divide the six members—France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

And still very much in doubt is what progress they may make towards some form of political as well as trade unity. Age-old national and racial differences are proving hard to surmount.

But for all its unsolved problems and the uncertainties about its final form, the Common Market is a very solid fact today.

The current danger is that failure to come to terms with it on tariffs, import quotas and currency or other trade barriers could divide the Western world into warring trade blocs.

It's this danger that spices the political debates on both sides of the Atlantic, both sides of the Pacific, and perhaps within the walls of the Kremlin.

On the Map

ONG'S HAT, N. J. (AP)—Ong's Hat is the smallest town in New Jersey but its population rate remains steady. It's been zero as long as anyone can remember. Tucked away in a corner of Burlington County, this "town" has no residents, no business districts, no outskirts, no important sites, nothing. Yet, for sentimental reasons perhaps, it still shows up on most maps of the state. The Hat was a stop over in the over-night journey from New York to Philadelphia in Stage coach days. A hotel and several taverns lined its streets. Now, all that remains to mark the spot is a great oak 30 feet high.

Must Help Expand Industry to Make Jobs for Sector

Citizens must work aggressively for industrial expansion if they really want to create more jobs, and the public attitude toward established industries has a major bearing on attracting new industries.

These were statements forcefully expressed by both Charles H. Adler and Dale W. Swartzmiller at the Chamber of Commerce Community Breakfast Wednesday morning in the Governor Clinton Hotel. The theme of the meeting was "Problems of Area Industrial Expansion."

William K. Darling presided at the breakfast in place of committee chairman Harry Kaprielian who was out of town on business.

Chamber president, Sam Pepper, presided at a short business meeting at which the by-laws were revised calling for the payment of annual Chamber of Commerce dues within sixty days to take advantage of the services of the Chamber. This would include listing in the classified membership directory to be published in the near future.

John W. Egbert, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce introduced several new members in attendance and praised the recent improvements made by several businesses and one of our new industries. They included Paul Jordan, vice-president of the Herzog Supply Company for the recent complete rennovation of their store at 332 Wall Street and Thomas Lynch, manager of the new plant of Nytralite Aggregate, Inc., near Eddyville.

Nearly seventy-five persons attended the second community breakfast meeting. The next similar meeting will be held early in the fall.

Will Endeavor To Make Milk Code Meet Ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Agriculture Department official says efforts will be made to amend regulations governing the marketing of milk in 83 metropolitan areas to comply with a U.S. Supreme Court ruling.

Herbert L. Forest, director of the department's Milk Marketing Division, said after meeting with department officials Tuesday that the court's decision raises serious questions about operation of the milk marketing program.

The court held Monday, by a 6-1 vote, that producers from outside a milk marketing area do not have to pay money into a fund for distribution to producers within the area when they sell in the area.

Forest said 23 of the nation's 83 milk marketing areas have regulations in their milk marketing agreements similar to the one struck down by the court. He said the ruling raises serious questions about agreements in the other areas, too.

The protest had been brought by the Lehigh Valley Co-Op of Lehigh Valley, Pa., and Suncrest Dairy of Pennsylvania, both of which objected to making payments into the fund when they sold milk in the New York and New Jersey areas.

The court said the department may find other ways to protect milk producers against ruinous competition but not through requiring payments from producers outside a given area.

Magafan, Forman, Alexander Win Prizes in Albany Show

Woodstock artists share four of several major prize awards in the 27th Annual Regional Exhibition by Artists of the Upper Hudson which opened for a month's showing Tuesday at the Albany Institute of History and Art. The exhibition will remain in the galleries through the 4th of July.

Ethel Magafan's "Snowy Crag" was awarded Best in Show prize of $150. Cecile Forman of Woodstock has a double winner in "Summertime" an oil painting which took the Purchase Prize and First Prize Representation Oil for a prize of $100.

First prize in oil, worth $100, was awarded to Woodstock artist Franklin Alexander for an oil entitled "The Red Sweater."

The jury of selection included Fletcher Martin, Woodstock artist; John Hultberg, artist, of New York City and William C. Palmer, director of the School of Art, Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute of Utica. Juror of Awards was Gordon M. Smith, director of Albright-Knox Art Gallery of Buffalo.

More than 300 artists submitted paintings, drawings and sculptures to the 27th Regional. One work from each of 103 artists was chosen by the jury of selection. The geographical division drawn from a 100-mile radius around Albany is 40 from the tri-city area, and 63 from the wider area, including 9 from out of state, but neverthless within the radius.

New Paltz Winner

Kenneth Green of New Paltz won the first prize in sculpture for his "Hawk." First prize in watercolor went to Salvatore Cascio of Albany for his "Italian Recollections."

Other prize winners were: H. Lee Hirsche for "Night Shape;" Melville B. Firemen Await Parade, Bazaar

Fire Chief George Haythorne reported at the monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company No. 1 that during the month of May there were two fires (one building and one brush), two emergency calls and one still alarm in Woodstock.

The company's bazaar committee reported that plans are now taking form for the annual bazaar to be held at Andy Lee Memorial Field in Woodstock on Friday and Saturday nights, June 29 and June 30, at 7 p. m.

Books for the special awards at the bazaar are now ready and all persons wishing to make donations to the bazaar are requested to contct any member of the company.

Plans were completed to take part in the parade of the annual Hudson Valley Volunteer Firemen's Association at North Tarrytown on June 23. Cars will leave the firehouse Saturday morning at 8 o'clock.

Two films on American Red Cross first aid lessons were shown after the business meeting.

Historic Group Hears Speaker And Makes Plans

The Woodstock Historical Society held its first membership meeting of the year at the home of Mrs. Dorothy Hoeussler, Rock City Corners, this past weekend.

The guest speaker, Harry Rigby Jr., of Kingston, discussed the background of the people who live in the Hudson Valley, pointing out that nearly all of the things that we consider peculiarly American, such as our belief in independence, democracy, respect for the individual, the westward movement, as well as most of our technological advances during the last century, had originated in the Hudson Valley.

Today, he said, the people of the valley face a crisis greater than any faced in the past 70 years, one shared with most of the country: how to preserve the things in life that we cherish and which are worth preserving; at the same time embracing the necessary changes caused by our growing population and improved technology. He called on all groups such as historical societies, Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations to spearhead an attack on this problem before we become swamped and all that we love in our valley is lost by being overrun in the name of progress.

To those present, Rigby's works seemed particularly appropriate because of efforts now under way in Woodstock to provide some form of planning for orderly future growth.

Several Reports

Reports were made on various activities undertaken during the winter by the trustees and the president. Among the most ineresting results of the winter's work was a map of Woodstock taken from topographic maps, on which was shown the location of many points of historical interest in Woodstock, including the texts of all the his historical markers and photographs of some of the old houses and bridges. In addition, a copy in reproducible form of some of the earliest town records were shown.

Some discussion concerning some form of pamphlet on the history of Woodstock for visitors to the town took place. Such a booklet could be distributed at the information center. The possible distribution of some version of the Society map was also considered, with the possibility of local merchants placing ads on the back as a business guide for visitors.

The Society wishes to remind its members that annual dues are now payable, and invites all people interested in preserving and understanding Woodstock's heritage from the past to join the society.

Landscape Class Planned by Two Local Artists

Two Woodstock artists with considerable art background—Nancy Summers and Robert Angeloch—have announced landscape classes in Woodstock this summer.

During June, July, August and September, Miss Summers will teach on Tuesday mornings and Thursday afternoons. Angeloch will conduct classes Saturday mornings.

The landscape classes present an opportunity for those who are interested in drawing and painting from nature. Each week outdoor classes will be conducted in different areas of the countryside which provides stimulating subject matter and a selection of varied topographical forms from which to choose. Instruction will be provided on an individual basis for beginning and advances students in each class.

Tuition is payable in advance by the day, week or month. There is no registration fee but students are urged to make reservations early since registrations are limited. An art supply store is located in the village of Woodstock and information on housing accommodations and restaurants may be secured by writing to the Woodstock Information Center. Students must supply their own equipment and transportation. Classes assemble at the Woodstock Playhouse 15 minutes before the scheduled classtime. Correspondence should be addressed to Landscape Classes, P.O. Box 338, Woodstock.

Excellent Backgrounds

Nancy Summers studied at the Art Students League of New York, received a B.A. in Painting from Syracuse University and an M.A. from Florida State University.

She has exhibited regionally at the Albany Institute of History and Art, the Berkshire Museum in Pittsfield, the Woodstock Artists Association and is represented locally at the Polari Gallery. In 1961 she received the Woodstock Foundation Award for Painting. Her most recent one-man show was at Long Island University in 19960.

Miss Summers has been teaching art classes to adults and children for the past six years.

Robert Angeloch studied at the Art Students League from 1946 to 1951, with Fisk Boyd in New Hampshire in 1947, and at the Academy of Fine Arts in Florence, Italy in 1952.

He received the 1951 McDowell Traveling Scholarship, an Emily Lowe Award in 1954, the 1955 Kleinert Award, a Woodstck Foundation Award in 1956; also prizes in the 1955-56-57 Berkshire Museum Annuals, and prizes in the 1957 and 1960-61 Albany Institute of History and Art Regional Exhibitions.

His work has been included in national exhibitions at the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Museum of Modern Art and other top ranking galleries. He has had 11 one-man shows of painting, drawings and prints from 1953 to 1961.

Folk Singing Greats Slated In Woodstock

Something new in folk singing will be added to the Woodstock scene on June 19, when the newly formed Ulster County Folklore Society presents its first program to the public at 8 p. m. in the Kleinert Gallery.

Not only have many nationally and locally known folk singers and musicians offered their services, but a noted Nigerian musician, Mr. G. Oyewolu, assisted by a talented group of boys from the Wiltwyck School in Esopus, will play exciting African rhythms on a variety of native drums. American folk music is deeply indebted to that of Africa, and this program will offer an unusual opportunity to compare the two.

Other performers will be Sam Eskin, Billy Faier, Bernard Steffan, Mona Fletcher, Eleanor Hoffman, Jean Nields, Sonia Malkine and Barbara Moncure. Sam Eskin, well-known folk singer and collector of folk music, as well as acting president of the U.C.F.S, will MC the show, the proceeds of which will go towards paying the incorporation costs of the society. WKNY's "Woodstock Weekend" will feature a discussion of the program this Saturday, with Eleanor Hoffman, Sonia Malkine and Eskni participating.

Pioneer Highways

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's first interstate highway—historic Wilderness Road—was under construction prior to the Revoluntionary War. One of its engineers was Daniel Boone, who cut part of the road from Cumberland Gap to Boonesboro, Ky., in 1775.

Historians say the road began in West Virginia and wound through the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. Parts of the road extended into Tennessee and North Carolina.

In Kentucky, the road forked with one path going to Boonesboro and the other leading to Harrodsburg and Louisville. Much of the road in Central Kentucky at one time at been a buffalo path leading to feeding grounds along the Ohio River.

Lawrence Sees Dilemma

NEW YORK (AP) — The dilemma of providing adequate opportunities for higher education will become a nightmare in the next decade, Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania said today.

"It will require every resource we have at our command to meet its challenge," Lawrence said in remarks prepared for commencement exercises at Long Island University.

"It is no longer a question of whether we can afford to provide broader higher education," he added. "The fact is that we cannot afford to fail to do so."

Magafan, Forman, Alexander Win Prizes in Albany Show

Woodstock artists share four of several major prize awards in the 27th Annual Regional Exhibition by Artists of the Upper Hudson which opened for a month's showing Tuesday at the Albany Institute of History and Art. The exhibition will remain in the galleries through the 4th of July.

Ethel Magafan's "Snowy Crag" was awarded Best in Show prize of $150. Cecile Forman of Woodstock has a double winner in "Summertime" an oil painting which took the Purchase Prize and First Prize Representation Oil for a prize of $100.

First prize in oil, worth $100, was awarded to Woodstock artist Franklin Alexander for an oil entitled "The Red Sweater."

The jury of selection included Fletcher Martin, Woodstock artist; John Hultberg, artist, of New York City and William C. Palmer, director of the School of Art, Munson-Williams-Proctor Institute of Utica. Juror of Awards was Gordon M. Smith, director of Albright-Knox Art Gallery of Buffalo.

More than 300 artists submitted paintings, drawings and sculptures to the 27th Regional. One work from each of 103 artists was chosen by the jury of selection. The geographical division drawn from a 100-mile radius around Albany is 40 from the tri-city area, and 63 from the wider area, including 9 from out of state, but neverthless within the radius.

After North's two no-trump response, South decided to settle for a mere small slam. It was well he did. There was no way to make seven and prospects for even the small slam looked grim indeed.

South quickly studied the obvious line of play which would be to draw trumps, lead a low club from dummy and put in the nine spot. This play would work against queen-ten, king-ten, or king-queen-ten of clubs in the East hand and possibly against king-queen should East split his honors on the first club lead.

South also noted a less obvious, but far better line of play.

He cashed his ace of diamonds, entered dummy with the seven of trumps and led the jack of diamonds. East played low and South discarded his nine of clubs. West won with the king and led a second spade whereupon South entered dummy with the eight of trumps and led a second diamond.

East ducked and South discarded his jack of clubs.

For the record, it should be noted that if West had opened the eight of clubs South would have had no play for the hand. But once the spade was opened South's line of play was sure to suceed provided West did not hold both diamond honors.

4-H Club News

International Exchange

The Ulster County 4-H Clubs are active this year in the International Farm Youth Exchange program. The selection in April of Miss Janet Nickerson, Saugerties, as an IFYE to Uruguay commenced the program. Janet, a four-year 4-H Club member and Junior Leader from Katsbaan, will be one of the three New York State delegates to leave for another country in September. She will spend her six months on exchange in Uruguay.

Janet will graduate from Cornell University, College of Home Economics this month, and then return home to work for the summer months.

"Learning by doing" is the philosophy of this IFYE exchange program. Rural youth visit other countries to live and work with farm families. Cooperating in this program are 60 countries of the free world. Sponsorship is through the National 4-H Club Foundation, Washington, D. C., the Cooperative Extension Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, the State-Land Grant Colleges and Universities, and the local County Extension Service Association. Combining the support of local 4-H members, 4-H Clubs, Leaders, local business and service clubs, funds are to be made available for Janet's exchange.

After North's two no-trump response, South decided to settle for a mere small slam. It was well he did. There was no way to make seven and prospects for even the small slam looked grim indeed.

South quickly studied the obvious line of play which would be to draw trumps, lead a low club from dummy and put in the nine spot. This play would work against queen-ten, king-ten, or king-queen-ten of clubs in the East hand and possibly against king-queen should East split his honors on the first club lead.

South also noted a less obvious, but far better line of play.

He cashed his ace of diamonds, entered dummy with the seven of trumps and led the jack of diamonds. East played low and South discarded his nine of clubs. West won with the king and led a second spade whereupon South entered dummy with the eight of trumps and led a second diamond.

East ducked and South discarded his jack of clubs.

For the record, it should be noted that if West had opened the eight of clubs South would have had no play for the hand. But once the spade was opened South's line of play was sure to suceed provided West did not hold both diamond honors.

4-H Club News

International Exchange

The Ulster County 4-H Clubs are active this year in the International Farm Youth Exchange program. The selection in April of Miss Janet Nickerson, Saugerties, as an IFYE to Uruguay commenced the program. Janet, a four-year 4-H Club member and Junior Leader from Katsbaan, will be one of the three New York State delegates to leave for another country in September. She will spend her six months on exchange in Uruguay.

Janet will graduate from Cornell University, College of Home Economics this month, and then return home to work for the summer months.

"Learning by doing" is the philosophy of this IFYE exchange program. Rural youth visit other countries to live and work with farm families. Cooperating in this program are 60 countries of the free world. Sponsorship is through the National 4-H Club Foundation, Washington, D. C., the Cooperative Extension Service of the United States Department of Agriculture, the State-Land Grant Colleges and Universities, and the local County Extension Service Association. Combining the support of local 4-H members, 4-H Clubs, Leaders, local business and service clubs, funds are to be made available for Janet's exchange.

A Fateful Morning So Long Ago

Crowded World Almost Blots Out D-Day 1944

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —In our crowded world there is little time for remembrance.

So it was this week the 18th anniversary of the Allied D-Day landings in Normandy caught me by surprise.

Then the feeling of surprise gave way to a feeling of guilt. How, even after 18 years, could I for a moment forget the incidents of that mighty hour?

Dish Link to Past

I went into the kitchen and from a cabinet pulled out an old and time-lovely silver dish, made by a fine craftsman centuries ago.

Things tie us to our past, and this small silver dish is my souvenir of D-Day.

On that fateful morning that now seems so long ago I was in an encampment outside Winchester in southern England. Our group of correspondents was scheduled to go ashore the following day with Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley, the American field commander.

Waiting was hard. A number of us went into town.

We entered famous old Winchester Cathedral, one of the world's most beautiful beings. Some of us who weren't used to saying prayers said prayers then.

Leaving, we passed a small antique shop. I saw this lovely silver dish in the window, and went in and bought it for my wife. But it has become a bridge across time for me.

Later we went to the nearest port and interviewed the first surviving casualties as they were ferried back from France. Their stories were true and awful.

On subsequent days through long months it was my privilege to help chronicle the unfolding splendor of our men's defeat of the German juggernaut.

Realization Difficult

It is hard now for me to realize that the great sea armada that forged our landing in France has long since been dismantled. That the vehicles on which we rode to victory are rust. That the armies of men who wielded so tremendous a purpose are forever time-scattered and can never be bugled together again, not at least as they were then in their prime.

On the morning of the 18th anniversary of D-Day, after looking again at my souvenir silver dish, I went into my living room. I pulled from a shelf a book called "Brave Men," written by a brave, dear dead friend named Ernie Pyle.

I opened it at random, and these words caught my eye:

Pyle's Own Words

"We have won this war because our men are brave, and because of many other things—because of Russia, and England, and the passage of time, and the gift of nature's materials. We did not win it because destiny created us better than all other peoples. I hope that in victory we are more grateful than we are proud. I hope we can rejoice in victory—but humbly. The dead men would not want us to gloat.

"All of us together will have to learn how to reassemble our broken world into a pattern so firm and so fair that another great war cannot soon be possible. To tell the simple truth, most of us over in France don't pretend to know the right answer. Submersion in war does not necessarily qualify a man to be the master of the peace. All we can do is fumble and try once more—try out of the memory of our anguish—and be as tolerant with each other as we can."

Injuries Fatal to Woman

COBLESKILL, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. Clara Hunt Baker, 68, of Cobleskill, was injured fatally Wednesday in the collision of two automobiles on Route 7 about one mile east of this Schoharie County village.

The festivities included presentation of pins to 50 and 25 year members of the local. (Freeman photo).

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A state program of cash grants to college students is lagging behind its advance publicity.

The State Education Department reports it has paid $6.3 million in the semester now ending, compared with original estimates of $13 million.

Less Than 70,000 Benefit

No official breakdown on the number of students participating is available, but indications are that fewer than 70,000 students are receiving grants, compared with advance predictions that 120,000 students would benefit.

That number may be reached eventually as college enrollments swell. But indications are that it will be several years before the 120,000 total is realized, and that talk of reaching that figure immediately was premature.

The college semester now ending is the first in which the program was in full operation.

Gov. Rockefeller was the sponsor and most enthusiastic backer of the idea of the grants, a plan officially known as the state's scholar-incentive program.

The governor defended the plan through weeks of controversy last year, fending off arguments that it was intended to help colleges, not students, and therefore was designed to circumvent the state constitution's ban on state aid to sectarian institutions.

The program provides for payments ranging to $300 a year to state residents who are undergraduates in colleges within the state.

Some Excluded

But, to be eligible, a student must be attending a college at which tuition is at least $200 a year. This eliminates the students in the tuition-free schools of the State University.

Holders of Regents' scholarships, which range to a maximum of $700 a year, are eligible for scholar-incentive payments also but the combined payments may not exceed the total amount of annual tuition.

The State Education Department says that reasons why many applicants for incentive payments are rejected include:

1. Failure to meet residency requirements—many students who come to New York schools from out-of-state believe their school-year address makes them eligible for grants.

2. Attendance at schools at which tuition is under $200 a year.

3. Loss of eligibility because tuition is fully covered by a Regents scholarship or federal aid, such as the GI Bill of Rights.

Controversy Continues

The controversy that surrounded the birth of the program continues. Democratic legislative leaders charged last week that tuition increases by private colleges had nullified any potential benefits of the scholar-incentive program.

The Association of Colleges and Universities of New York State, which comprises 125 private schools, reiterated that increased tuition was the result of higher operating costs and that the scholar-incentive program was not a factor.

Democrats have argued that the state should be concentrating all its energies on expanding public colleges, rather than pursuing its policy of attention to both public and private.

Po'keepsie Making Headway on Renewal

Application to the Federal Housing and Home Financing agency for approval of Poughkeepsie's amended urban renewal general neighborhood plan, possibly will be completed within a month, according to City Manager Kenneth Pearce.

Pearce said plans for the first project of the program will be completed within four or five months. The first project plans will include a central business district clearance in addition to housing.

The city manager stated that planning on both the first project and general program will be advanced without delay. He said he is depending on assistance from O. Wayne Noble, urban renewal consultant to the city, and John D. Borah, executive director of the Action Council of the Poughkeepsie area, to hasten the work.

Repairing Furnace

Emergency repairs to the ceiling of one of two furnaces at the City of Poughkeepsie incinerator, are expected to be completed before the end of this week, according to City Manager Kenneth Pearce. Meanwhile, the city will be permitted to dump burnable refuse at the Town of Poughkeepsie dump.

Studying Europe's Budget, Tax, Economic Policy for Comparison

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Kennedy administration is studying Western Europe's tax, economic and budget policies in an effort to find out what makes Europe run while America walks. Reasons for these studies and their possible bearing on future U.S. fiscal policies are discussed in this third of four articles by AP economic affairs writer Sterling F. Green.

By STERLING F. GREEN
AP Economic Affairs Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Kennedy administration is probing the growth possibilities in a European-style policy of neutral federal budgets—less concern over small and temporary deficits, less emphasis each year on surpluses.

President Kennedy has ordered his Council of Economic Advisers to study Western Europe's budget, tax and economic policies to find out, if it can, what makes Europe run while America walks.

Behind his decision is the fact that for the past five years the European allies have been expanding their output twice as fast as the United States. Some have gone beyond "full employment" and now have labor shortages.

Some reasons are evident—the swift development of the Common Market, the rush to raise living standards which still are far below this country's, different economic planning. Still other elements have caught the eye of administration economists.

Subjects For Debate

Whether or not these fiscal policies have helped build Europe's visible prosperity can be debated. But the Kennedy administration, now searching for ways to turn a merely satisfactory recovery into full employment prosperity, intends to find out if it can.

Of special interest are Europe's tax structures, for Kennedy has announced he will send Congress this summer the blueprint for a massive 1963 tax overhaul. There is speculation that it will contain a net tax cut of up to $5 billion. At what points should this tax relief be concentrated to produce maximum growth?

Republicans who blame Kennedy economic policies for the stock market's wild gyrations, already have assailed the European study as "a real Alice-in-wonderland" adventure.

Will Be GOP Target

There are ample signs that the study and its director, Chairman Walter W. Heller of the Economic Council, will be the target of GOP campaign speeches throughout the fall congressional election campaign.

The Heller study is expected to propose some changes in the budget itself — the "administrative budget" historically used for federal bookkeeping. Economists have long argued that it is a poor yardstick for measuring the actual impact of federal spending and tax-collecting on the economy.

Heller has indicated he favors a budget which would show the economic effects of the huge government held trust funds, including Social Security.

But Kennedy and Heller are focusing on matters of greater moment than tinkering with the fiscal yardsticks. They want to know for instance, whether a tax cut in 1963 might have the same beneficial effect that the last one had, in 1954. And whether it might be preferable as a stimulant — as Britain seems to believe — to a rapid increase in federal spending.

Historically, Americans have expected their government — no matter which party is in power —to budget for a surplus. All too often the surpluses have turned into deficits, but the goal of balancing the budget has been accepted as synonymous with fiscal responsibility.

One Aim of Study

One aim of the Heller study, some officials here suggest privately, is a public relations purpose—to pave the way for public acceptance of some possible departures from time-honored American fiscal tradition.

That squares with the current hints that Kennedy will ask Congress, to start considering a sizable tax cut in 1963 as part of a basic revision of the patchwork U.S. tax system. A tax cut almost certainly would mean a calculated budget deficit—to be erased later, hopefully, by the shot in the arm it would give the economy.

Life expectancy of a Norwegian woman is 72.6 years, highest in the world.

Crowded World Almost Blots Out D-Day 1944

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) —In our crowded world there is little time for remembrance.

So it was this week the 18th anniversary of the Allied D-Day landings in Normandy caught me by surprise.

Then the feeling of surprise gave way to a feeling of guilt. How, even after 18 years, could I for a moment forget the incidents of that mighty hour?

Dish Link to Past

I went into the kitchen and from a cabinet pulled out an old and time-lovely silver dish, made by a fine craftsman centuries ago.

Things tie us to our past, and this small silver dish is my souvenir of D-Day.

On that fateful morning that now seems so long ago I was in an encampment outside Winchester in southern England. Our group of correspondents was scheduled to go ashore the following day with Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley, the American field commander.

Waiting was hard. A number of us went into town.

We entered famous old Winchester Cathedral, one of the world's most beautiful beings. Some of us who weren't used to saying prayers said prayers then.

Leaving, we passed a small antique shop. I saw this lovely silver dish in the window, and went in and bought it for my wife. But it has become a bridge across time for me.

Later we went to the nearest port and interviewed the first surviving casualties as they were ferried back from France. Their stories were true and awful.

On subsequent days through long months it was my privilege to help chronicle the unfolding splendor of our men's defeat of the German juggernaut.

Realization Difficult

It is hard now for me to realize that the great sea armada that forged our landing in France has long since been dismantled. That the vehicles on which we rode to victory are rust. That the armies of men who wielded so tremendous a purpose are forever timescattered and can never be bugled together again, not at least as they were then in their prime.

On the morning of the 18th anniversary of D-Day, after looking again at my souvenir silver dish, I went into my living room. I pulled from a shelf a book called "Brave Men," written by a brave, dear dead friend named Ernie Pyle.

I opened it at random, and these words caught my eye:

Pyle's Own Words

"We have won this war because our men are brave, and because of many other things—because of Russia, and England, and the passage of time, and the gift of nature's materials. We did not win it because destiny created us better than all other peoples. I hope that in victory we are more grateful than we are proud. I hope we can rejoice in victory—but humbly. The dead men would not want us to gloat.

"All of us together will have to learn how to reassemble our broken world into a pattern so firm and so fair that another great war cannot soon be possible. To tell the simple truth, most of us over in France don't pretend to know the right answer. Submersion in war does not necessarily qualify a man to be the master of the peace. All we can do is fumble and try once more—try out of the memory of our anguish—and be as tolerant with each other as we can."

Along Capitol Corridors

By ROBERT T. GRAY

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—A state program of cash grants to college students is lagging behind its advance publicity.

The State Education Department reports it has paid $6.3 million in the semester now ending, compared with original estimates of $13 million.

Less Than 70,000 Benefit

No official breakdown on the number of students participating is available, but indications are that fewer than 70,000 students are receiving grants, compared with advance predictions that 120,000 students would benefit.

That number may be reached eventually as college enrollments swell. But indications are that it will be several years before the 120,000 total is realized, and that talk of reaching that figure immediately was premature.

The college semester now ending is the first in which the program was in full operation.

Gov. Rockefeller was the sponsor and most enthusiastic backer of the idea of the grants, a plan officially known as the state's scholar-incentive program.

The governor defended the plan through weeks of controversy last year, fending off arguments that it was intended to help colleges, not students, and therefore was designed to circumvent the state constitution's ban on state aid to sectarian institutions.

The program provides for payments ranging to $300 a year to state residents who are undergraduates in colleges within the state.

Some Excluded

But, to be eligible, a student must be attending a college at which tuition is at least $200 a year. This eliminates the students in the tuition-free schools of the State University.

Holders of Regents' scholarships, which range to a maximum of $700 a year, are eligible for scholar-incentive payments also but the combined payments may not exceed the total amount of annual tuition.

The State Education Department says that reasons why many applicants for incentive payments are rejected include:

1. Failure to meet residency requirements—many students who come to New York schools from out-of-state believe their school-year address makes them eligible for grants.

2. Attendance at schools at which tuition is under $200 a year.

3. Loss of eligibility because tuition is fully covered by a Regents scholarship or federal aid, such as the GI Bill of Rights.

Controversy Continues

The controversy that surrounded the birth of the program continues. Democratic legislative leaders charged last week that tuition increases by private colleges had nullified any potential benefits of the scholar-incentive program.

Marnie Will Be FilmedSansGrace

NICE, France (AP)— «Princess Grace of Monaco says she definitely will not play in Alfred Hitchcocks film "Marnie." She indicated she probably has retired from the movies permanently.

The former Grace Kelly announced two months ago that she would make her return to the screen this summer in the Hitchcock movie. Later the British director said he had postponed the production.

The newspaper Nice Matin, published an interview today with Princess Grace.

"On the one hand I will not have time and on the other I have been definitely influenced by the reaction provoked in Monaco at the announcement of my participation in the making of this film," she said.

"Such a 'vacation' devoted to the cinema would have been amusing for me, but under the condition that the prince (her husband, Prince Rainier) and our children be present. That is not possible, and I would not care to go without them. Making a film takes much time nowadays and 'Marnie' would take longer than I had thought."

Asked if she had definitely decided to abandon film making forever, the princess said:

"I would not like to use the word 'definite' but it is evident that the same problems would arise."

Would Take Salary Cut to Help City

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) Edward J. Connell, city manager, says he would be willing to take a $1,560 decrease in salary if it would help the city avoid a deficit spending.

Connell said Wednesday he would take the 10 per cent reduction "if it would set an example and help provide a solution" to the city's fiscal problems.

City officials have recently discussed the possibility of reducing salaries to meet an anticipated $700,000 budget deficit. The city employs about 1,600 persons. Connell's annual salary is $15,600.

Dividend Declared

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — The Marine Midland Corp., a statewide bank holding company, has declared a quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share on common stock. The dividend is payable July 2 to stockholders of record June 15, the company said Wednesday.

1,334 More Given Chest X-rays in City and County

The county-wide free Chest X-ray survey is now in its fourth day. On Wednesday, 1,334 were X-rayed, 551 of these were done at the Wicks Engine & Hose Company on Wiltwyck Avenue, 783 were done at the new Marlboro Town Building (on Rt. 9W between Marlboro and Milton).

In the Second Ward, ages of those who came for X-ray ranged from 9 to 93. The nine year old, having observed the mobil unit as she rode nearby on her bicycle, returned with a note from her mother to be X-rayed. However, the minimum age is 18. The 93 year old resident was done however, as was an 86-year old friend who came along.

The total for the three days stands at 3,091, Survey Coordinator Miss Hazel M. Steed, R.N., reported today.

Today one unit will be at Ulster Hose No. 5, Town of Ulster and the other unit at Highland.

The survey will conclude next Friday, June 15, when both units will be in Kingston.

Volunteers appointed by Alderman Clark Meyers and Supervisor Benjamin Storms, Second Ward co-chairmen, included: Richard Van Keuren, Robert Dunbar, Kenneth Woolsey who distributed flyers; Mrs. Edgar Tymeson, Mrs. Charles Reis and Mrs. John Godwin. Transportation for several of the wards groups was provided by Mrs. Clark Meyers and Mrs. Earl Van Keuren.

Other volunteers who served at this site were Mrs. William Zwick, Miss Barbara Zwick, Mrs. Paul Mezer, Mrs. John Waterman, Mrs. G. A. List Chairmen For 53-Minute March in June

A group of prominent business and civic leaders in Ulster County have been appointed to head important committees for United Cerebral Palsy's annual "53 Minute March," to be conducted from May 31 until June 30.

"One of the inspiring things is the fact that each member who was asked to serve as area chairman or as a volunteer worker indicated their immediate willingness to serve and said they would give all the necessary time to make this drive the most successful ever", Hubert Richter, general chairman said.

Those appointed are: Town of Denning, Mrs. Harold Van Aken, Grahmsville; Town of Esopus, (except Port Ewen and Ulster Park), Mrs. Martin Oberkirch, Port Ewen; Town of Gardiner, George Majestic, Gardiner; Town of Kingston, Mrs. George Leedecke, Sawkill; Town of Lloyd, Louis Canino, Highland; Town of Marbletown, Mrs. Isaac Graham, Stone Ridge; Town of Marlboro, Mrs. James Aurigemma, Marlboro; and Town of Olive, William A. Osterhoudt, Olive Bridge.

Also, Town of Plattekill, George Sisti, Jr., Plattekill; and Mrs. Albert Moleson, Modena; Town of Rochester, Mrs. Marion Sahler, Accord; Town of Shandaken, Nash Dunham, Shandaken; Town of Shawangunk, Charles Penny, Wallkill; Town of Wawarsing, Alex Nirenberg, Ellenville; West Hurley, Mrs. Robert Cook, West Hurley; Greene County, Seymour Meadow, Catskill.

"That these men and women are willing to take time out from their busy schedules to help the cerebral palsied of our community is a tangible indication of their deep concern.

"United Cerebral Palsy's annual '53 Minute March' documents the tragic fact that cerebral palsy strikes every 53 minutes, and can strike anyone, anywhere, anytime.

Its 1962 theme — 'If She Lived Next Door, Would You Help?' — underscores that those handicapped by cerebral palsy live 'next door' to all of us. One hundred and seventy-four children are now being treated at the local CP Center. They are our neighbors — yours and mine — and they need our help," Richter said.

"I am certain that an enthusiastic response awaits the volunteer when United Cerebral Palsy's '53 Minute Marchers' call this year."

Spiritual Holiness Is Stressed by Methodist Bishop

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Bishop W. Vernon Middleton of Pittsburgh, Methodist Bishop of Western Pennsylvania, says the heritage and destiny of the church lies in spiritual holiness involving evangelism, lasting marriage and service.

Bishop Middleton spoke Wednesday night at the first general session of the 153rd annual meeting of the Genesee Conference of the Methodist Church.

Evangelism, he said, does not mean "whooping it up" at a revival meeting.

"We must lift the word 'evangelism' to where it belongs. . . putting before men and women the word of Jesus Christ as it relates to every aspect of life."

No Escape Clause

He said there was a difference between Christian marriages and "other marriages. There is no escape clause in a Christian marriage."

The bishop called for social justice and compassionate concern for others. "You should put a question mark behind piety that does not overflow into kindness of heart, understanding and forgiveness," he said.

Bishop Middleton said he deplored that "apostles of the extreme right are bearing false witness against their neighbors," which he said was out of line with the Methodist heritage.

Honored For Service

"...Our Methodist forefathers never stooped to villify others."

Dr. J. Harrison Olmstead of West Webster, who retired Wednesday after 10 years as president of the conference's board of trustees, was honored for his long service in the church. The Rev. Mr. Olmstead, 84, has been a Methodist minister for 56 years in churches in Buffalo, Rochester, Niagara Falls, Batavia, Hamburg, Corning and several other communities.

The five-day session of the conference ends Sunday.

Waste Is Charged To 'Horse, Buggy' Pa.'s Constitution

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Pennsylvania's constitution has been described as a wasteful relic from "horse and buggy" days which costs the state $100 million annually in waste.

In an address Wednesday night Milton J. Shapp, chairman of the Committee for State Constitutional Revision, said the out-dated constitution is a major cause of the state's slipping economy.

Shapp cited the state's justices of the peace, sheriffs and magistrates as examples of waste and said Pennsylvania has at least 5,000 unnecessary offices which cost $25 million yearly in salaries alone.

In an interview before addressing an Allegheny County group interested in constitutional revision, Shapp said the constitution, adopted in 1874, is a "horse and buggy constitution in the space age."

He said many of the offices established by the constitution are no longer necessary.

Marnie Will Be FilmedSansGrace

NICE, France (AP)— Princess Grace of Monaco says she definitely will not play in Alfred Hitchcocks film "Marnie." She indicated she probably has retired from the movies permanently.

The former Grace Kelly announced two months ago that she would make her return to the screen this summer in the Hitchcock movie. Later the British director said he had postponed the production.

The newspaper Nice Matin, published an interview today with Princess Grace.

"On the one hand I will not have time and on the other I have been definitely influenced by the reaction provoked in Monaco at the announcement of my participation in the making of this film," she said.

"Such a 'vacation' devoted to the cinema would have been amusing for me, but under the condition that the prince (her husband, Prince Rainier) and our children be present. That is not possible, and I would not care to go without them. Making a film takes much time nowadays and 'Marnie' would take longer than I had thought."

Asked if she had definitely decided to abandon film making forever, the princess said:

"I would not like to use the word 'definite' but it is evident that the same problems would arise."

Would Take Salary Cut to Help City

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (AP) Edward J. Connell, city manager, says he would be willing to take a $1,560 decrease in salary if it would help the city avoid a deficit spending.

Connell said Wednesday he would take the 10 per cent reduction "if it would set an example and help provide a solution" to the city's fiscal problems.

City officials have recently discussed the possibility of reducing salaries to meet an anticipated $700,000 budget deficit. The city employs about 1,600 persons. Connell's annual salary is $15,600.

AHRC Hears Talk By Hazard, Three Are Given Honors

Guest speaker at the general membership meeting of the Ulster County Chapter of the Association for the Help of Retarded Children Tuesday night was Franklin Hazard, associate superintendent of schools for the Kingston Consolidated School District.

Hazard, who has continually manifested a special concern for the education of the handicapped child, told of the great strides made in the area of education foor the mentally retarded, during the last 10 years and in addition, the advances made in fields of medical research, social recognition and respect for the mentally retarded.

Notes Obligations

Speaking of the obligations of society to the mentally retarded, Hazard said, "Ours is the responsibility for reducing that 'difference' which exists for the handicapped person in his society to the greatest possible degree. When the retarded child is given the love and education to which he is entitled," Hazard said, "you are reducing the highest aspect of his 'difference.'"

Cautioning against over-exaggeration of the handicapped child's problem, Hazard said, "Our expectation of a child is the key to our underlying attitude toward him and the vehicle by means of which we communicate those attitudes. Expect nothing and the child learns to view himself as an incapable and worthless person; expect much, with realistic limits, and there is imparted a feeling of respect and confidence in the child which becomes incorporated in his own self-attitude."

Stressing the importance of the role of the Association for Retarded Children as the logical ambassador of good will for the retarded child, Hazard said, "Yours is the responsibility for sharing your knowledge and experience with others so that the handicapped child will be greeted not with fear and anxiety and involuntary withdrawal, but with open-hearted welcome owed to every child."

Receiving special honors at Tuesday's meeting were John J. Hofler, retiring president of the association, Mrs. Eve Oskay and Mrs. Ruth Pidone, teachers at the association's nursery school which is maintained at 400 Broadway in Kingston. Information concerning the many services offered by the association may be obtained at the office of the Ulster County Chapter of the Association for Retarded Children at 286 Clinton Avenue.

Infant mortality rate of 25.3 deaths under 1 year of age per 1,000 live births is a new record. Data: Public Health Service.

Now only 12 editions still need to be traced to complete the series of Lloyd's registers running back to 1764.

Ousted Freeman Aide to Testify At Estes Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—James T. Ralph, ousted Agriculture Department aide, takes the witness stand today as a House subcommittee resumes its hearings on the Billie Sol Estes case after a week's pause.

The subcommittee, headed by Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., is investigating how Estes built up a huge grain storage empire. It and other elements of the Texas operator's holdings have collapsed amid charges of fraud and theft.

William Morris, another dismissed Agriculture Department aide, will follow Ralph to the stand Friday, it was learned. Next week the subcommittee is expected to start calling executives of the Commercial Solvents Co., the firm which bankrolled Estes' over-extended dealings in liquid fertilizer in West Texas.

Ralph, 36, came to Washington with the Kennedy administration from an agricultural job in California and was appointed assistant secretary of agriculture.

When the Estes scandal broke Ralph volunteered to testify before a Texas court of inquiry about trying on expensive suits in a Dallas department store in Estes' company. He told the court Estes hadn't bought him the suits though he conceded a tailor marked them for alteration.

Ralph was retained a while, but Secretary Orville L. Freeman fired him May 15, saying Ralph had used a telephone credit card belonging to Estes to charge personal long distance phone calls.

Kim Novak May Get Monroe Movie Role

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marilyn Monroe says she's sick and her producers say they're sick and tired.

Marilyn, complaining of a virus, showed up only once in the first 15 days of shooting on "Something's Got to Give."

"Even when she does show up," said a high front-office source at 20th Century-Fox, "she isn't prepared for her role. She comes late and leaves early."

The studio source, who asked anonymity, hinted Wednesday that producers are ready to look for a replacement—possibly Kim Novak.

Marilyn herself couldn't be reached for comment.

AHRC Hears Talk By Hazard, Three Are Given Honors

Guest speaker at the general membership meeting of the Ulster County Chapter of the Association for the Help of Retarded Children Tuesday night was Franklin Hazard, associate superintendent of schools for the Kingston Consolidated School District.

Hazard, who has continually manifested a special concern for the education of the handicapped child, told of the great strides made in the area of education foor the mentally retarded, during the last 10 years and in addition, the advances made in fields of medical research, social recognition and respect for the mentally retarded.

Notes Obligations

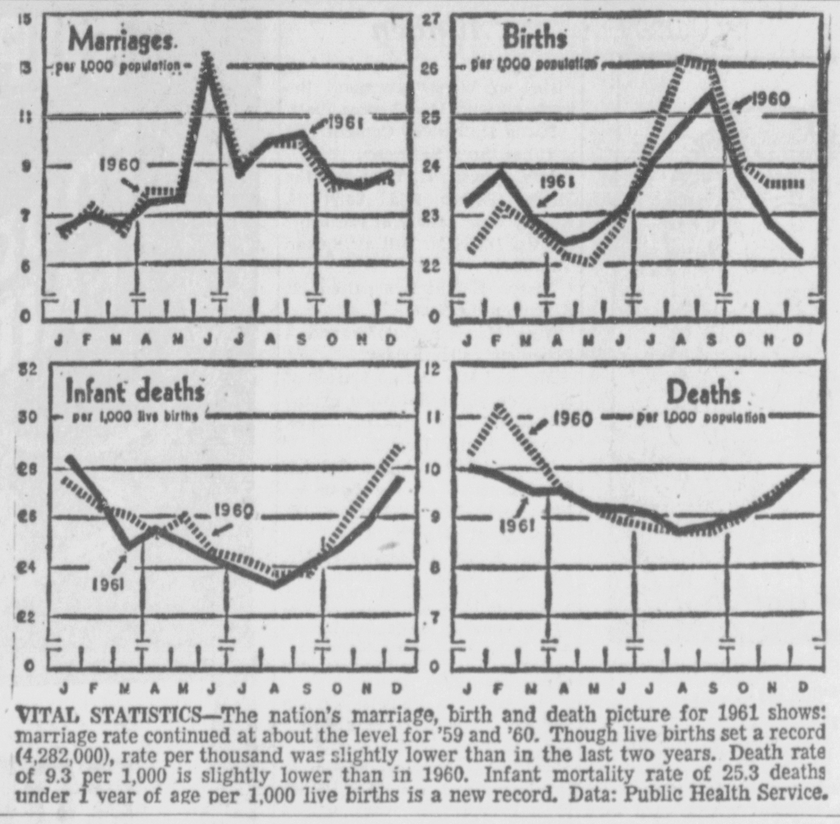
Speaking of the obligations of society to the mentally retarded, Hazard said, "Ours is the responsibility for reducing that 'difference' which exists for the handicapped person in his society to the greatest possible degree. When the retarded child is given the love and education to which he is entitled," Hazard said, "you are reducing the highest aspect of his 'difference.'"

Cautioning against over-exaggeration of the handicapped child's problem, Hazard said, "Our expectation of a child is the key to our underlying attitude toward him and the vehicle by means of which we communicate those attitudes. Expect nothing and the child learns to view himself as an incapable and worthless person; expect much, with realistic limits, and there is imparted a feeling of respect and confidence in the child which becomes incorporated in his own self-attitude."

Stressing the importance of the role of the Association for Retarded Children as the logical ambassador of good will for the retarded child, Hazard said, "Yours is the responsibility for sharing your knowledge and experience with others so that the handicapped child will be greeted not with fear and anxiety and involuntary withdrawal, but with open-hearted welcome owed to every child."

Receiving special honors at Tuesday's meeting were John J. Hofler, retiring president of the association, Mrs. Eve Oskay and Mrs. Ruth Pidone, teachers at the association's nursery school which is maintained at 400 Broadway in Kingston. Information concerning the many services offered by the association may be obtained at the office of the Ulster County Chapter of the Association for Retarded Children at 286 Clinton Avenue.

When a guy gives up his job because of illness, quite often it was the boss who got sick of him.



VITAL STATISTICS—The nation's marriage, birth and death picture for 1961 shows: marriage rate continued at about the level for '59 and '60. Though live births set a record (4,282,000), rate per thousand was slightly lower than in the last two years. Death rate of 9.3 per 1,000 is slightly lower than in 1960. Infant mortality rate of 25.3 deaths under 1 year of age per 1,000 live births is a new record. Data: Public Health Service.

LONDON (AP)—Valuable record books of the old-time sailing ships, volumes once thought lost forever, have ben recovered from forgotten library corners following a world-wide appeal by Lloyd's Register of Shipping.

So far, 17 of the missing volumes have ben found, in libraries and private collections. The recovered volumes are copied by Lloyds and returned to their owners.

Now only 12 editions still need to be traced to complete the series of Lloyd's registers running back to 1764.

$2 Billion and 6,000 Men

Yet JFK Remains Vague On Aid for Viet Nam

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — There is probably no activity in which the Kennedy administration has been so vague—or silent—as on the economic and military aid it is giving South Viet Nam.

The United States, under the Kennedy and Eisenhower administrations combined, has put about $2 billion in aid into South Viet Nam in its fight against Communist guerrillas.

President Kennedy has sent a force of perhaps 6,000 military men there, plus various kinds of military equipment, including about 80 helicopters.

Sensitive Subject: JFK

Exact information on the equipment, the men, and what they're doing is supposed to be classified technically as a military secret.

The French, before they gave up, held South Viet Nam as a colony. Now the country, with its own government under President Diem, is in effect a dictatorship. The Communist guerrillas had been making a lot of progress.

When Kennedy was a senator he emphasized repeatedly that South Viet Nam needed economic aid and reforms to give the masses of the people a tangible reason for opposing the Communists and their promises.

Last October Kennedy sent his military adviser, Gen. Maxwell Taylor, over there to see what was needed. Last December, after Taylor's return, the administration let out this information:

That military help to Viet Nam would be increased and that the Diem government had agreed to a dozen new steps—including social reforms and more representative government — to make the anti-Communist fight tougher.

Everything since then — on the subject of reforms—has been extremely vague.

Details Classified

But what kind of help the American military forces are giving South Vietnamese has also been extremely shadowy. Kennedy has said this is a sensitive subject.

Here are some bits of information picked out of AP stories which have come out of South Viet Nam in the past six months about the American military role there.

American fliers ferry South Vietnamese troops in helicopters to the battle zone. U.S. pilots are in the cockpits of Vietnamese fighting planes, instructing Diem's pilots in "the learn while you fight" principle.

Further: U.S. advisers are in the jungles, marshes and forests, working with Vietnamese commanders down to the company level. And one AP dispatch reported a U.S. Army field grade officers as saying:

"Our people are fighitng along with the Vietnamese, counterpart to counterpart.

"American servicemen are being shot at by the (Communist) Viet Cong and they are shooting back. We're supplying arms and equipment and we're fighting and, if that isn't war, I don't know what is."

Long to Retire As Principal Aide At Po'keepsie

An assistant principal of Poughkeepsie High School for the last 30 years, Harold I. Long, a native of Sharon, Conn., plans to retire at the end of the current school year. His present salary is about $10,000 a year.

Long entered the Poughkeepsie school system in 1925 as head of the English department.

Long was graduated from Brown University, Providence, R. I. in 1916, and later received two master degrees from Harvard University. He taught in Derry, N. H., before enlisting in the U. S. Coast Guard Artillery.

In 1919, Long was an instructor in literature and English at Brown University. He taught English at Danbury, Conn., high school five years before going to Poughkeepsie, where he plans to continue his residence.

Missing Girl Is Found in Vagas

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Randolph Helpern found his daughter who had run away from Syracuse University on the eve of her graduation.

Natalie had disappeared from the campus Friday after telling her family of scholastic problems, her father, a New York City contractor said.

Las Vegas police said Halpern talked to the girl for hours before she decided to return home.

"She didn't want to go back but they talked her into it," an officer said.

Halpern told the Associated Press:

"She had a problem. She was supposed to graduate. She had some incompletes. We went to the dean Thursday and discussed it with her Thursday night. The dean said he would let her graduate and then finish the exams. But Friday she was gone.

"I've been chasing all over the country looking for her. We've been getting crackpot calls from all over."

Halpern said he learned his daughter took a plane to Chicago and then went to Las Vegas by bus.

He said he determined she was in Las Vegas after she requested a transfer of funds from her bank at the university. The university bank notified Halpern's bank.

Patience Pays

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —The price of really profitable land speculation is patience and fortitude.

Back in 1906, Miss Myrtle B. Thorne bought 10 acres of land north of town for $400. She held onto it through the boom of 1912-13, and the 1923-26 boom, and the depression of the thirties and all the other economic fluctuations.

Today that 10 acres is surrounded by residential developments in the center of town. And Miss Thorne has sold it finally—for $75,000.

Remind Veterans Of Exemptions On Real Property

Veterans of the armed forces were reminded today by Charles L. Culver, NYS veteran counselor, NYS Division of Veterans' Affairs and John Tyler, director, Ulster County Veterans' Service Agency, that in order to take advantage of the State law granting tax exemption for real property purchased with eligible funds, they would do well to establish the amount of their exemption as soon as possible. Veterans who desire to take advantage of this benefit afforded them by New York State must file a "verified" application with the local assessor on or before Grievance Day in the particular locality where the property is located.

The exemption applies to all state, county, city, town and village taxes, but not to school taxes or to levies made by special districts. However, Culver and Tyler pointed out that there are various restrictions and limitations to the amount a veteran can claim as exempt and to the type of funds which are eligible for application to the exemption.

Unless the veteran has already established the amount of exemption to which he is entitled, he should contact Culver or Tyler at the Ulster County Veterans Service Agency, 32 Main Street immdiately in order to check eligibility, procedure and limitations under the law. Their office hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Weekly Food Review

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beef cuts and broiler-fryer chickens will compete for top attention in supermarkets and groceries this weekend.

One large chain said both rib roasts and the oven-ready variety have been marked down 10 cents a pound since a week ago.

Additionally, pork and ham were reported in plentiful supply at good prices in the Northeast and Southeast.

Eggs, especially the larger sizes, were described as exceptional values in some areas.

Lambs and veal generally were expected to be higher than a week ago.

In the Northeast, merchants reported, vegetable counters will be loaded with beets, cabbage, corn, miscellaneous greens, spinach, rhubarb, Maine potatoes and lettuce.

Corn and potatoes also will be featured elsewhere across the country, along with such favorites as tomatoes, cucumbers, green beans, cabbage, celery, green onions and carrots.

Strawberries still are running strong in most sections, and peaches are beginning to come in from several Southern states.

Citrus fruits, including oranges, lemons and limes particularly, will be right alongside them in many markets at reasonable prices. Bananas, too.

Freight Demolishes Stalled Dutchess Car

A 1959 car, owned by Charles O'Hern, 44, of 5 Vernon Terrace, Poughkeepsie, was demolished shortly after 2 a. m. today when struck by a New York Central railroad freight train north of Poughkeepsie.

Authorities said O'Hern was driving along a road leading from the Riverdale Boat Basin, north of the Hudson River State Hospital property, when the wheels of his car became wedged in the railroad tracks.

O'Hern tried to free the vehicle. He heard an approaching freight train and attempted to signal the engineer with a flashlight, but something went wrong. The train continued on and plowed through the stalled vehicle, completely demolishing it.

Population of Canada's Quebec province is estimated at 5,280,000.

Announce YMCA Summer Program

Kingston YMCA will sponsor a summer program, starting June 17, that will be larger than any ever before attempted according to Secretary Louis H. Schafer.

The YM building program for boys and girls will be enlarged and special instructional swimming classes will be established for men and women. The Day Camp and family plan for use of camp facilities will be two programs in one at the Shokan Camp site.

The ladies instructional swimming class, will start Wednesday, June 13 with two classes at 7 and 8 p. m. Applications will be accepted immediately, as only a limited group can be taught. The women's classes will run to August 29.

The men's instructional class, the first summer class, will start Monday, June 11. This will be an adult class for 10 weeks. Men wishing to participate should contact the YMCA soon for information. The physical fitness classes for the men in the Y Health Club are continuing every Monday and Thursday at 7:15 p. m. The summer steam bath hours will be Monday, Thursday and Saturday starting at 5 in the afternoon.

The grammar school age girl's swim classes will be on Monday and Wednesday starting June 25. There will be three one-hour classes for beginners starting at 9:15 a. m. and continuing throughout the morning. The girls that know how to swim and want advanced instructions and recreational swimming will use the pool from 1:30 to 3 p. m., also on Monday and Wednesday afternoon.

The boys program for those eight years of age and over covers four days of the week as follows: Tuesday and Friday will be fully scheduled with five swimming classes throughout each day. The swimming skills taught in these classes will follow the National YMCA Aquatic program.

Friday, the boys schedule will comprise bus and adventure trips and on rainy or cool days special events will be planned in the game rooms, gymnasium and swimming pool. One special event now being planned for boys that are good swimmers, is the Hudson River swim contest. Each boy will swim a specified distance weekly until he swims far enough to cross the river. This distance will be approximately one and one-half miles. This is an endurance swim of one quarter mile each week and the swimmer will swim against time. This will test the boys swimming skill and also give him confidence for enudrance swimming in case of an emergency.

Saturday the boys group will be divided into a baseball league with games played on the athletic field on Smith Avenue, starting at 9:15 a. m. These games are always followed by a swim in the Y pool.

The YMCA summer program is for all boys, girls, men and women in the Kingston area. The building program will be promoted by Leon I. Van Heusen, youth director. The two camp programs will be supervised by Steve Orozco, physical director. Secretary Schaefer will assist both Y secretaries. All three YMCA secretaries are qualified members of the American Red Cross and the National YMCA Aquatic Service. They are also certified swimming instructors. People requiring information about the YMCA program may phone the Y office or stop at the YMCA, Broadway and Pine Grove Avenue.

Indians Must Get License Same as Others in State

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — The state attorney general says Indians in New York State are subject to the same licensing requirements as other New Yorkers, except for hunting and fishing.

Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz took the stand in an informal opinion issued Wednesday in answer to a question raised by the State Agriculture Department.

The department had asked Lefkowitz whether Indians living on the St. Regis Reservation at Hogansburg, Franklin County, were subject to licensing regulations covering milk dealers in the state.

Lefkowitz replied:

"The fact that they are Indians who are resident on the reservation does not exempt them from the licensing requirements of the statute. There is no statutory or treaty provision which gives them an exempt status."

The exception to this, Lefkowitz said, is that Indians are not required to obtain hunting or fishing licenses.

The attorney general noted various federal laws granting Indians full citizenship and, at the same time, making them subject to civil laws. He also cited the 1955 decision of the State Tax Commission that Indians were subject to state income taxes.

Lefkowitz said that Indians were subject to the state's police power, which includes licensing.

17-Year Locust Invasion Starts In County Areas

The 17-year locust, which it is predicted will appear in vast numbers in this area during the month of June, has already made its appearance in various localities.

The Ulster County Extension Service, which has a bulletin on the life history, control and other pertinent facts on the locust, is keeping a map of the county indicating locations where they are most numerous.

Plumley Favors Leadership for Economic Good

NEW YORK (AP)—The head of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce said today this country needs government leadership that guarantees economic freedom.

H. Ladd Plumley, president of the business men's organization, said in a prepared speech that the new frontier faced by the United States is primarily economic rather than political.

"We need, not more steering or controlling of the basic functions of the economy, but leadership that guarantees the free play of economic forces," he told the New York Chamber of Commerce.

Plumley called the businessman the 'true frontiersman."

"It is the business man—whose parentage I have never questioned—whom we are dependent upon to be the economic frontiersman and not the politician," he said.

Plumley's mention of 'parentage' was an obvious reference to a derogatory remark about businessmen attributed to President Kennedy during the administration's April battle to roll back a projected increase in the price of steel. The President reportedly said later the remark did not apply to all business men.

Fire Damage Is Over $45,000 At Pawling Barn

Flames raged through a three-section Pawling barn Wednesday night for four hours and fifteen minutes. When the flames were finally brought under control, an estimated $45,000 in damages to the barn had been done and feed and equipment stored in the barn valued at $7,500 were destroyed.

The barn was owned by Charles Frumerie, Harmony Road, and was being rented to Heinchons Dairy. All the feed and equipment destroyed belonged to the dairy. The origin of the fire was still undetermined today at noon.

The fire was discovered at 9:45 p. m. Four trucks from the Pawling Fire Department under the direction of Fire Chief Edward Britton and two trucks from the Patterson Fire Department under the direction of Fire Chief Donald Smith were dispatched to the scene where approximately 100 volunteer firemen fought until 2 a. m. to bring the blaze under control.

According to the Pawling Fire Department, attempts to bring the fire under control were badly hampered by a lack of water, which had to be pumped more than a mile from the Swamp River and relayed through two trucks.

Plumley Favors Leadership for Economic Good

NEW YORK (AP)—The head of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce said today this country needs government leadership that guarantees economic freedom.

H. Ladd Plumley, president of the business men's organization, said in a prepared speech that the new frontier faced by the United States is primarily economic rather than political.

"We need, not more steering or controlling of the basic functions of the economy, but leadership that guarantees the free play of economic forces," he told the New York Chamber of Commerce.

Plumley called the businessman the 'true frontiersman."

"It is the business man—whose parentage I have never questioned—whom we are dependent upon to be the economic frontiersman and not the politician," he said.

Plumley's mention of 'parentage' was an obvious reference to a derogatory remark about businessmen attributed to President Kennedy during the administration's April battle to roll back a projected increase in the price of steel. The President reportedly said later the remark did not apply to all business men.

Fire Damage Is Over $45,000 At Pawling Barn

Flames raged through a three-section Pawling barn Wednesday night for four hours and fifteen minutes. When the flames were finally brought under control, an estimated $45,000 in damages to the barn had been done and feed and equipment stored in the barn valued at $7,500 were destroyed.

The barn was owned by Charles Frumerie, Harmony Road, and was being rented to Heinchons Dairy. All the feed and equipment destroyed belonged to the dairy. The origin of the fire was still undetermined today at noon.

The fire was discovered at 9:45 p. m. Four trucks from the Pawling Fire Department under the direction of Fire Chief Edward Britton and two trucks from the Patterson Fire Department under the direction of Fire Chief Donald Smith were dispatched to the scene where approximately 100 volunteer firemen fought until 2 a. m. to bring the blaze under control.

According to the Pawling Fire Department, attempts to bring the fire under control were badly hampered by a lack of water, which had to be pumped more than a mile from the Swamp River and relayed through two trucks.

One of the trucks and five volunteers were still at the scene of the fire this morning at 10 o'clock as a precaution against another outbreak.

"In its expanding program of fire protection, the company has long seen the need for modern fire apparatus. But only recently thanks to the district's taxpayers who voted to increase the company's fire protection contract, has Bloomington found itself in a position to acquire a new piece of apparatus," Evory said.

Direction Given to Make Power Scaffolds Safer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has directed the State Board of Standards and Appeals to determine what steps are needed to make power-driven scaffolds safer.

Four window cleaners using such a scaffold were killed in New York City last week when the device plunged 19 floors from an office building to the sidewalk.

Rockefeller's order Wednesday also directed the board to halt use of the scaffolds in window-cleaning, pending the review.

Such a ban has been in effect in New York City since the accident occurred. At the time, 13 power-operated scaffolds were in use in the city, all on new buildings.

The New York City ban is to allow city officials to issue new regulations to prevent similar accidents.

Saugerties School Bonds

June 4, 1962

Editor, The Freeman:

Split sessions are depriving our Saugerties children of up to ⅓ of their education. It's high time to talk some facts, now before the situation gets any worse. The fact are:

More than 400 children are now on split session.

There is a bond issue coming up for vote on June 21 that would barely correct this situation, nothing more.

If this bond issue does not pass, more than 1,000 children will be on split session before any other corrective action will alleviate the situation.

In light of these facts, I don't see how anyone interested in our children's education, or interested in seeing Saugerties grow and prosper, can vote anything but yes on the bond issue.

And yet, several secret societies have been formed recently to oppose the bond issue, the Taxpayers' Association and the Taxpaying Parents of Saugerties. These late arriving mystery guests in our community seem very willing to sacrifice the educations of a number of innocent children to serve their special interests.

There are several questions which I feel deserve public answers:

1. What are your true motives? You can't expect any thinking persons to believe your published motives. You say that Barclay Heights was left out, and yet it's the Barclay Heights children who are now and who will have to suffer under split sessions. You say free land was offered in Blue Mountain without mentioning that in the long run use of this land would be more expensive.

2. Isn't the membership of both of your secret societies made up of the same people or at least some of the same people? At least this would be a clever way to get twice as much free newspaper space.

3. What is your plan to minimize our over crowded school situation? Or are you indeed interested in reducing or minimizing split sessions.

4. Can you stand the full light of truth by telling us exactly who belongs to your organizations, without a lot of political double talk and half truths? 1,280 persons have already identified themselves publicly as for the bond issue by signing a petition. Why can't you? And don't expect us to believe the reasons you have presented to date.

DirectionGiven toMake Power Scaffolds Safer

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller has directed the State Board of Standards and Appeals to determine what steps are needed to make power-driven scaffolds safer.

Four window cleaners using such a scaffold were killed in New York City last week when the device plunged 19 floors from an office building to the sidewalk.

Rockefeller's order Wednesday also directed the board to halt use of the scaffolds in window-cleaning, pending the review.

Such a ban has been in effect in New York City since the accident occurred. At the time, 13 power-operated scaffolds were in use in the city, all on new buildings.

The New York City ban is to allow city officials to issue new regulations to prevent similar accidents.

Saugerties School Bonds

June 4, 1962

Editor, The Freeman:

Split sessions are depriving our Saugerties children of up to ⅓ of their education. It's high time to talk some facts, now before the situation gets any worse. The fact are:

More than 400 children are now on split session.

There is a bond issue coming up for vote on June 21 that would barely correct this situation, nothing more.

If this bond issue does not pass, more than 1,000 children will be on split session before any other corrective action will alleviate the situation.

In light of these facts, I don't see how anyone interested in our children's education, or interested in seeing Saugerties grow and prosper, can vote anything but yes on the bond issue.

And yet, several secret societies have been formed recently to oppose the bond issue, the Taxpayers' Association and the Taxpaying Parents of Saugerties. These late arriving mystery guests in our community seem very willing to sacrifice the educations of a number of innocent children to serve their special interests.

There are several questions which I feel deserve public answers:

1. What are your true motives? You can't expect any thinking persons to believe your published motives. You say that Barclay Heights was left out, and yet it's the Barclay Heights children who are now and who will have to suffer under split sessions. You say free land was offered in Blue Mountain without mentioning that in the long run use of this land would be more expensive.

2. Isn't the membership of both of your secret societies made up of the same people or at least some of the same people? At least this would be a clever way to get twice as much free newspaper space.

3. What is your plan to minimize our over crowded school situation? Or are you indeed interested in reducing or minimizing split sessions.

4. Can you stand the full light of truth by telling us exactly who belongs to your organizations, without a lot of political double talk and half truths? 1,280 persons have already identified themselves publicly as for the bond issue by signing a petition. Why can't you? And don't expect us to believe the reasons you have presented to date.

FREEMAN ADS BRING RESULTS

Work Cut Out for Winners

Bond Issue, Unity Face Brown, Nixon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Richard M. Nixon have their work cut out for them in primary election results still accumulating today.

The Democratic governor's immediate job was to decide whether he'll call a special session of the legislature to resubmit defeated state bond issues to the November ballot.

Brown said he would announce his decision within a few days.

Nixon's obvious assignment was to try and unite the Republican party behind his candidacy for governor. He expressed confidence GOP regulars and conservatives would patch up their differences.

Nixon, who defeated conservative Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles by 2 to 1 in the GOP gubernatorial primary, outlined plans for a harmony meeting with party leaders and candidates soon.

Shell, the choice of 35 per cent of the Republican voters, telegraphed his congratulations to Nixon Wednesday. But again he hedged on planting his banner in Nixon's camp.

"We can win in November only if we stand firm without compromising our principles," he said.

Nixon called the primary vote a mandate from California Republicans to move ahead with a program of "progressive conservatism." He hailed the Republican ticket as 'the strongest and best balanced in many years."

With 22,836 of 31,212 statewide precincts reporting, Nixon had 891,766, Shell 470,006.

Brown's total from 22,738 precincts climbed to 1,248,760 to maintain his 7 to 1 margin over three unknowns.

The returns signified another close race in the fall for U.S. Senate between Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel and Democrat Richard Richards of Los Angeles, a state senator.

The vote ran Republican, 22,476 precincts, Kuchel 973,956, Howard Jarvis 118,771, Loyd Wright 157,608; Democratic, 22,533 precincts, Richards 1,148,954, J. F. Coleman 126,841, Gabriel Green 129,376.

Army Denies Roadblock

WASHINGTON (APz I The Army says it didn't try to throw a roadblock in the way of William H. Mahoney's romance with a Korean girl.

Mahoney, the Army declared Wednesday, went AWOL from Ft. Lewis, Wash., about the time his application to marry Miss Song In Cha was to be forwarded to the Army command in Korea.

Mahoney, of Riverside, Calif., had complained to West Coast newsmen the Army had stymied his efforts to marry the girl while he was stationed in Korea.

Red May Angle For Counterpart To ECM Setup

MOSCOW (AP) — Leaders of seven European countries in the Soviet bloc went into their second session today to unite and coordinate their economic efforts.

sDoors were barred to outsiders —and renegade Albania—for the meeting that may bring forth a Red counterpart to the flourishing West European Common Market.

Moscow newspapers made bare mention of the secret conference but the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia already had underscored that the time has come for more centralization of the Red bloc's economies.

Izvestia said Wednesday that the objective laws of economic development now demand that the East European nations move from "foreign trade forms of cooperation to direct production cooperation, coordination of the plans of all branches of the national economy."

What steps would be taken were not spelled out, but Izvestia predicted that great unity would emerge from the conference.

Two Are Serious Following Auto Accident Today

Two Bronx teenagers are reported to be in serious condition at Benedictine Hospital after suffering injuries today at 3:45 a. m. in an automobile accident on the New York State Thruway near milepost 101, Town of Saugerties.

Thruway Police said that John Hughes and John Curtin, both 19, were traveling north in a 1957 car being operated by Hughes when the auto left the passing lane, travelled along the mall for approximately 830 feet and crashed into a bridge abutment.

Hughes suffered lacerations of the face, a fractured right kneecap, possible fracture of the left elbow, and multiple lacerations, contusion and abrasions about his entire body according to a police report.

Curtin reportedly suffered lacerations about his face, head and chin, and a possible jaw fracture.

Both were taken to the hospital by the H&S Ambulance Company, Saugerties. Upon arrival at the hospital, Kingston City Police said that Curtin, apparently in a state of shock, ran from the ambulance. He was apprehended shortly afterwards and returned to the hospital.

An arrest is pending according Thruway Police. The accident was investigated by Trooper J. F. McDonald.

Say 5,000 Took Part in Bloody Red China Revolt

HONG KONG (AP)—An anti-Communist newspaper claimed today that more than 5,000 forced laborers in a coal producing area in China's northern Kwangtung Province staged a bloody revolt May 30.

The Chinese-language Truth Dail said several score rebellious laborers were killed and more than 2,000 arrested. It said the rest took to the hills along the Kwangtung-Hunan border.

The paper said the report came from an escapee from Red China, Chen Tse-jen, who took part in the revolt.

Shavuoth Starts Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The Jewish festival of Shavuoth, commemorating the giving of the Ten Commandments to Moses on Mount Sinai begins at sundown today.

According to Jewish tradition, the tablets of the law were handed down exactly seven weeks after the exodus of the Israelites from Egypt, which is marked by the Passover. Consequently, the festival is called the feast of weeks—in Hebrew, Shavuoth.

Orthodox and conservative Jews observe the holiday for two days, while reform Jews observe it for one day.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—A hesitant stock market stalled near dead center early this afternoon as trading slowed to its quietest pace in more than two weeks.

Reflecting the pause. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 222.70 with industrials up .40, rails off .30 and utilities off .10.

Some of the uncertainty was linked with President Kennedy's news conference, scheduled for after the New York market close.

Movements of most key stocks were fractional, a few moving a point or so either way.

Nonferrous metals, steels, and electrical equipments helped the industrial section of the list nudge slightly higher but this was balanced by a softer tendency among the rails and utilities.

HOW SAFETY BELTS WORK—At the Kingston Rotary Club luncheon-meeting Wednesday, Larry Bogert presented a program on safety belts. Facts brought out in the illustrated talk included the following: More than two million seat belts were sold in 1961 and this year the total may hit eight million. Extensive studies have been made at Cornell University, the University of California and safety groups in many states. The unanimous conclusion is that seat belts in all cars could cut serious injuries by one-half. There are more than 33 million women drivers in the United States, most of them making frequent short trips near home. Most women find that wearing a properly designed seat belt has two important advantages. The belt gives them more peace of mind while driving. It also makes driving easier by eliminatng the need to brace against sliding when going around corners.

Mixup in Autos Gives Nightmare ToPharmacyGrad

Martin Balotin, husband of the former Barbara Seidel of Kingston, today ruefully reflects on his weekend adventure involving Henry Ford II and two white Chevrolets, which Westchester County law enforcement officers found hard to believe.

The chain of events started Saturday night when he took Mrs. Balotin to a restaurant in Ardsley to celebrate her birthday and Balotin's graduation from Columbia University, School of Pharmacy. Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seidel of Lucas Avenue Extension here.

The automobile magnate was also dining there.

When Ford was ready to leave he asked for the white 1961 car he had secured from a rental agency.

Inadvertently, the attendant had given Balotin's car a white 1962 sedan to Ford, who said later he thought something was different because the ash tray in the car was full.

When Balotin and his wife came out later, they discovered that their car was missing and immediately notified the police.

While a detective drove Mrs. Balotin home to Irvington-on-Hudson, Balotin stayed with the police until his car was located at Carlyle Hotel, New York City, where Ford resides.

When asked why he was driving a Chevy, Ford told police he rents competitor's cars occasionally for comparison purposes.

It was past the crack of dawn when Balotin finally got his car

After picking up his 3½-year-old son, he headed for New York to pick up his cap and gown for the graduation.

When he reached Dobbs Ferry, a police car with siren screaming forced Balotin to the side of the highway.

The officer asked for Balotin's license and informed him he was driving a stolen car. Balotin protested, saying it was all a big mistake and tried to explain how Henry Ford mistakenly borrowed his car.

Troopers during a day's tour hear some pretty wild yarns, but this one was a beaut. After much checking, Balotin, slightly ruffled, was permitted to continue to New York.

Bible Reading Upheld

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Supreme Court has upheld the right of Florida schools to have daily Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

In a strongly worded unanimous decision, the court said that a state law requiring Bible readings did not violate constitutional provisions for separation of church and state.

The decision is expected to be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The case originated in Miami, where a group composed of Jews, a Unitarian and an agnostic challenged the Dade County schools' practice of holding daily Bible readings with provision for excusing children whose parents object.

Chief Brett Says

any claim to proficiency in either field."

Has Something to Learn

"Again I must concur with the inference to be drawn from Mr. Adams' public statement on the Common Council floor in which he none too subtly questioned my competence or capability in the field of hydraulic engineering," he wrote.

"I believe you will agree Mr. Foster that Mr. Adams' statement on the council floor as well as his request from me for information concerning water service, would indicate that he is not yet fully aware of the very specialized function and duties of the various agencies of local government."

Happy on Classification

"In closing, I would be happy if you would convey to Mr. Adams my gratitude for his classifying me as a technician." He said he looked the word up in the dictionary and Webster definies a technician as "one skilled in the technical duties of his own profession —a technical expert." It was gratifying, Brett wrote, "to be so designated by the honorable member of the Common Council."

In his previous reply to Adams, the chief indicated he would set a precedent if he were to reply to the alderman on the subject without a court order. The fire department, he said, was an autonomous body in the executive branch of government.

Baptists Move For Stronger Doctrinal Reins

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Strong support was indicated at the Southern Baptist Convention today for a move to tighten the doctrinal reins on seminaries and other denominational agencies.

An effort also was being pushed to ban a Baptist-published book, 'The Message of Genesis."

Such a step, however, described as unprecedented in Baptist history, faced keen opposition from influential church leaders.

Both proposals came on a tide of charges by conservative forces that so-called "liberal" theological trends were evident in church institutions. Demands were made for stricter controls.

Caused Controversy

The issue has stirred a running controversy in the 10-million-member church body in recent times.

The denomination's 51-member executive committee sought to head off an open clash on the matter Wednesday by putting through a plan for drafting a statement on just what historic Baptists beliefs are.

Baptists have always shunned binding creeds.

However the maneuver failed to check the calls for stronger action.

The Rev. Dr. K. Owen White of Houston introduced a resolution protesting 'dissemination of theological views in any of our seminaries which would undermine faith in the historical accuracy and doctrinal integrity of the Bible."

Did Not Elaborate

The views disapproved were not specified.

However, another minister, The Rev. Ralph Powell, of Kansas City, leveled the book-banning resolution at the recently issued "The Message of Genesis" by Dr. Ralph Elliott, an Old Testament scholar.

Powell's proposal asks that the denominational publishing house, Broadman Press, recall all copies of the book, and cease circulating it.

In it, Dr. Elliott, of Midwestern Theological Seminary, Kansas City, supports the views that parts of the religious truths expressed in Genesis are couched in parable rather than literal terms.

The convention Wednesday re-elected The Rev. Dr. Herschel H. Hobbs of Oklahoma City to a second term as president.

First Try for Ted

Kennedy is making his first try for public office.

McCormack was elected to the Boston City Council three times starting in 1953, was elected attorney general to fill a vacancy in 1958, and won reelection for two-year terms twice after that.

The convention decision is not final. The winner of the endorsement automatically gets first place on the ballot for the party primary in September. The loser may contest the endorsed candidate by filing nomination papers with 2,500 signatures.

Both Kennedy and McCormack have indicated they will fight it out in the primary regardless of the convention decision.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—The body of a 13-year-old boy who fell in the Hudson River last March 11, was found Wednesday a few miles south of here, police said.

Eric Hegelson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hegelson of Poughkeepsie, fell into the river while standing out on the ice. The ice broke after a coast guard cutter passed and Eric fell into the river.

Ellenville Truck

Goldner, owner.

The operator of the truck, Richard Brophy, 25, of Elm Street, Wurtsboro, was driving north when he observed the victim start across the highway. He swerved his truck to the south, sounded his horn and ran off the roadway on the west shoulder. His truck missed a utility pole and Mrs. Dechter was struck by the right front fender and headlight.

Death was instantaneous according to Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson, who with BCI Investigator George Dana, Troopers Michael J. Mahoney, Joseph Houston and Arthur Cole of Ellenville state police station, investigated.

A verdict was withheld pending completion of the investigation. The body was taken to I. J. Morris Funeral Home, Brooklyn. Arrangements will be announced.

Accent on Growth for Retirement Portfolio

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "My husband, bless him, is young and healthy at 62 years of age, and he plans to work as long as he can. At great sacrifice, we've laid away shares of the following stocks — Long Island Lighting, Yale & Towne, Arkansas-Louisiana Gas, Standard Oil of Ohio, and American Telephone. What is your opinion of our portfolio?" E.A.

A) I'm happy to report that you've done a fine job. You have a generally strong list of holdings, with the accent on growth rather than yield—which is probably the best position for you to be in, with retirement many years away.

I have only one change to suggest. Yale & Towne has shown no progress in earnings, dividends or price over the past five years, and I'd be inclined to sell during any periods of strength. A switch to Munsingwear (NYSE), in my opinion, would serve to upgrade your entire list.

Q) "I've read that the stock market usually stages a rally sometime during the summer months. Does this happen often?" J.C.

A) Quite often, according to my records. I've found that during the past 65 years, there have been only seven summers in which the Dow Jones Industrial Average did not rally—that is, sell higher in August than its June lows. Based on this record, the adds in favor of a summer rally are over eight to one, a record which reflects more than mere coincidence.

In part, the psychological uplift of the warm summer months may have something to do with this phenomenon. An anticipated business upturn in the autumn may also contribute. You must realize though, that these are only statistical figures—and they should be appraised as such.

While interesting, the summer rally should not be overstressed by wise investors who buy good stocks to be held for a period of years.

OAS Terror . . .

Less than an hour later a Moslem en route to work was shot to death.

Southeast of Paris at Fort Du Trou D'Enfer (Hell Hole Fort) rifle volleys followed by two pistol shots—the customary coups de grace—rang out at 4:12 a.m. They brought death to Albert Dovecar, 37, a former sergeant in the Foreign Legion, and Claude Piegts, 27, a civilian.

They had been convicted of slaying a police commissioner in Algiers on March 31, 1961.

Dovecar and Piegts refused blindfolds as they faced the firing squad.

"Aim at the heart!" shouted Piegts. Just before the shots rang out, he cried: "Vive l'Algeria Francaise" (long live French Algeria).

"Vive l'Autriche (Austria)-Vive la Legion!" shouted Dovecar.

The bodies were buried in nearby Thiais Cemetery.

Dovecar was a native of Yugoslavia and lived in Austria before joining the Foreign Legion in 1957. Piegts was an insurance agent in Algiers.

The two Secret Army killers were brought to the fort under heavy guard during the night from Fresnes Prison in Paris, where Jouhaud also is held. There was no advance announcement of who was being executed, and rumors spread that Jouhaud had faced the firing squad.

Jouhad's lawyer, Yves Perrussel, spiked the rumors. Under French law the lawyer for a condemned man must be present at his execution and Perrussel was reached at his home after the rifle volleys cracked out.

"You see, I'm still here," he told a reporter. "It was not Jouhaud."

er its experience last year, when it was able to find 3,170 permanent jobs and 1,838 summer jobs for young people—but had 16,000 applicants.

Florida's State Employment Service estimates that only one out of three teen-aged job seekers found work last summer, and this summer will be about the same.

A New York state employment official, Alex Altheim, says that despite an extensive program of farm work for city boys, and various types of "made" summer work, "we couldn't possibly cope with the demand even if our entire staff was working only on summer jobs and not taking care of others at all."

Russell Hand, manager of the Omaha office of the Nebraska State Employment Service, makes a similar prediction—only about one-third of the expected 3,500 applicants will find jobs.

One big reason why it will be tough for the teen-agers to find jobs is that it is tough for many of their elders. In sections where adult unemployment is too high, employers who must pay minimum wages are more inclined to hire adults, even for seasonal work.

Mechanization on the farm has eliminated countless jobs, like the bean picking in Wisconsin that used to attract many youths, but is now done by machine.

Called 'Gravely Sinful'

The students were notified by the university on April 18 that they had been dismissed because the civil ceremony was "gravely sinful" and "a source of public scandal."

Justice Eilperin, in his ruling, said the school regulation under which the students were ousted "was so vague and indefinite that men of common intelligence must necessarily conjecture to its meaning and differ to its application."

Commencement exercises at St. John's are scheduled next Sunday.

Work Cut Out for Winners

Bond Issue, Unity Face Brown, Nixon

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Richard M. Nixon have their work cut out for them in primary election results still accumulating today.

The Democratic governor's immediate job was to decide whether he'll call a special session of the legislature to resubmit defeated state bond issues to the November ballot.

Brown said he would announce his decision within a few days.

Nixon's obvious assignment was to try and unite the Republican party behind his candidacy for governor. He expressed confidence GOP regulars and conservatives would patch up their differences.

Nixon, who defeated conservative Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell of Los Angeles by 2 to 1 in the GOP gubernatorial primary, outlined plans for a harmony meeting with party leaders and candidates soon.

Shell, the choice of 35 per cent of the Republican voters, telegraphed his congratulations to Nixon Wednesday. But again he hedged on planting his banner in Nixon's camp.

"We can win in November only if we stand firm without compromising our principles," he said.

Nixon called the primary vote a mandate from California Republicans to move ahead with a program of "progressive conservatism." He hailed the Republican ticket as 'the strongest and best balanced in many years."

With 22,836 of 31,212 statewide precincts reporting, Nixon had 891,766, Shell 470,006.

Brown's total from 22,738 precincts climbed to 1,248,760 to maintain his 7 to 1 margin over three unknowns.

The returns signified another close race in the fall for U.S. Senate between Republican Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel and Democrat Richard Richards of Los Angeles, a state senator.

The vote ran Republican, 22,476 precincts, Kuchel 973,956, Howard Jarvis 118,771, Loyd Wright 157,608; Democratic, 22,533 precincts, Richards 1,148,954, J. F. Coleman 126,841, Gabriel Green 129,376.

Army Denies Roadblock

Mahoney, the Army declared Wednesday, went AWOL from Ft. Lewis, Wash., about the time his application to marry Miss Song In Cha was to be forwarded to the Army command in Korea.

Mahoney, of Riverside, Calif., had complained to West Coast newsmen the Army had stymied his efforts to marry the girl while he was stationed in Korea.

Red May Angle For Counterpart To ECM Setup

MOSCOW (AP) — Leaders of seven European countries in the Soviet bloc went into their second session today to unite and coordinate their economic efforts.

sDoors were barred to outsiders —and renegade Albania—for the meeting that may bring forth a Red counterpart to the flourishing West European Common Market.

Moscow newspapers made bare mention of the secret conference but the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia already had underscored that the time has come for more centralization of the Red bloc's economies.

Izvestia said Wednesday that the objective laws of economic development now demand that the East European nations move from "foreign trade forms of cooperation to direct production cooperation, coordination of the plans of all branches of the national economy."

What steps would be taken were not spelled out, but Izvestia predicted that great unity would emerge from the conference.

Two Are Serious Following Auto Accident Today

Two Bronx teenagers are reported to be in serious condition at Benedictine Hospital after suffering injuries today at 3:45 a. m. in an automobile accident on the New York State Thruway near milepost 101, Town of Saugerties.

Thruway Police said that John Hughes and John Curtin, both 19, were traveling north in a 1957 car being operated by Hughes when the auto left the passing lane, travelled along the mall for approximately 830 feet and crashed into a bridge abutment.

Hughes suffered lacerations of the face, a fractured right kneecap, possible fracture of the left elbow, and multiple lacerations, contusion and abrasions about his entire body according to a police report.

Curtin reportedly suffered lacerations about his face, head and chin, and a possible jaw fracture.

Both were taken to the hospital by the H&S Ambulance Company, Saugerties. Upon arrival at the hospital, Kingston City Police said that Curtin, apparently in a state of shock, ran from the ambulance. He was apprehended shortly afterwards and returned to the hospital.

An arrest is pending according Thruway Police. The accident was investigated by Trooper J. F. McDonald.

Say 5,000 Took Part in Bloody Red China Revolt

HONG KONG (AP)—An anti-Communist newspaper claimed today that more than 5,000 forced laborers in a coal producing area in China's northern Kwangtung Province staged a bloody revolt May 30.

The Chinese-language Truth Dail said several score rebellious laborers were killed and more than 2,000 arrested. It said the rest took to the hills along the Kwangtung-Hunan border.

The paper said the report came from an escapee from Red China, Chen Tse-jen, who took part in the revolt.

Shavuoth Starts Today

NEW YORK (AP)—The Jewish festival of Shavuoth, commemorating the giving of the Ten Commandments to Moses on Mount Sinai begins at sundown today.

Orthodox and conservative Jews observe the holiday for two days, while reform Jews observe it for one day.

NEW YORK (AP)—A hesitant stock market stalled near dead center early this afternoon as trading slowed to its quietest pace in more than two weeks.

Reflecting the pause. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was unchanged at 222.70 with industrials up .40, rails off .30 and utilities off .10.

Tobaccos showed little immediate reaction to news that the UMS. surgeon general is naming a committee to study whether smoking has any impact on health. American Tobacco was up a fraction. Lorillard eased. Liggett & Myers was about unchanged.

HOW SAFETY BELTS WORK—At the Kingston Rotary Club luncheon-meeting Wednesday, Larry Bogert presented a program on safety belts. Facts brought out in the illustrated talk included the following: More than two million seat belts were sold in 1961 and this year the total may hit eight million. Extensive studies have been made at Cornell University, the University of California and safety groups in many states. The unanimous conclusion is that seat belts in all cars could cut serious injuries by one-half. There are more than 33 million women drivers in the United States, most of them making frequent short trips near home. Most women find that wearing a properly designed seat belt has two important advantages. The belt gives them more peace of mind while driving. It also makes driving easier by eliminatng the need to brace against sliding when going around corners.

Mixup in Autos Gives Nightmare ToPharmacyGrad

Martin Balotin, husband of the former Barbara Seidel of Kingston, today ruefully reflects on his weekend adventure involving Henry Ford II and two white Chevrolets, which Westchester County law enforcement officers found hard to believe.

The chain of events started Saturday night when he took Mrs. Balotin to a restaurant in Ardsley to celebrate her birthday and Balotin's graduation from Columbia University, School of Pharmacy. Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Seidel of Lucas Avenue Extension here.

The automobile magnate was also dining there.

When Ford was ready to leave he asked for the white 1961 car he had secured from a rental agency.

Inadvertently, the attendant had given Balotin's car a white 1962 sedan to Ford, who said later he thought something was different because the ash tray in the car was full.

When Balotin and his wife came out later, they discovered that their car was missing and immediately notified the police.

While a detective drove Mrs. Balotin home to Irvington-on-Hudson, Balotin stayed with the police until his car was located at Carlyle Hotel, New York City, where Ford resides.

When asked why he was driving a Chevy, Ford told police he rents competitor's cars occasionally for comparison purposes.

It was past the crack of dawn when Balotin finally got his car

After picking up his 3½-year-old son, he headed for New York to pick up his cap and gown for the graduation.

When he reached Dobbs Ferry, a police car with siren screaming forced Balotin to the side of the highway.

The officer asked for Balotin's license and informed him he was driving a stolen car. Balotin protested, saying it was all a big mistake and tried to explain how Henry Ford mistakenly borrowed his car.

Troopers during a day's tour hear some pretty wild yarns, but this one was a beaut. After much checking, Balotin, slightly ruffled, was permitted to continue to New York.

Bible Reading Upheld

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The Florida Supreme Court has upheld the right of Florida schools to have daily Bible reading and recitation of the Lord's Prayer.

In a strongly worded unanimous decision, the court said that a state law requiring Bible readings did not violate constitutional provisions for separation of church and state.

The decision is expected to be appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The case originated in Miami, where a group composed of Jews, a Unitarian and an agnostic challenged the Dade County schools' practice of holding daily Bible readings with provision for excusing children whose parents object.

Chief Brett Says

Has Something to Learn

"Again I must concur with the inference to be drawn from Mr. Adams' public statement on the Common Council floor in which he none too subtly questioned my competence or capability in the field of hydraulic engineering," he wrote.

"I believe you will agree Mr. Foster that Mr. Adams' statement on the council floor as well as his request from me for information concerning water service, would indicate that he is not yet fully aware of the very specialized function and duties of the various agencies of local government."

Happy on Classification

"In closing, I would be happy if you would convey to Mr. Adams my gratitude for his classifying me as a technician." He said he looked the word up in the dictionary and Webster definies a technician as "one skilled in the technical duties of his own profession —a technical expert." It was gratifying, Brett wrote, "to be so designated by the honorable member of the Common Council."

In his previous reply to Adams, the chief indicated he would set a precedent if he were to reply to the alderman on the subject without a court order. The fire department, he said, was an autonomous body in the executive branch of government.

River Gives Up Body of Boy, 11; Gone Since March

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP)—The body of a 13-year-old boy who fell in the Hudson River last March 11, was found Wednesday a few miles south of here, police said.

Eric Hegelson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hegelson of Poughkeepsie, fell into the river while standing out on the ice. The ice broke after a coast guard cutter passed and Eric fell into the river.

Ellenville Truck

The operator of the truck, Richard Brophy, 25, of Elm Street, Wurtsboro, was driving north when he observed the victim start across the highway. He swerved his truck to the south, sounded his horn and ran off the roadway on the west shoulder. His truck missed a utility pole and Mrs. Dechter was struck by the right front fender and headlight.

Death was instantaneous according to Coroner Arthur C. Chipp of Kerhonkson, who with BCI Investigator George Dana, Troopers Michael J. Mahoney, Joseph Houston and Arthur Cole of Ellenville state police station, investigated.

A verdict was withheld pending completion of the investigation. The body was taken to I. J. Morris Funeral Home, Brooklyn. Arrangements will be announced.

Baptists Move For Stronger Doctrinal Reins

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
Associated Press Religion Writer

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Strong support was indicated at the Southern Baptist Convention today for a move to tighten the doctrinal reins on seminaries and other denominational agencies.

An effort also was being pushed to ban a Baptist-published book, 'The Message of Genesis."

Such a step, however, described as unprecedented in Baptist history, faced keen opposition from influential church leaders.

Both proposals came on a tide of charges by conservative forces that so-called "liberal" theological trends were evident in church institutions. Demands were made for stricter controls.

Caused Controversy

The issue has stirred a running controversy in the 10-million-member church body in recent times.

The denomination's 51-member executive committee sought to head off an open clash on the matter Wednesday by putting through a plan for drafting a statement on just what historic Baptists beliefs are.

Baptists have always shunned binding creeds.

However the maneuver failed to check the calls for stronger action.

The Rev. Dr. K. Owen White of Houston introduced a resolution protesting 'dissemination of theological views in any of our seminaries which would undermine faith in the historical accuracy and doctrinal integrity of the Bible."

Did Not Elaborate

The views disapproved were not specified.

However, another minister, The Rev. Ralph Powell, of Kansas City, leveled the book-banning resolution at the recently issued "The Message of Genesis" by Dr. Ralph Elliott, an Old Testament scholar.

Powell's proposal asks that the denominational publishing house, Broadman Press, recall all copies of the book, and cease circulating it.

In it, Dr. Elliott, of Midwestern Theological Seminary, Kansas City, supports the views that parts of the religious truths expressed in Genesis are couched in parable rather than literal terms.

The convention Wednesday reelected The Rev. Dr. Herschel H. Hobbs of Oklahoma City to a second term as president.

First Try for Ted

Kennedy is making his first try for public office.

McCormack was elected to the Boston City Council three times starting in 1953, was elected attorney general to fill a vacancy in 1958, and won reelection for two-year terms twice after that.

The convention decision is not final. The winner of the endorsement automatically gets first place on the ballot for the party primary in September. The loser may contest the endorsed candidate by filing nomination papers with 2,500 signatures.

Both Kennedy and McCormack have indicated they will fight it out in the primary regardless of the convention decision.

Accent on Growth for Retirement Portfolio

ROGER E. SPEAR

Q) "My husband, bless him, is young and healthy at 62 years of age, and he plans to work as long as he can. At great sacrifice, we've laid away shares of the following stocks — Long Island Lighting, Yale & Towne, Arkansas-Louisiana Gas, Standard Oil of Ohio, and American Telephone. What is your opinion of our portfolio?" E.A.

A) I'm happy to report that you've done a fine job. You have a generally strong list of holdings, with the accent on growth rather than yield—which is probably the best position for you to be in, with retirement many years away.

I have only one change to suggest. Yale & Towne has shown no progress in earnings, dividends or price over the past five years, and I'd be inclined to sell during any periods of strength. A switch to Munsingwear (NYSE), in my opinion, would serve to upgrade your entire list.

Q) "I've read that the stock market usually stages a rally sometime during the summer months. Does this happen often?" J.C.

A) Quite often, according to my records. I've found that during the past 65 years, there have been only seven summers in which the Dow Jones Industrial Average did not rally—that is, sell higher in August than its June lows. Based on this record, the adds in favor of a summer rally are over eight to one, a record which reflects more than mere coincidence.

In part, the psychological uplift of the warm summer months may have something to do with this phenomenon. An anticipated business upturn in the autumn may also contribute. You must realize though, that these are only statistical figures—and they should be appraised as such.

While interesting, the summer rally should not be overstressed by wise investors who buy good stocks to be held for a period of years.

OAS Terror . . .

Less than an hour later a Moslem en route to work was shot to death.

Southeast of Paris at Fort Du Trou D'Enfer (Hell Hole Fort) rifle volleys followed by two pistol shots—the customary coups de grace—rang out at 4:12 a.m. They brought death to Albert Dovecar, 37, a former sergeant in the Foreign Legion, and Claude Piegts, 27, a civilian.

They had been convicted of slaying a police commissioner in Algiers on March 31, 1961.

Dovecar and Piegts refused blindfolds as they faced the firing squad.

"Vive l'Autriche (Austria)-Vive la Legion!" shouted Dovecar.

The bodies were buried in nearby Thiais Cemetery.

Dovecar was a native of Yugoslavia and lived in Austria before joining the Foreign Legion in 1957. Piegts was an insurance agent in Algiers.

The two Secret Army killers were brought to the fort under heavy guard during the night from Fresnes Prison in Paris, where Jouhaud also is held. There was no advance announcement of who was being executed, and rumors spread that Jouhaud had faced the firing squad.

Jouhad's lawyer, Yves Perrussel, spiked the rumors. Under French law the lawyer for a condemned man must be present at his execution and Perrussel was reached at his home after the rifle volleys cracked out.

"You see, I'm still here," he told a reporter. "It was not Jouhaud."

Area Association

M. Kelley, presiding justice of the Domestic Relations court of the City of New York, will speak on The Family Court of the State of New York.

At 3 p. m., Isidore Halpern, outstanding Brooklyn trial lawyer, will address the group. His topic: "The Trial of a Negligence Action." Halpern has a summer home in Woodstock.

Harris B. Steinberg, a widely known defense counsel in the Metropolitan area, who spoke here about two years ago, will address the meeting at 4 p. m. on the topic: "The Practice of Criminal Law as a Career.

The nominating committee will report at 5 p. m. and election of officers will follow.

Many Students

er its experience last year, when it was able to find 3,170 permanent jobs and 1,838 summer jobs for young people—but had 16,000 applicants.

Florida's State Employment Service estimates that only one out of three teen-aged job seekers found work last summer, and this summer will be about the same.

A New York state employment official, Alex Altheim, says that despite an extensive program of farm work for city boys, and various types of "made" summer work, "we couldn't possibly cope with the demand even if our entire staff was working only on summer jobs and not taking care of others at all."

Russell Hand, manager of the Omaha office of the Nebraska State Employment Service, makes a similar prediction—only about one-third of the expected 3,500 applicants will find jobs.

One big reason why it will be tough for the teen-agers to find jobs is that it is tough for many of their elders. In sections where adult unemployment is too high, employers who must pay minimum wages are more inclined to hire adults, even for seasonal work.

Mechanization on the farm has eliminated countless jobs, like the bean picking in Wisconsin that used to attract many youths, but is now done by machine.

St. John's Must

was held because he believed he was going to be called into military service in a few days and felt it would not allow sufficient time for the formalities required of a Catholic marriage.

Called 'Gravely Sinful'

The students were notified by the university on April 18 that they had been dismissed because the civil ceremony was "gravely sinful" and "a source of public scandal."

Justice Eilperin, in his ruling, said the school regulation under which the students were ousted "was so vague and indefinite that men of common intelligence must necessarily conjecture to its meaning and differ to its application."

Commencement exercises at St. John's are scheduled next Sunday.

Jerome Singer Is Included in Study Tour to Russia

ANN ARBOR—The Soviet Union will become a temporary "language laboratory" this summer for the 40 American college students selected by The University of Michigan's Russian Study Tour.

The program, supported in part by the Carnegie Corporation, features a four-week tour of the Soviet Union after six weeks of intensive study of the Russian language on the U-M campus and on their way to Russia by ship.

The students from throughout the U. S., including seven U-M students, pledge to speak only Russian while in Russia.

Among them will be Jerome E. Singer of Kingston, now studying at Harvard College.

Launched in the summer of 1960, the program's chief stress is on language learning, although it draws students from various fields of study with at least two years of Russian language training.

They are tested in their language proficiency before and after the trip to determine its values in improving their Russian. Previous tests indicate that participants not only accomplished a great deal through direct contact with Russians, but that they also showed a significant improvement while studying at the U-M.

On the trip, they will be accompanied by Instructor Sam N. Driver, Lecturers Howard Dwelley and Edith Ignatieff, and Mrs. Hedy Reeds, all of the U-M Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures. The group will leave New York July 24.

Jerome Singer Is Included in Study Tour to Russia

ANN ARBOR—The Soviet Union will become a temporary "language laboratory" this summer for the 40 American college students selected by The University of Michigan's Russian Study Tour.

The program, supported in part by the Carnegie Corporation, features a four-week tour of the Soviet Union after six weeks of intensive study of the Russian language on the U-M campus and on their way to Russia by ship.

The students from throughout the U. S., including seven U-M students, pledge to speak only Russian while in Russia.

Among them will be Jerome E. Singer of Kingston, now studying at Harvard College.

Launched in the summer of 1960, the program's chief stress is on language learning, although it draws students from various fields of study with at least two years of Russian language training.

They are tested in their language proficiency before and after the trip to determine its values in improving their Russian. Previous tests indicate that participants not only accomplished a great deal through direct contact with Russians, but that they also showed a significant improvement while studying at the U-M.

On the trip, they will be accompanied by Instructor Sam N. Driver, Lecturers Howard Dwelley and Edith Ignatieff, and Mrs. Hedy Reeds, all of the U-M Department of Slavic Languages and Literatures. The group will leave New York July 24.

Professional Summer Theatre Returns To Ellenville Area; Mt. Cathalia Playhouse

After an absence of four years, professional summer theater is returning to the Ellenville area. Joe Tso, managing director of the Mt. Cathalia Ski Center, Ellenville, today announced the forthcoming opening of the new 300 seat Mt. Cathalia Playhouse. "Up until a few years ago," said Mr. Tso, "the Ellenville area was the center for noted cultural attractions that drew people from all over New York State. With the passing, in 1958, of the famed Cragsmoor Playhouse and even more recently, of the Empire State Music Festival, this area was left void of cultural offerings. I've had the theater idea in mind for about two years and now that it has been finalized, I'm sure it will help fill a big need."

Modern Quarters

The theater, in the final stages of completion, is the newest and among the most modern summer theaters of its kind in the east. It has been equipped with the most up-to-date lighting and stage facilities as well as beautifully upholstered full-sized theater seats. The floor has been banked to provide excellent visibility from any location.

Set near the tip of Mt. Cathalia at an elevation of nearly 1500 ft., the theater affords a breathtaking 75 mile panorama of beautiful Rondout Valley and the surrounding Catskill Mountains. The view has been acclaimed one of the loveliest in all of New York State.

Schedule Announced

Beginning July 3, the theater will present a cast of top-notch Broadway talent in a nine week season of outstanding, recent Broadway hits. Performances will be given nightly, except Mondays, at 8:30 p. m. with matinees on Wednesday and Saturdays at 2:30 p. m.

"Under the Yum Yum Tree" has been scheduled for the opening week of July 3 to be followed July 10 by the dramatic "This Too Shall Pass," written by Don Appell, author of the current Broadway hit "Milk and Honey." "Marriage Go Round" will run the week of July 17, to be followed the week of July 24 by the gripping "Andersonville Trial" and the week of July 31 by "A Majority of One." A schedule of productions for the last three weeks of the season will be announced shortly.

For the convenience of the public, the management of the Mt. Cathalia Playhouse is in the process of setting up ticket outlets throughout Ulster, Sullivan and Orange counties. Tickets can be reserved by writing directly to the Mt. Cathalia Playhouse, Ellenville.

Both reserved and unreserved seating will be available. Special group rates will be extended to theater parties and special bus transportation facilities can be arranged by the management for organizations and other large groups.

A cocktail lounge and two restaurants will also be operating at Cathalia this summer. In conjunction with the new theater, both restaurants will offer combination luncheon-theater packages.

An an extra highlight attraction for visitors, Mr. Tso plans to keep the famous 2,000-foot chairlift ride operating throughout the season, treating riders to an even more spectacular panoramic view than the one to be seen at the 1500-foot height.

"We feel that this is the beginning of a new chapter in the long history of this wonderful vacation resort area," said Mr. Tso. "We hope to make Mt. Cathalia, with its ski center, summer theater, restaurants, chairlift ride and breathtaking panorama, a "must" for those seeking entertainment in this area, at any time of year.

Patricia Danielle McMonagle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. McMonagle of Tillson, wed George John Dawkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dawkins, 98 Foxhall Avenue, this city, on Saturday, June 2 at 11 a. m. The bride's uncle, the Rev. Howard McMonagle, officiated. The ceremony took place in St. Peter's Church, Rosendale. The Papal Blessing was read at the conclusion of the nuptial Mass.

Traditional wedding music was provided by Mr. and Mrs. James Sweeney.

Mr. McMonagle gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a white gown of Florentine lace and nylon organza designed with a scalloped Sabrina neckline, fitted bodice and long lace tapered sleeves. Her cathedral length skirt was bouffant and consisted of two tiers of Florentine lace caught up with rosettes. A queen's crown of seed pearls and aurora held a full fingertip French illusion veil. She carried a white orchid on a prayer book.

Miss Dorothy McMonagle was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a ballerina length blue chiffon gown styled with a draped bodice, cap sleeves and satin cummerbund. She carried an arm basket of daisies, snapdragons and carnations. Dressed in gowns styled identically to that worn by the honor attendant except in colors of yellow, pink and orchid were the attendants, Mrs. Joseph Tremper of 52 Clinton Avenue, this city; Mrs. Jerome D'Anneo of Hurley, sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Nona Debrosky of Tillson. They also carried arm baskets of daisies, snapdragons and carnations.

Marvin Engle of 120 Foxhall Avenue, this city, was best man. Ushers were Theodore Benson of Kingston, cousin of the bridegroom; Jerome D'Anneo of Hurley, the bridegroom's brother-in-law; and Frank Reid Jr., of Kingston.

Professional Summer Theatre Returns To Ellenville Area; Mt. Cathalia Playhouse

After an absence of four years, professional summer theater is returning to the Ellenville area. Joe Tso, managing director of the Mt. Cathalia Ski Center, Ellenville, today announced the forthcoming opening of the new 300 seat Mt. Cathalia Playhouse. "Up until a few years ago," said Mr. Tso, "the Ellenville area was the center for noted cultural attractions that drew people from all over New York State. With the passing, in 1958, of the famed Cragsmoor Playhouse and even more recently, of the Empire State Music Festival, this area was left void of cultural offerings. I've had the theater idea in mind for about two years and now that it has been finalized, I'm sure it will help fill a big need."

Modern Quarters

The theater, in the final stages of completion, is the newest and among the most modern summer theaters of its kind in the east. It has been equipped with the most up-to-date lighting and stage facilities as well as beautifully upholstered full-sized theater seats. The floor has been banked to provide excellent visibility from any location.

Set near the tip of Mt. Cathalia at an elevation of nearly 1500 ft., the theater affords a breathtaking 75 mile panorama of beautiful Rondout Valley and the surrounding Catskill Mountains. The view has been acclaimed one of the loveliest in all of New York State.

Schedule Announced

Beginning July 3, the theater will present a cast of top-notch Broadway talent in a nine week season of outstanding, recent Broadway hits. Performances will be given nightly, except Mondays, at 8:30 p. m. with matinees on Wednesday and Saturdays at 2:30 p. m.

"Under the Yum Yum Tree" has been scheduled for the opening week of July 3 to be followed July 10 by the dramatic "This Too Shall Pass," written by Don Appell, author of the current Broadway hit "Milk and Honey." "Marriage Go Round" will run the week of July 17, to be followed the week of July 24 by the gripping "Andersonville Trial" and the week of July 31 by "A Majority of One." A schedule of productions for the last three weeks of the season will be announced shortly.

For the convenience of the public, the management of the Mt. Cathalia Playhouse is in the process of setting up ticket outlets throughout Ulster, Sullivan and Orange counties. Tickets can be reserved by writing directly to the Mt. Cathalia Playhouse, Ellenville.

Both reserved and unreserved seating will be available. Special group rates will be extended to theater parties and special bus transportation facilities can be arranged by the management for organizations and other large groups.

A cocktail lounge and two restaurants will also be operating at Cathalia this summer. In conjunction with the new theater, both restaurants will offer combination luncheon-theater packages.

An an extra highlight attraction for visitors, Mr. Tso plans to keep the famous 2,000-foot chairlift ride operating throughout the season, treating riders to an even more spectacular panoramic view than the one to be seen at the 1500-foot height.

"We feel that this is the beginning of a new chapter in the long history of this wonderful vacation resort area," said Mr. Tso. "We hope to make Mt. Cathalia, with its ski center, summer theater, restaurants, chairlift ride and breathtaking panorama, a "must" for those seeking entertainment in this area, at any time of year.

Herdegen Memorial Golf Classic Opens June 16 at Wiltwyck

Goes to Massachusetts

Byrne Yields Coaching Post at Onteora School

AL BYRNE

Al Byrne, varsity basketball coach at Onteora and a member of the physical education staff in the school district, has resigned, effective June 30, according to Paul T. Runge, assistant to the principal. Byrne will become coordinator of athletics at Nipmuc Regional Junior-Senior High School in Mendon-Upton, Mass., effective with the opening of school in September.

To replace Byrne, who has been at Onteora for two years, the district has hired Wesley Kissel, former head basketball coach at Otisville Central. He is working with the Curtis Publishing Co. at the present time but he will start his new position in September. Runge said that Kissel will be assistant football coach and may also have another coaching job with one of the varsity squads.

Byrne came to Onteora after his graduation from Springfield College, where he was an outstanding basketball player. He has been varsity cage coach at the Boiceville school and also played with Ray's Tackle Shop and other local teams. He will be in charge of the athletic program at his new position and will also be close to Springfield, his home town. The school is just outside Worcester, Mass.

Runge said that the school has just hired Byrne for another year when the opportunity to coach closer to home came. "We will miss Al. He's been well liked by everyone," Runge stated.

Hughes Defends Title Against Top Area Rivals

The 12th annual Herdegen Memorial golf tournament, a 72-hole medal test to determine the 1962 Ulster county amateur champion, opens Saturday, June 16, at Wiltwyck Country Club.

Semi-final round will be played at Woodstock Country Club on Saturday, June 23, with the finals at the Twaalfskill Club in Kingston on June 24.

Recognized as the most exacting amateur tournament in the area, the Herdegen Memorial is expected to attract all of county's leading amateurs, including the four veterans who have shared the past 11 titles.

George Hughes of Twaalfskill, the tournment's only four-time winner, is the defending champion having won in 1961 with a 54-hole score of 211. Hughes won the Herdegen premiere back in 1951 for 54 holes. He grabbed his second title with 286 in 1954 and the third with an identical score in 1956.

Clarence (Dubby) Raichle of Twaalfskill, only Herdegen winner outside the Big Three of Hughes, Bill Van Aken and Leon Randall, won the second tournament in 1952.

Van Aken, who holds the all-time tournament record of 275 set in 1958, was also a winner in 1953 with 287 and in 1955 with 213 in 54 holes.

Made Up Time

Although Randall did not capture his first Herdegen until 1957 with a then record 277, he has stormed home first in three of the past five years, with Hughes and Van Aken taking the two other crowns.

Alvin Boice, the Twaalfskill veteran who has won a flock of club and city titles, occupies a Sam Snead-type role in the Herdegen. He lost out by a stroke to Hughes last year, the third time he finished in the runner-up spot.

All rounds are scheduled to start at 9 a. m. except at Shawangunk where the shooting starts at 10 a. m.

All entries must have a bona fide Ulster County residency, but players do not have to belong to a golf club to be eligible for the tournament.

The Herdegen champion will receive the Herdegen Memorial trophy and a jacket symbolic of the title. The jacket award was instituted three years ago with Randall as the first winner.

Merchandise prizes will be awarded through the first 12 places and ties.

In case of a tie at the end of 72 holes, the championship will be determined by a sudden death playoff.

The Twaalfskill Club, Inc., will be host to the finalists and tournament officials at a luncheon on June 24.

Entry blanks have been mailed to all former participants and other recognized players. Entry blanks are also available at area golf clubs. Deadline for filing entries is Wednesday, June 13.

Terry 4-Hits Cleveland, 5-0

Yankee Hurler Gains 7th Win In Key Contest

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

American League pitchers, hit unmercifully in that record home run barrage of last year, seem to be coming back into their own.

Pitching certainly was the key Wednesday with star performers ranging from Ralph Terry of New York's front-running Yankees to Claude Osteen of Washington's last-place Senators.

Terry turned in a four-hitter as the Yankees broke their first-place deadlock with Cleveland beating the Indians 5-0. Jim Kaat pitched a five hit shutout for Minnesota in a 7-0 victory that pushed the Twins into third.

Jim Bunning went 11 strong innings in Detroit's 3-2 decision over Boston for a split of their day-night doubleheader. The Red Sox shaded the Tigers in the afternoon game 2-1 on Bill Monbouquette's pitching and Frank Malzone's ninth inning homer.

Ken McBride again proved a jinx against his former club, outdueling Ray Herbert as the Los Angeles Angels edged the Chicago White Sox 1-0. And Osteen and the Senators beat Baltimore 2-1.

Terry, now 7-4, struck out 10 and put down 16 Indians in order during one stretch. The lean right-hander issued just one walk.

The Yankees were checked on three hits by Jim (Mudcat) Grant until the sixth, when back-to-back homers by Roger Maris and John Blanchard gave them control.

In Detroit's overtime squeaker against Boston the Tigers pushed across the winner in the eleventh against reliever Dick Radatz on Norm McAuliffe's single and Dick Brown's bunt hit.

The Angels cashed in against Herbert with one out in the last of the ninth when pinch hitter Tom Burgess hit a bases-loaded sacrifice fly. Herbert yielded only four hits in the tough loss.

Osteen allowed only three hits until the Orioles rallied for their lone run with two out in the ninth.

Joe Hicks provided the Senators big punch. He tripled off Robin Roberts in the seventh, scored the game's first run on Bob Johnson's single, and hit a clinching homer in the top of the ninth against Dick Hall.

A six-year-old gelded son of Demon Hanover, Jet Demon won his first start at Monticello last Saturday in 2:07.4 against the same class horses. A powerful closer, Jet Demon came from far back to capture his last start impressively.

Stiff opposition is expected from Richard Custis' Chockoyotte Gene and Ned Galentine's Cimbee. Chockoyotte Gene will be making its initial appearance at the Mighty M, but is no stranger to local fans. Meanwhile, Cimbee will be starting for the second time. Galentine steered the four-year-old sidewheeler to a third place finish in his first trip here from the seven slot. Cimbee has drawn the No. 4 lane and will be starting inside Jet Demon.

Jig Time is expected to cause trouble, although starting from the extreme outside. Arthur Koch will drive the Good Time eight-year-old which wound up a strong second to Rexbee in the mud opening night.

Golden Gallon and newcomers Clark Express, Knight Parade and Guess Again round out the field. The last three will be debuting at Monticello after starts out-of-town.

The associate feature will be a $1,000 pace for Class C-1 amblers in the fifth race. Koch's Speedy Boy looms as the horse to beat on the strength of fine stretch victory on inaugural night. Speedy Boy is a four-year-old Adios Boy horse with a season's mark of 2:06.2. He's drawn post six.

Kaka Adios, second to Speedy Boy, and a veteran 11-year-old campaigner McLean Byrd stack up as early threats. Defending driving champion Harold Dancer Jr. will wheel away from the three spot with Kaka Adios while owner Russ Vam Blaricum will open from the rail with McLean Byrd.

Herdegen Memorial Golf Classic Opens June 16 at Wiltwyck

Goes to Massachusetts

Byrne Yields Coaching Post at Onteora School

AL BYRNE

Al Byrne, varsity basketball coach at Onteora and a member of the physical education staff in the school district, has resigned, effective June 30, according to Paul T. Runge, assistant to the principal. Byrne will become coordinator of athletics at Nipmuc Regional Junior-Senior High School in Mendon-Upton, Mass., effective with the opening of school in September.

To replace Byrne, who has been at Onteora for two years, the district has hired Wesley Kissel, former head basketball coach at Otisville Central. He is working with the Curtis Publishing Co. at the present time but he will start his new position in September. Runge said that Kissel will be assistant football coach and may also have another coaching job with one of the varsity squads.

Byrne came to Onteora after his graduation from Springfield College, where he was an outstanding basketball player. He has been varsity cage coach at the Boiceville school and also played with Ray's Tackle Shop and other local teams. He will be in charge of the athletic program at his new position and will also be close to Springfield, his home town. The school is just outside Worcester, Mass.

Runge said that the school has just hired Byrne for another year when the opportunity to coach closer to home came. "We will miss Al. He's been well liked by everyone," Runge stated.

Hughes Defends Title Against Top Area Rivals

The 12th annual Herdegen Memorial golf tournament, a 72-hole medal test to determine the 1962 Ulster county amateur champion, opens Saturday, June 16, at Wiltwyck Country Club.

The second round is scheduled June 17 at Shawangunk after which the field will be reduced to 24 low scorers and ties.

Semi-final round will be played at Woodstock Country Club on Saturday, June 23, with the finals at the Twaalfskill Club in Kingston on June 24.

Recognized as the most exacting amateur tournament in the area, the Herdegen Memorial is expected to attract all of county's leading amateurs, including the four veterans who have shared the past 11 titles.

George Hughes of Twaalfskill, the tournment's only four-time winner, is the defending champion having won in 1961 with a 54-hole score of 211. Hughes won the Herdegen premiere back in 1951 for 54 holes. He grabbed his second title with 286 in 1954 and the third with an identical score in 1956.

Clarence (Dubby) Raichle of Twaalfskill, only Herdegen winner outside the Big Three of Hughes, Bill Van Aken and Leon Randall, won the second tournament in 1952.

Van Aken, who holds the all-time tournament record of 275 set in 1958, was also a winner in 1953 with 287 and in 1955 with 213 in 54 holes.

Made Up Time

Although Randall did not capture his first Herdegen until 1957 with a then record 277, he has stormed home first in three of the past five years, with Hughes and Van Aken taking the two other crowns.

Alvin Boice, the Twaalfskill veteran who has won a flock of club and city titles, occupies a Sam Snead-type role in the Herdegen. He lost out by a stroke to Hughes last year, the third time he finished in the runner-up spot.

All rounds are scheduled to start at 9 a. m. except at Shawangunk where the shooting starts at 10 a. m.

All entries must have a bona fide Ulster County residency, but players do not have to belong to a golf club to be eligible for the tournament.

The Herdegen champion will receive the Herdegen Memorial trophy and a jacket symbolic of the title. The jacket award was instituted three years ago with Randall as the first winner.

Merchandise prizes will be awarded through the first 12 places and ties.

In case of a tie at the end of 72 holes, the championship will be determined by a sudden death playoff.

The Twaalfskill Club, Inc., will be host to the finalists and tournament officials at a luncheon on June 24.

Entry blanks have been mailed to all former participants and other recognized players. Entry blanks are also available at area golf clubs. Deadline for filing entries is Wednesday, June 13.

Terry 4-Hits Cleveland, 5-0

Yankee Hurler Gains 7th Win In Key Contest

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

American League pitchers, hit unmercifully in that record home run barrage of last year, seem to be coming back into their own.

Pitching certainly was the key Wednesday with star performers ranging from Ralph Terry of New York's front-running Yankees to Claude Osteen of Washington's last-place Senators.

Terry turned in a four-hitter as the Yankees broke their first-place deadlock with Cleveland beating the Indians 5-0. Jim Kaat pitched a five hit shutout for Minnesota in a 7-0 victory that pushed the Twins into third.

Jim Bunning went 11 strong innings in Detroit's 3-2 decision over Boston for a split of their day-night doubleheader. The Red Sox shaded the Tigers in the afternoon game 2-1 on Bill Monbouquette's pitching and Frank Malzone's ninth inning homer.

Ken McBride again proved a jinx against his former club, outdueling Ray Herbert as the Los Angeles Angels edged the Chicago White Sox 1-0. And Osteen and the Senators beat Baltimore 2-1.

Terry, now 7-4, struck out 10 and put down 16 Indians in order during one stretch. The lean right-hander issued just one walk.

The Yankees were checked on three hits by Jim (Mudcat) Grant until the sixth, when back-to-back homers by Roger Maris and John Blanchard gave them control.

The Twins took command early, rapping A's ace Jerry Walker for eight hits and six runs before chasing him in the fourth.

In Detroit's overtime squeaker against Boston the Tigers pushed across the winner in the eleventh against reliever Dick Radatz on Norm McAuliffe's single and Dick Brown's bunt hit.

The Angels cashed in against Herbert with one out in the last of the ninth when pinch hitter Tom Burgess hit a bases-loaded sacrifice fly. Herbert yielded only four hits in the tough loss.

Osteen allowed only three hits until the Orioles rallied for their lone run with two out in the ninth.

Joe Hicks provided the Senators big punch. He tripled off Robin Roberts in the seventh, scored the game's first run on Bob Johnson's single, and hit a clinching homer in the top of the ninth against Dick Hall.

Dodgers Tearing Toward Top

Check Pirates In Twinbill as Cubs Top Giants

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Operation overhaul has moved into its second stage for the Los Angeles Dodgers, tearing toward the top again in that two-team struggle for supremacy in the National Leaue.

Reeling off their second victory streak in an attempt to catch front-running San Francisco, the Dodgers upped their latest string to four games by winning a pair from Pittsburgh Wednesday night —8-3 in the completion of Tuesday's suspended game and 5-3 in the regulation contest.

The Giants, who have held first place since April 30, lost to the Chicago Cubs 4-3.

St. Louis dropped third-place Cincinnati 7½ games back by edging the Reds 4-3, Milwaukee beat Houston 6-3 and Philadelphia extended the Mets' losing skid to 17, sweeping a twi-nighter 2-0 and 2-1.

The Dodgers snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning of the regulation game on Ron Fairly's two-run homer off Joe Gibbon (0-1), then put it away with two in the eighth. The Pirates chased rookie Joe Moeller (4-4) in the ninth with two walks and a single. Ed Roebuck yielded a run on Dick Stuart's single before Ron Perranoski came on to get the final out.

In the one-innning windup of the suspended game, the Dodgers tacked on a run while Sany Koufax set the Pirates down in order to preserve the victory for Don Drysdale (9-3). Bob Friend (5-7) was the loser.

Giants reliever Don Larsen (3-1) walked four consecutive Cub batters in the ninth, giving the last free pass to Don Landrum to break a 3-3 tie as Lou Brock crossed with the winner. Dick Ellsworth (4-7) went the distance for the victory.

Red Schoendienst's pinch-hit single drove in the run that snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh and the Cards added the clincher against the Reds in the eighth on a single by Stan Musial and three walks by Joey Jay (8-5). Larry Jackson (5-6) went the route for the victory.

Making his first start since April 29 for Milwaukee, Lew Burdette allowed a dozen hits. An eight-hit attack was enough to beat the Colts. Jim Golden (3-3) was the loser.

Tight pitching won both games for the Phils with Cal McLish (5-1) grabbing the opener with a seven-hitter and Art Mahaffey (6-7) nailing the nightcap with a four-hitter. In the first game Roger Craig (2-8) took the loss. Wes Covington tagged Al Jackson (2-7) with the second game defeat when he lashed a pinch-hit single to score Bob Oldis in the ninth and break a 1-1 deadlock.

Maybe the Mets Could Use Him

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It'll do the New York Mets, who've now ballooned their losing streak to 17, no good to note what Orlando Pena did in the International League Wednesday night.

The slim, Cuban right-hander they rejected in spring training pitched a five-hit, 3-0 shutout over Buffalo for the Toronto Maple Leafs and while he was at it fanned 14 batters, matching the Toronto club record.

The victory, in which the former Cincinnati reliever walked only one, boosted Pena's record to 4-5 and enabled Toronto to move within two games of the second place Bisons in the IL race.

At the same time, league-leading Jacksonville opened a 6½-game edge over Buffalo, beating Columbus, 3-2; Syracuse whipped Rochester, 10-7, and Atlanta, with eight first-inning runs, crushed Richmond, 12-6.

Pietramala Has 619 in Classic

Pat Pietramala sandwiched a 188 with 225-206 for 619 high series in the Sangi Summer Classic.

Tony Grimaldi fired 200, 203, 205 for 608 and Mickey Kahrs hit 213-213-609.

Frank Passer decked 236, Bob Yonta, 210, Gene Van Steenburg 200, Mike Toffel 210, Doug Struber 202.

Team results:
Jerry's Jewels 2, Leubtekin-Regan-Kennedy 1; Central Lunch 0, S and E Inc. 3; Sangi's Bowlero 2, Sal's Barber Shop 1.

John Wood Has CSL No-Hitter

John Wood of Subway pitched an 8-inning no-hitter but needed a home run blast by Bob Lasher in the eighth to edge White Eagles, 2-1, in the City Softball League.

Hoffman was the losing pitcher on a 5-hitter in one of the league's best pitched games to date.

Don Miller of Bloomington Inn checked International Electric, 7-2, on two hits. J. Tiger homered for the losers.

Yallum's Kings parlayed six hits and nine walks into a 10-5 victory over the 35 Club, as Mike Amato won the decision over Billy Costello.

Mike Amato, Ron Ferraro and Joe Tremper slugged home runs.

Dodgers Tearing Toward Top

Check Pirates In Twinbill as Cubs Top Giants

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Operation overhaul has moved into its second stage for the Los Angeles Dodgers, tearing toward the top again in that two-team struggle for supremacy in the National Leaue.

Reeling off their second victory streak in an attempt to catch front-running San Francisco, the Dodgers upped their latest string to four games by winning a pair from Pittsburgh Wednesday night —8-3 in the completion of Tuesday's suspended game and 5-3 in the regulation contest.

The Giants, who have held first place since April 30, lost to the Chicago Cubs 4-3.

St. Louis dropped third-place Cincinnati 7½ games back by edging the Reds 4-3, Milwaukee beat Houston 6-3 and Philadelphia extended the Mets' losing skid to 17, sweeping a twi-nighter 2-0 and 2-1.

The Dodgers snapped a 1-1 tie in the seventh inning of the regulation game on Ron Fairly's two-run homer off Joe Gibbon (0-1), then put it away with two in the eighth. The Pirates chased rookie Joe Moeller (4-4) in the ninth with two walks and a single. Ed Roebuck yielded a run on Dick Stuart's single before Ron Perranoski came on to get the final out.

In the one-innning windup of the suspended game, the Dodgers tacked on a run while Sany Koufax set the Pirates down in order to preserve the victory for Don Drysdale (9-3). Bob Friend (5-7) was the loser.

Giants reliever Don Larsen (3-1) walked four consecutive Cub batters in the ninth, giving the last free pass to Don Landrum to break a 3-3 tie as Lou Brock crossed with the winner. Dick Ellsworth (4-7) went the distance for the victory.

Red Schoendienst's pinch-hit single drove in the run that snapped a 2-2 tie in the seventh and the Cards added the clincher against the Reds in the eighth on a single by Stan Musial and three walks by Joey Jay (8-5). Larry Jackson (5-6) went the route for the victory.

Making his first start since April 29 for Milwaukee, Lew Burdette allowed a dozen hits. An eight-hit attack was enough to beat the Colts. Jim Golden (3-3) was the loser.

Tight pitching won both games for the Phils with Cal McLish (5-1) grabbing the opener with a seven-hitter and Art Mahaffey (6-7) nailing the nightcap with a four-hitter. In the first game Roger Craig (2-8) took the loss. Wes Covington tagged Al Jackson (2-7) with the second game defeat when he lashed a pinch-hit single to score Bob Oldis in the ninth and break a 1-1 deadlock.

MONTREAL (AP) — Bert Olmstead, a tough competitor who has played for five Stanley Cup champions, is first in line today to succeed former teammate Doug Harvey as coach of the New York Rangers.

Olmstead, 35-year-old left winger, was obtained by the Rangers from Toronto Wednesday in the National Hockey League's annual draft. Nine players switched teams in the draft and three in a trade. The Rangers also acquired Bronco Horvath, a center, from the Chicago Black Hawks.

Maybe the Mets Could Use Him

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It'll do the New York Mets, who've now ballooned their losing streak to 17, no good to note what Orlando Pena did in the International League Wednesday night.

The slim, Cuban right-hander they rejected in spring training pitched a five-hit, 3-0 shutout over Buffalo for the Toronto Maple Leafs and while he was at it fanned 14 batters, matching the Toronto club record.

The victory, in which the former Cincinnati reliever walked only one, boosted Pena's record to 4-5 and enabled Toronto to move within two games of the second place Bisons in the IL race.

At the same time, league-leading Jacksonville opened a 6½-game edge over Buffalo, beating Columbus, 3-2; Syracuse whipped Rochester, 10-7, and Atlanta, with eight first-inning runs, crushed Richmond, 12-6.

Pietramala Has 619 in Classic

Pat Pietramala sandwiched a 188 with 225-206 for 619 high series in the Sangi Summer Classic.

Tony Grimaldi fired 200, 203, 205 for 608 and Mickey Kahrs hit 213-213-609.

Frank Passer decked 236, Bob Yonta, 210, Gene Van Steenburg 200, Mike Toffel 210, Doug Struber 202.

Team results:

Jerry's Jewels 2, Leubtekin-Regan-Kennedy 1; Central Lunch 0, S and E Inc. 3; Sangi's Bowlero 2, Sal's Barber Shop 1.

John Wood Has CSL No-Hitter

John Wood of Subway pitched an 8-inning no-hitter but needed a home run blast by Bob Lasher in the eighth to edge White Eagles, 2-1, in the City Softball League.

Hoffman was the losing pitcher on a 5-hitter in one of the league's best pitched games to date.

Don Miller of Bloomington Inn checked International Electric, 7-2, on two hits. J. Tiger homered for the losers.

Yallum's Kings parlayed six hits and nine walks into a 10-5 victory over the 35 Club, as Mike Amato won the decision over Billy Costello.

Mike Amato, Ron Ferraro and Joe Tremper slugged home runs.

Terry Pointing For Twenty Wins

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Terry, a lean right-hander with seeing-eye control, is shaping up as the top winner of the New York Yankee staff.

Terry pitched one of his best games Wednesday when he shut out Cleveland with four hits, as the Yanks took undisputed possession of first place in the American League with a 5-0 victory.

With a 7-4 record, high mark of his career at this stage of the season, Terry could become a 20-game winner. He might have made it last year when he finished with 16-3 if he hadn't missed six weeks from June 15 to July 27 because of arm trouble.

"When anybody talks about 20 wins, I remember what Johnny Sain (Yank pitching coach) said about his 20-win years," said Terry. "Sain always says you just work on the next game and let the rest of the season take care of itself. If I can win a game every week or 10 days it will be all right."

Gottlieb Stays With Warriors As GM for Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Eddie Gottlieb disproved the saying that you can't have your cake and eat it too.

He sold the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association for a record $850,000 so the franchise could operate in San Francisco. Now he becomes its general manager for at least a year here.

And he conceivably could become president of the pro loop since Maurice Podoloff has announced plans to retire after next season.

Gottlieb's appointment with the San Francisco Warriors was announced Wednesday night by Matty Simmons of New York, one of the five partners in the new corporate setup and chairman of its board.

San Franciscan Tom Gray takes over as president of the club.

24—Markers

By TED JONES
Marine Designer

While federal markers are uniform, a multiplicity of others has caused confusion.

Not only were these regulatory and navigational aids different among states, often municipalities within a state had dissimilar types. Now 27 states have approved a system that is easy to comprehend.

Symbols used are as follows:

DIAMOND—Danger! Do not approach closer. Specific danger may be painted inside the diamond.

DIAMOND WITH CROSS INSIDE—Boatman keep out! Danger to others. Specific warning may be painted outside diamond, such as Public Beach, Swimmers and Boys' Camp.

CIRCLE—Zoning or boat control. Warning may be painted within circle, such as 5 m.p.h. or Slow.

SQUARE OR RECTANGLE—Gives information, such as locations, painted within shape.

Bonds Approved For Proposed Town Building

Bonds in the amount of $20,000 were approved for payment of the proposed town garage at the regular meeting of the Rosendale Town Board Monday night at the town clerk's office.

A public hearing was scheduled 8 p. m. June 19 on the proposed contract between Active Hose Company No. 1 and the East Fire Protection District of the town at an annual payment of $500 per year for five-year contract and a similar contract with the West Fire Protection District at a $300 per year payment.

A five-year contract was signed by the town and village for the use of the present public dump which may be used by both the town and the village.

A resolution was adopted which will regulate racing of all motor propelled vehicles within the town.

All members of the board and the town attorney, Lloyd R. LeFever were present.

Only Five Cases Tried During May Term of Court

During the May trial term of Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn disposed of 70 cases and conducted over 100 pre-trial conferences which resulted in the disposition of numerous cases.

During the term, while there were actually only five cases tried before a jury, there were 56 cases settled and nine additional cases were stricken from the calendar.

Had there been additional facilities for holding court, additional cases could have been disposed of. In order to keep the court moving it was necessary again to use the grand jury room on the third floor of the court house as well as the supervisor's room in selecting a jury.

In closing the term Justice Bruhn thanked the jurors and called attention to the lack of facilities in the existing court house, where frequently court sessions must be adjourned when the main court room is in use, or make-shift facilities used.

Andrew Johnson served Tennessee and the United States successively as congressman, governor, senator, governor, vice president, President and senator.

Terry Pointing For Twenty Wins

Terry pitched one of his best games Wednesday when he shut out Cleveland with four hits, as the Yanks took undisputed possession of first place in the American League with a 5-0 victory.

With a 7-4 record, high mark of his career at this stage of the season, Terry could become a 20-game winner. He might have made it last year when he finished with 16-3 if he hadn't missed six weeks from June 15 to July 27 because of arm trouble.

"When anybody talks about 20 wins, I remember what Johnny Sain (Yank pitching coach) said about his 20-win years," said Terry. "Sain always says you just work on the next game and let the rest of the season take care of itself. If I can win a game every week or 10 days it will be all right."

PITCHER FINED—St. Louis hurler Ray Sadecki was fined $250 by manager Johnny Keane after he was raked for five runs in one inning by Cincinnati. Keane said Sadecki's performance was "the worst exhibition of effort I've ever seen on a major league diamond." (AP Wirephoto).

Dubin, Melton Bridge Leaders

Milton Dubin and Jay Melton of Kingston posted an exceptionally high 69 per cent game to lead the East-West division of the Wiltwyck Duplicate Bridge Club.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry McNamara paced the North-South side with 57 per cent. Twenty four boards were in play in a Mitchell movement.

Runnersup on the North-South side were Dr. Habeeb Maroon and I. H. Wheatcroft of Kingston with 55 per cent. Tied for third were the teams of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Le Fevre of Hurley, and Mrs. Esther Weissman and Mrs. Morton Honig of Kingston.

Morton Honig and Paul Mezer of Kingston were second with 63 per cent on the East-West. Mrs. Campbell and Mrs. Wieber of Kingston were third with 54 per cent.

Himes Rolls 507

Gilda Himes paced the Summerettes at Woodstock Lanes with 187, 159, 161 for 507. Gertrude DeWitt rolled 503; team results: Safeway School System 2, Mower's Market 1; Woodstock Lanes 1, Deanie's Dillies 2; Ted's Servicenter 3, P. J. Weider 0; Woodstock Pharmacy 3, Woodstock Packing 0.

Gottlieb Stays With Warriors As GM for Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Eddie Gottlieb disproved the saying that you can't have your cake and eat it too.

He sold the Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association for a record $850,000 so the franchise could operate in San Francisco. Now he becomes its general manager for at least a year here.

And he conceivably could become president of the pro loop since Maurice Podoloff has announced plans to retire after next season.

Gottlieb's appointment with the San Francisco Warriors was announced Wednesday night by Matty Simmons of New York, one of the five partners in the new corporate setup and chairman of its board.

Undisclosed was the salary for Gottlieb, who founded the Warriors 16 years ago in Philadelphia.

YOUR BOAT

24—Markers

By TED JONES
Marine Designer

While federal markers are uniform, a multiplicity of others has caused confusion.

Not only were these regulatory and navigational aids different among states, often municipalities within a state had dissimilar types. Now 27 states have approved a system that is easy to comprehend.

Symbols used are as follows:

DIAMOND—Danger! Do not approach closer. Specific danger may be painted inside the diamond.

DIAMOND WITH CROSS INSIDE—Boatman keep out! Danger to others. Specific warning may be painted outside diamond, such as Public Beach, Swimmers and Boys' Camp.

CIRCLE—Zoning or boat control. Warning may be painted within circle, such as 5 m.p.h. or Slow.

SQUARE OR RECTANGLE—Gives information, such as locations, painted within shape.

Bonds in the amount of $20,000 were approved for payment of the proposed town garage at the regular meeting of the Rosendale Town Board Monday night at the town clerk's office.

A public hearing was scheduled 8 p. m. June 19 on the proposed contract between Active Hose Company No. 1 and the East Fire Protection District of the town at an annual payment of $500 per year for five-year contract and a similar contract with the West Fire Protection District at a $300 per year payment.

A five-year contract was signed by the town and village for the use of the present public dump which may be used by both the town and the village.

A resolution was adopted which will regulate racing of all motor propelled vehicles within the town.

All members of the board and the town attorney, Lloyd R. LeFever were present.

Only Five Cases Tried During May Term of Court

During the May trial term of Supreme Court Justice Louis G. Bruhn disposed of 70 cases and conducted over 100 pre-trial conferences which resulted in the disposition of numerous cases.

During the term, while there were actually only five cases tried before a jury, there were 56 cases settled and nine additional cases were stricken from the calendar.

Had there been additional facilities for holding court, additional cases could have been disposed of. In order to keep the court moving it was necessary again to use the grand jury room on the third floor of the court house as well as the supervisor's room in selecting a jury.

In closing the term Justice Bruhn thanked the jurors and called attention to the lack of facilities in the existing court house, where frequently court sessions must be adjourned when the main court room is in use, or make-shift facilities used.

Andrew Johnson served Tennessee and the United States successively as congressman, governor, senator, governor, vice president, President and senator.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A light earthquake shook parts of the San Francisco Bay area Wednesday night.

Seismologist Don Tocher of the University of California said the quake was centered 50 miles southeast of Berkeley. There were no reports of damage.

One Person Hurt In 3-Car Mishap At Lake Katrine

One person was injured Wednesday night in a three-car mishap on Route 9W near Leggs Mills Road, Lake Katrine, Kingston state police reported.

Fred C. Myer, 73, of Arcadia, Fla., a passenger in a car operated by Wallace H. Van Deusen, 34, of Peach Lane, Wincemere Heights, Saugerties, told troopers he struck his head on the windshield and would see his own physician.

Troopers Richard Ryan and Richard Allan reported a 1956 station wagon operated by Ronald Gambino, 18, of Ulster Avenue, Saugerties, was proceeding south on Route 9W and stopped when the car in front of him slowed down to make a left turn. The 1961 station wagon operated by Van Deusen, following, rammed into the rear of the Gambino car, and a 1962 foreign sports car operated by Heinz Groepler, 39, of Malden, following Van Deusen, was in collision with the rear of the Van Deusen vehicle. U.N. Resuming Today to Debate On Independence

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —The U.N. General Assembly resumes its 16th annual session today to debate whether to fix July 1 as independence day for Belgium's troubled African trust territory of Ruanda-Urundi, described by some delegates as a potential little Congo.

The 104-nation assembly has a request from 39 African and Asian delegations that it also discuss how to bring independence to the British territory of Southern Rhodesia, termed by some another South Africa.

The opening meeting was set aside for a speech by Archbishop Makarios, visiting the United States and the U.N. for the first time since he became president of an independent Cyprus.

In deciding last Feb. 23 to hold the resumed session, the assembly anticipated setting July 1 as the date to end trusteeship and proclaim independence in both Ruanda and Urundi, the two little countries that make up the territory.

In a report published Wednesday night, the five-nation U.N. commission for Ruanda-Urundi said Urundi was under control and the assembly should end trusteeship there July 1.

But it said there had been bloodshed and racial antagonism lately in Ruanda, and urged that before deciding to turn that country loose on July 1, the assembly should first decide whether the coalition cabinet formed May 14 was likely to last.

Girl, Boy Reach Spelling Finals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two teenagers—a girl from New Mexico and a boy from Illinois—battled it out today for the national spelling bee championship.

They survived 15 rounds and two days of grueling spelling to get down to the wire in the final encounter of the competition for the title of the nation's best speller and a cash prize of $1,000.

In the tense finale were Nettie Crawford, 13, an eighth grader in Berrendo School, Roswell, N.M., and Michael Day, 14, an eighth grader in St. Norbert's School, Hardin, Ill.

9 Eliminated in 15th

Nine contestants were eliminated in the 15th round while Nettie correctly spelled "melliferous." It means producing honey.

Young Day's word was "sanbenito." It is the name of a sackcloth garment worn by penitents upon being reunited to their church.

The two youngsters were given a brief rest period before the deciding round got under way.

Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Day Jr. His father is a representative of the Social Security Administration in Hardin.

Nettie's parents are Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Crawford. Her father is a farmer.

Twenty-one girls and 10 boys started out this morning and went glibly through such jawbreakers as 'internecinen" "peregrinate" and 'amanuensis," but back-of-the-book words began to take a toll.

All Champions

The field had been pared down from 70 Wednesday in 10 rounds, with 547 progressively tougher words.

All the contestants here are champions, sponsored by Scripps-Howard newspapers in 18 cities and 51 other daily and Sunday papers. They competed for $5,700 in prizes, with $1,000 and a sightseeing trip to New York for the first place winners.

Poison Is Ruled Out in Luciano's Death: Report

NAPLES, Italy (AP)—Charles (Lucky) Luciano died last Jan. 26 of a heart attack and not from poison, an official Italian medical report said today.

There had been reports both here and in the United States that the former New York vice lord might have been poisoned to seal his lips, or taken poison to escape rearrest.

When he staggered and fell dead at Naples Airport, he was being shadowed by Italian narcotics agents. They had questioned him a few hours earlier. A U.S. Bureau of Narcotics official indicated later that Luciano's arrest had been imminent.

Man Given Year In Case Involving School Children

A 30-year-old New York City man was arraigned before Police Justice Frank Decker, Village of Ellenville, this morning and sentenced to one year in the Ulster County Jail for endangering the life or health of a child.

Ellenville Village Police say Edward Schlapa, 160 Bleecer Street, attempted to proposition several female children Tuesday afternoon on Yankee Place in that village while the girls were on the way home from school. The ages of the girls ranged from 7-15 according to the village police.

Police say that Schlapa is a migrant worker, who comes to this area during the resort season for jobs in hotels or resorts. He was sentenced to 10 days in the county jail April 27 for public intoxication according to the village police.
